MARTIAL LAW IN CHICAGO THRUST BEFORE SENATE

Warns of Danger in Do-Nothing Policy.

Tax Crisis Grows

The financial crisis into which the local government have been plunged by the Cook county tax muddle produced the following developments yesterday:

Public criticism was made of the compromise plan agreed on by Mayor Cermak and Gov. Emmerson for appointment of a combined board of government and review. The mayor said democratic legislators held this hand. Details on page 16.

The county board was unable to pay pensions to widows and orphans. Pensions for the blind will be refused. Page 17.

A third payless pay day was in prospect for employes of the sanitary district and officials warned there is danger of district defaulting on bonds. The south park board indicated it may have to curtail service to insure bond payments. Page 17.

Clarksburg, W. Va., Dec. 10.—[Special.]—Harry Powers, West Virginia Bluebeard mass executioner, must die on the gallows.

Unshaken, he heard a jury at 5:08 p. m. today find him guilty of first degree murder, without recommendation, which makes the death sentence mandatory.

The jury deliberated one hour and 49 minutes after state witnesses had pounded down every hope of acquittal almost as soon as he had erected them. Slayer of five, Powers was convicted of the murder of Mrs. Dorothy Pressler Lemke of Northboro, Mass.

Not a Word to His Attorney.

When the jury made its report to Judge John C. Southern a hush fell over Moore's Opera house, where the trial has been held. Without a tremor, Powers arose at the command of the judge and heard the verdict read. He turned and walked away in custody of Sheriff W. C. Grimm and a cordon of city, county, and state police, without uttering a word even to his attorney.

Hoots and jeers uttered by the 1,200 court spectators and a crowd outside the theater greeted Powers as he was led from the stage entrance on his way back to the jail. For the first time since his arrest Powers ducked his head under his overcoat when photographers sought to take his picture, but he never spoke.

Powers was convicted of slaying Mrs. Lemke, a wealthy nurse, at the Quiet Dell slaughter house, four miles from Clarksburg in an isolated section, about Aug. 3.

Four Death Chambers.

The state contended that Powers built the garage with its four underground chambers for the sole purpose of executing his mail order fiancées. The bodies of Mrs. Lemke, the Massachusetts woman, and Mrs. Asta Buick Eicher and her three small children, of Park Ridge, Ill., were found buried in a small drainage ditch fifteen feet from the building.

The women were lured to Clarksburg after Powers had wooed them through a matrimonial agency. Both he and Mrs. Lemke were members of the American Friendship society of Detroit.

Powers turned to the matrimonial agency when he quarreled with his present wife, Luella Powers, who with her sister, Miss Eva Strother, conducted a small store in suburban Broad Oaks. Powers cashed two checks for $4,765, drawn on the account of Mrs. Lemke, several days after he left her home on their intended honeymoon. Powers was seen in her company at a Clarksburg hotel and then later on the road leading to Quiet Dell.

The bodies of Mrs. Eicher and her children were discovered on Aug. 28 and Mrs. Lemke on the next day.

Attorney Asks for Mercy.

Powers' attorney asked for mercy in his plea to the jury. "There certainly is something wrong with a man who would kill a woman," his counsel said, though at no time has Powers admitted slaying the woman, testifying that he last saw her in company with a "Cecil Johnson," who, the state contended, was a mythical person.

J. Ed Law, Powers' counsel, announced immediately after the verdict was read that he will appeal the case to the Circuit court.

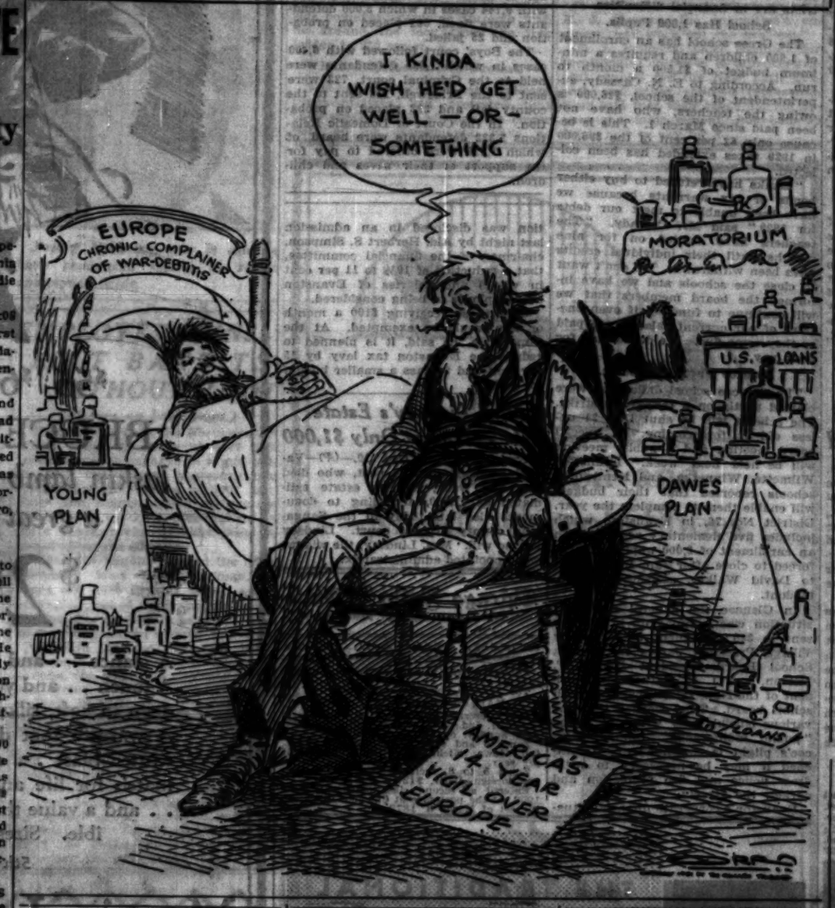
SEIZE SEVEN AS GANG ACCUSED OF 100 HOLDUPS

More than 100 robberies, including two bank holdups, were reported solved early this morning following the arrest of seven men and the confessions of five of them. The alleged bandits were seized by Capt. Joseph Goldberg and a squad of the Albany Park station in a raid last night on the home of Harry Sturman, 22 years old, of 1637 North Kedvale avenue.

Three automatic pistols and a quantity of ammunition were found in the home. Two other guns, with extra cartridge clips, were seized in a car parked outside the Sturman home. In the home were twelve persons, including Sturman's wife, two children, and two young women. All but the men were released. The prisoners, Capt. Goldberg said, wore uniformly patterned mackinaw coats, the scheme being to affect a military method of identification in case of trouble.

Hoover Moves to Reopen War Debts

SITTIN' UP WITH A SICK NEIGHBOR



Dry Raiders Take Woman from Sickbed

Three prohibition agents carrying a search warrant went yesterday to the home of Mrs. Hazel Golden, 170 East Superior street.

Mrs. Golden, who is 29 years old, is to become a mother in two months. She was in bed, ill, when the agents arrived. In spite of her protests and those of an attorney she summoned, the agents ransacked her apartment, found four pints of liquor, and then compelled her to dress and get into a taxicab with them.

Taken to the federal building, Mrs. Golden was arraigned before United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker on a charge of violating the prohibition laws. A hearing was set for Dec. 16 and her bonds set at $600. Assistant District Attorney Alfred W. Bosworth ordered her released on her own recognizance.

Agents' Conduct Assailed.

The attorney, Harry J. Berman, announced that he would file a complaint about the conduct of the agents, Stanley Crellin, Samuel Krieger and Albert Weiher, with Deputy Prohibition Administration A. C. Hamilton today.

"Their conduct was ungentlemanly and indefensible," said Mr. Berman. "When Mrs. Golden called me I went to her home immediately. I was not allowed to enter. When I announced that I represented her and asked them what they intended to do one of them said: 'None of your damn business.' I knew then they were prohibition agents.

"When I protested that it was extremely dangerous to take her out in the cold, wet weather in her condition they asserted she was a bootlegger and would have to go to court. I demanded that she be taken in an ambulance, but this was refused, too."

Husband Under Arrest.

John Golden, husband of the woman under arrest, was taken into custody Tuesday on a charge of bootlegging and was released on bonds of $1,000 Wednesday. He is to have a hearing on Dec. 16. According to prohibition authorities, he had distributed cards announcing "I Supply the Christmas Spirit." The cards had a telephone number and it is alleged that agents called and persuaded Golden to deliver liquor to them.

After her release the weeping Mrs. Golden crept out of the courtroom to go back to her home.

"My husband may be a bootlegger," she said, "but it isn't his fault. He couldn't find a job and he was desperate because we were going to have the baby and were without money. That's why he sold liquor."

15,000 MARCH ON CITY HALL AND HALT TAX RAISE

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 10.—[Special.]—When 15,000 men and women taxpayers paraded down Broad street and stormed the city hall in protest against increases in taxes, the city council abandoned its plan to raise the real estate rate 35½ cents per $100 and the water rates 50 per cent. The taxpayers made the most spectacular demonstration seen here since the gas lease fight 26 years ago.

With the shouts of the crowd ringing in their ears, the council members reversed their stand and ordered the 1932 budget back to committee with instruction to cut it to a point where it can be met without an increase in the tax rate.

Tokio Cabinet Quits; Foreign Stand Flayed

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Dec. 11.—[Friday.]—The entire Japanese cabinet, headed by Premier Wakatsuki, decided this morning to present its resignation to Emperor Hirohito. The decision to resign followed a dispute in the cabinet's ranks in which the premier, Junnosuka Inouye, the minister of finance, and others had lined up against the group headed by Kenzo Adachi, home minister.

The formation of a coalition cabinet of members of the Minseito [governmental] and Seiyukai parties with Tsuyoshi Inuwai, president of the Seiyukai, as premier, is looked upon as extremely probable. This movement is being given full support by Adachi and his followers.

Premier Wakatsuki's cabinet, which was formed last April, has been under heavy fire since the outbreak of the dispute with China over Manchuria in September. The attacks on the government revolved about Foreign Minister Shidehara, who was accused of pursuing "week kneed" diplomacy towards China.

The resignation of the cabinet came almost simultaneously with the adoption in Paris of the league of nations resolution, which aims at a settlement of the Manchurian situation. The league resolution provides for a neutral commission to investigate the causes of the dispute.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 10.—[Special.]—Widely divergent views were expressed in congress today on President Hoovers' debt and moratorium proposals.

In the course of the house debate Representative John E. Rankin [Dem., Miss.] denounced the President's moratorium message on the grounds that debt settlements are in the background of it.

Representative Will Wood [Rep., Ind.] denied that debt cancellation is a corollary of the moratorium.

"As for cancellation of war debts," he said, "I won't vote to cancel one dollar of them. Europe is ungrateful. Of all the examples of ingratitude the worst is the attitude of France toward the United States."

Hoover Program Denounced.

Representative Frank Oliver [Dem., N. Y.] denounced President Hoover for "helping Europe during his first administration and then expecting us to give him a second administration so he can help America then."

Representative F. H. La Guardia [Rep., N. Y.] exhorted colleagues on both sides of the aisle to "stop playing politics at the expense of suffering people."

"I, personally," said La Guardia, "did not approve of the technique the President used in getting the moratorium agreement last June. But since the leaders of both parties are pledged to it, it is the duty of congress, at this late date, to give perfunctory approval whether we like it or not."

Referring to debt cancellation he asked, "If you refuse cancellation, are you prepared to send a fleet across the water to collect them?"

Borah Is Critical.

The attitude of senators came out in interviews following the reading of the message. Senator William E. Borah [Rep., Idaho], chairman of the foreign relations committee, said he had consented to the moratorium to give Europe a breathing spell.

"But," he went on, "I am not in favor of any further extension of the moratorium and I am not in favor of readjusting these debts upon a basis of capacity to pay. Europe has not, up to this time, availed herself of the moratorium to adjust those matters which it is necessary to adjust before there can be any economic recovery in Europe. I am not in favor of recreating the world foreign debt commission. There is no business for it to transact. I do not see any evidence that Europe proposes to reduce armaments or that

PROPOSES NEW NEGOTIATIONS WITH EUROPE

Surprise Move Stirs Congress Storm.

Details of Hoover message on debts and foreign affairs will be found on page 4.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 10.—[Special.]—President Hoover startled congress today with a move in the direction of reduction, if not cancellation, of the 11 billions of war debts Europe owes the United States.

Although reiterating disapproval of cancellation and proposing only temporary relaxation of the terms pending economic recovery of debtor nations, the President in a message to the new congress proposed the reconstitution of the war debt commission with power to reopen the debt settlements.

This proposal was contained in a message in which the executive reported to congress the state of our foreign relations and was incidental to his recommendation of legislation authorizing the Hoover moratorium on payments of reparations and war debts for the fiscal year ending June 30 next.

Says Some Cannot Pay.

After recommending legislation providing that the 241 million dollars of war debt payments due this year may be paid during the ten years beginning July 1, 1933, the President said:

"As we approach the new year it is clear that a number of the governments indebted to us will be unable to meet further payments to us in full pending recovery in their economic life. It is useless to blind ourselves to an obvious fact. Therefore, it will be necessary in some cases to make still further temporary adjustments.

"The congress has shared with the executive in the past the consideration of questions arising from these debts. I am sure that it will commend itself to the congress, that the legislative branch of the government should continue to share this responsibility. In order that we should be in a position to deal with the situation I recommend the re-creation of the world war foreign debt commission with authority to examine such problems as may arise in connection with these debts during the present economic emergency and to report to the congress its conclusions and recommendations."

Disarmament Is Urged.

Elsewhere in his message the President urged disarmament as a means of reducing tax burdens, urged ratification of the Root formula modifying the senate reservations to the world court protocol, and explained how the United States has been cooperating with the league of nations without becoming entangled therein in the efforts to stop the Sino-Japanese war in Manchuria.

The President also reported upon conditions in Nicaragua, from which all American troops are to be withdrawn after the Nicaraguan presidential election next year, and in Haiti, where America has turned the government back to the Haitians, save for financial control.

The message was read in both houses a few hours after Paul Claudel, the French ambassador, had formally notified Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson that France will not agree to reduction of German reparations unless the allied war debts are also commensurately scaled down.

Proposal Causes Excitement.

Both the recommendation of the moratorium legislation and the entire message on foreign relations were at once overshadowed by the President's proposal to reopen the war debt settlements, in which 50 per cent of the original aggregate obligations of the debtors was written off. Excitement flamed high at once on Capitol hill.

Senators and representatives who are strongly opposed to any further reduction of Europe's debt to America vigorously condemned the President's move. The debate in the house simmered with criticism of the executive. Groups of excited legislators gathered in the cloakrooms to discuss the unexpected development.

Congenital critics of the President, linking the Hoover message with the Claudel call at the state department, proclaimed it was too clear that Mr. Hoover is held upon purchasing the reduction of German reparations with debt cuts at the expense of American taxpayers. Habitual administration defenders strove to quiet the storm by arguing that Mr. Hoover merely suggests preparation for consideration of debt reduction pleas that are bound to materialize sooner or later.

Chicago Tribune WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER FINANCIALLY IMPREGNABLE

Privately Confess Regret.

Some of the administration leaders, however, privately confessed regret that Mr. Hoover had chosen to link a proposal squinting at debt reduction with the moratorium legislation, the passage of which they feared would be impeded thereby. It was apparent that there will be protracted debate on the whole subject before the President is able to get the moratorium sanctioned.

Mr. Hoover initiated the moratorium last June, when he announced he had obtained the consent thereto of a majority of the members of both houses. He now finds that he cannot obtain the legislation authorizing the moratorium by Dec. 15, when payments on the war debts are due. Speaker John N. Garner [Dem., Tex.] and Republican Leader Bertrand Snell [N. Y.] said action could not be had by that time.

"We certainly will not pass on so important a piece of legislation before we have some information on it," said Mr. Garner, to whom the President's proposal to reopen the debt settlements looks a good deal like the suggestion to extend the moratorium, which the fiery Texan forced Mr. Hoover to eliminate from his statement at the time of the White House conference on the formation of the credit corporation in October.

Summons Chairman Collier.

The letter summoned Representative James W. Collier [Dem., Miss.], chairman of the new ways and means committee, to the White House during the afternoon with a view to expediting the legislation, but the congressman was unable to promise that the committee would even begin hearings on the bill before next week. Senator Reed Smoot [Rep., Utah] introduced the administration moratorium bill in the senate.

In the meantime the senate adopted without debate the resolution of Senator Hiram Johnson [Rep., Cal.] providing for an investigation of American investments abroad. He will ask the finance committee, which will conduct the investigation, to summon J. P. Morgan, Albert Wiggins and others to testify regarding the enormous loans of private funds to Europe which were promoted by American international bankers and to insure the repayment of which the international banking interests are pressing for cancellation of the war debts.

Proposal Wholly Unexpected.

The President's proposal of a reopening of the debt settlements was wholly unexpected. It was known that he had given Premier Laval of France assurances on this subject, but, according to information from administration sources, the President was not to move for debt reductions unless German reparations were reduced and the allied debtors thereafter found their capacity to pay impaired.

Of late there have been rumors that Great Britain has pressed the President for an immediate reopening of its settlement, the British feeling that in view of their present financial plight they are entitled to more than the 19.7 per cent cancellation they obtained, which, with the exception of Poland's 19.5 per cent, was the least accorded any of the debtors. Italy got a 75 per cent cancellation; Belgium, 53 per cent; Czecho-Slovakia, 26 per cent; France, 52 per cent; Rumania, 25 per cent, and Jugo-Slavia, 70 per cent.

Color was lent the rumors connecting the President's move with Great Britain by the comment of Senator Simeon D. Fess [Rep., Ohio], chairman of the Republican national committee and White House spokesman in the senate.

Fess for "Adjustment."

"That means some readjustment of the war debts, which I believe has special reference to Great Britain," he said. "The British were the first to fund their debt. They did it without a struggle on a reasonable basis of about 70 per cent. I do not know how the senate would feel with respect to adjusting the British debt, but I would be in favor of it."

BRITAIN'S BUDGET TO SHOW NO DEFICIT, SAYS FINANCE CHIEF

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 10.—No serious deficit in Great Britain's budget is expected this year, Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, told the house of commons today. He said there is still less fear of a deficit in next year's budget. In addition he promised a substantial provision for debt redemption.

Although admitting that the present position of the pound is "not altogether satisfactory," Chamberlain expressed hope that an improvement would be forthcoming after an international conference on currency problems.

The chancellor's statements came in the closing debate in the commons on the Labor party's vote of censure for the government's handling of unemployment and economic questions. The government was upheld, 469 to 44. The house of lords, after a three days' discussion, approved the government's policy toward India.

RESORT OWNER OF LAKE ZURICH KILLED IN CRASH

William Fitzgerald, 45 years old, owner of a number of resorts at Lake Zurich was instantly killed in an automobile collision near Stuart, Fla., yesterday. Mrs. Fitzgerald, who was riding with her husband, escaped injury although the automobile overturned. A young woman passenger in the other car was injured and the driver was killed.

Mrs. Katherine Houston, 65 years old, of 158 Eugenie street, said to have been a school teacher, died late last night in the Henrotin Memorial hospital of injuries suffered Tuesday. She was struck by an automobile driven by Louis Burton, 6536 Eberhart avenue, at La Salle street and North avenue. This death increased the Cook county motor toll to 1,214 since Jan. 1.

ARRESTED BY DETECTIVE CHIEF.

Michael Alberio, 39 years old, of 839 West Harrison street, said to be an ex-convict, was arrested by Chief of Detectives Shoemaker Tuesday night when he appeared at the detective bureau to give bond for a friend.

ANOTHER SCHOOL FACES SHUTDOWN IN CASH CRISIS

Brookfield Board Tells of Its Plight.

Plans to close another suburban district school—the S. E. Gross elementary school of Brookfield—because of lack of funds were revealed yesterday. Only 24 hours earlier similar plans affecting the three Glencoe elementary schools were announced.

The Brookfield school may cease operations Dec. 23, according to a resolution sent yesterday to County Superintendent Edward Tobin and Gov. Emmerson by President William H. Dopp Jr. of the Brookfield board. In making known the Brookfield situation Mr. Tobin declared that nearly all of the two hundred county school districts are in financial difficulties.

School Has 1,000 Pupils.

The Gross school has an enrollment of 1,000 children and requires a minimum budget of $1,500 a month to run. According to E. N. Cassady, superintendent of the school, $26,000 is owing the teachers, who have not been paid since March 1. This is because only 62 per cent of the $96,000 in 1929 taxes extended has been collected.

"Banks have refused to buy either bonds or tax warrants because we have been unable to meet our debts for 1929," said Mr. Cassady. "The teachers have carried on for nine months until their individual credits have been withdrawn. We don't want to close the schools and we have informed the board members that we will continue to function if even one-third of our current salaries are paid as they come due. We do not ask for back pay."

Glencoe Faces Shutdown.

The Glencoe school difficulties were blamed partly on a taxpayers' strike. The schools will be shut Dec. 31 unless aid is forthcoming. A special board meeting and a public meeting will be held next week. Evanston, Wilmette, Winnetka, and Kenilworth schools reported that their budgets will enable them to complete the year. District No. 76, in Evanston, which includes five elementary schools, with an enrollment of 3,000 pupils, may be forced to close after Jan. 1, according to David Walker, assistant superintendent.

In Glencoe the general municipal situation was summed up in a letter sent to 340 delinquent taxpayers by Village President James A. Russell, School Board President Homer F. Horton, and J. R. Gathercoal, president of the New Trier Township High school board. They warned that the various officials may withdraw if the "public indifference" toward Glencoe's plight is continued and threatened it may be necessary to withdraw police and fire protection and darken the streets.

Evanston's corporate financial situation was disclosed in an admission last night by Ald. Herbert S. Simpson, chairman of the financial committee, that a reduction of 10½ to 11 per cent in wages and salaries of Evanston city employes is being considered.

Only those receiving $100 a month or less would be exempted. At the same time, he said, it is planned to reduce the Evanston tax levy by 15 per cent and to pass a smaller budget for 1932.

ONE OUT OF FIFTEEN IN CITY NAMED IN WARRANTS IN YEAR

Warrants were issued for approximately one person out of every fifteen in Chicago during the last year. This was disclosed yesterday in the report of Municipal Court Clerk Joseph L. Gill for the fiscal year ending Dec. 7.

During the year 253,474 warrants were sworn out in the Muncipal court. Of these 14,909 were in felony cases, 71,011 for misdemeanors and 167,554 for violation of municipal ordinances.

Thus far 218,654 of the warrants have been disposed of by court action. Disposals in the three classes are 12,541 felonies, 18,281 misdemeanors and 146,722 ordinance violations.

Dispositions of defendants are listed in the report as follows:

Bridewell	19,413
County jail	281
Fined	65,934
Held to Criminal court	6,736
Nolle prossed	5,363
Not called	2,251
Dismissed for want of prosecution	35,492
Not guilty	51,193
Probation	4,961

The Domestic Relations, Morals and Boys' court handled the greatest number of cases. The Morals court led with 9,744 cases in which 3,000 defendants were fined, 982 placed on probation and 26 jailed.

The Boys' court followed with 6,400 cases in which 1,985 defendants were held to the Criminal court, 723 were sent to the Bridewell, 115 sent to the county jail and 293 placed on probation. In the Court of Domestic Relations 2,322 defendants were heard, of which 1,916 were ordered to pay for the support of their wives and children.

INDICT GILDAY ON 3 CHARGES; BACK IN JAIL

Daniel L. Gilday, dry reformer, was back in the county jail again last night after 24 hours of freedom. Deputy sheriffs arrested the prohibition agitator in his home at 6731 Perry avenue after the grand jury returned indictments charging assault to kill, assault with a deadly weapon, and carrying concealed weapons against him.

Friends of Gilday, who is vice president of the Englewood Law and Order league and a director of the Better Government association, posted a $22,500 bond upon which he had been held by the Felony court to effect his release Wednesday night, but he was unable to obtain any one to furnish the $12,000 bond set on the indictments in the Criminal court.

Meanwhile Herman Knol, 17 years old, the victim of Gilday's bullet, was reported recovering at the Englewood hospital. Gilday shot Knol when the youth tried to help the reformer home on the night of Nov. 29. A charge of possession and transportation of liquor is pending against Gilday. It is alleged that he had a half filled bottle of moonshine with him at the time of the shooting.

BANKER SEIZED AND JAILED ON FEINBERG ORDER

Bankruptcy Petition Roils Investigating Judge.

Samuel I. Goodspeed, vice president and one of the closed Second Humboldt State bank, was arrested last night in his home at 1033 North Kedzie avenue and lodged in the county jail. The arrest was made upon orders of Circuit Judge Michael Feinberg before whom the bank official will be arraigned today.

Goodspeed was found hiding behind a door in the kitchen of his home after his wife told a squad of deputy sheriffs that he was not home. A suitcase was packed and he had apparently been about to leave on a trip. Jailing is almost certain jail sentence for Goodspeed for contempt of court, Judge Feinberg indicated. He was aroused when informed that Goodspeed had filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in the United States District court at the time he was to have been called as a witness in the hearing before Judge Feinberg. The judge is attempting to disclose hidden assets of the First and Second Humboldt state banks, which closed last May 14 with deposits of $3,000,000 due to 23,000 depositors.

Told of Bankruptcy Petition.

Goodspeed was on the witness stand several days ago and was given an interval to decide how he would pay a debt of $1,000 to the bank. When he did not appear yesterday the judge issued an attachment for him. Half an hour later he was informed of the petition in bankruptcy and expressed surprise.

Goodspeed listed his liabilities as $3,000,000 in the petition and his assets at $1,000. Inasmuch as he is allowed a $1,000 exemption under the law, only $1,000 is available for his creditors if the petition is accepted. Attorneys for the receiver of the bank, however, said they would immediately seek to have the petition rejected.

Goodspeed confessed Referee in Bankruptcy Garfield Charles that he had no money to pay the $35 filing fee and was allowed to file with the understanding that he will pay $5 a month to the court clerk. As he left Goodspeed remarked to Clerk Harry Gilbert:

"Maybe this will get me out of the $40 I owe to Judge Feinberg. I guess he doesn't send me to jail for it!"

Goodspeed has told Judge Feinberg he deeded title to his $12,000 home to his sister, Nellie, of Kirkland, Ill., in order to pay off his debt at the rate of $5 a month was refused by the court who rebuked him for posing as a man of wealth before the failure of the bank and now talking of such small amounts.

Promoter's Wife Questioned.

Mrs. Mabel Mullen, 1521 North Dearborn avenue, wife of James C. Mullen, prize fight promoter, said that the fight industry had suffered in the depression and that she was unable to pay a $50 debt to the bank.

Samuel Shapiro, 78 years old, owner of a jewelry store at 2454 West North avenue, had an uncomfortable time on the stand. He said he was unable to pay a $5,000 debt because he was penniless. Evidence was then produced to show that he listed his net worth in March, 1930, at $97,107 in a financial statement. He told the court that his age should excuse him from the intensive examination given him.

"Your age will not excuse you," said Judge Feinberg. "If you think you will get any sympathy from this court, a man who has gone through crises for so many years professing to be virtuous, you are badly mistaken."

Shapiro recently transferred all his property to his daughter, Eva, a music teacher, he testified. She was questioned at length and after she had made many conflicting statements, the judge held her to return today, commenting: "Upon a possible change of attitude in your father may depend what I will do with you."

One hint of the methods employed by the bank was revealed when Julius Kunz, 544 North California avenue, an aged German who spoke poor English, appeared on the stand to explain a $400 debt. He finally convinced the judge that he went to the bank to withdraw $4600 from his savings account to aid a friend and instead loaned $400 at 7 per cent interest. Martine had $700 in his savings account when the bank failed and was allowed to go.

Nelson Asks Separate Trial.

Attorney Albert Fink, representing Nathan Nelson, yesterday served notice that he would appear before Judge Eberhart at Woodstock tomorrow and request a separate trial for his client. Nelson, George Woodall and Norman O. Geyer are scheduled for trial Jan. 18 on charges of conspiracy in connection with the Lexington State bank.

The Immigrant State bank, 343 West North avenue, was closed yesterday morning when depletion of cash and secondary reserves caused the directors to request the state auditor to take charge of the liquidation and conservation of the remaining assets for the benefit of depositors. Deposits had dwindled from $1,400,000 on Jan. 2, 1930, to $753,747 on Dec. 3, 1931, and present deposits are $130,806, according to the report. The capital is $200,000 and surplus $100,000.

Qualifies Self

PARIS, Dec. 10.—(AP)—A report that Mme. Magda Lupescu, former companion of King Carol during his exile, has forsaken Judaism with a view to qualifying herself to become queen of Rumania was brought here today by foreign diplomats arriving from Bucharest.

It was understood in Bucharest, the report said, that a number of persons attached to the royal palace, on the grounds of which Mme. Magda is understood to live in a small house, already address her as "Your Majesty."

Nothing in the Rumanian constitution prevents her from occupying the golden throne once occupied by dowager Queen Marie, but it was rumored that Carol hesitated to conclude a formal marriage ceremony, fearing the Rumanian people might be reluctant to accept a commoner queen.

[Dispatches Wednesday said Prince Nicholas, King Carol's brother, had renounced membership in the royal family. Nicholas has been involved in a bitter quarrel with Carol over the former's recent marriage to a commoner, Mme. Jana Lucia Deleti.]

OPERA SOPRANO MAILS SUICIDE NOTE, VANISHES

New York, Dec. 10.—[Special.]—Santa Biondo, youthful lyric soprano of the Metropolitan Opera company, dropped letters threatening suicide into a Hotel Plaza mailbox late Wednesday night and disappeared. She had been scheduled to make her second appearance of the season at the opera matinee this afternoon. An understudy sang in her place.

The letters made nothing clear except her intention to commit suicide. The only hint of a motive lay in the words that she "had lived a life of lies," for which her friends could offer no interpretation.

EMPLOYES' GUNS ROUT BANDITS WITHOUT LOOT

Three employes in the Northwestern Candy company offices at 4847 Milwaukee avenue engaged in a gun battle with two bandits yesterday and forced the pair to flee without loot. Since last August, when robbers obtained $800 in the fourth holdup in three years, revolvers have been secreted about the office.

When the bandits entered the office yesterday Miss Rose Fraiman, 20 years old, 3510 Crystal street, a stenographer, asked them their business. The bandits kept their hands in their pockets and looked around the office. "We want the boss," one man said.

Michael Dyalek, 5325 Montrose avenue, the manager, motioned to his son, John, 27 years old, and they walked behind two counters and picked up revolvers. Ted Pasco, a chauffeur, followed suit.

Miss Fraiman tried to block the bandits as they started toward the counters, but they drew revolvers and thrust her aside. Then the men in ambush began to fire and the bandits exchanged shots. After a score of bullets bit into the counters and splintered the desks the bandits fled to their car and sped away.

ASK $11,000,000 VIADUCT TO OPEN FRANKLIN STREET

Aldermen Instruct Board to Draft Ordinance.

The city council committee on railway terminals instructed the board of local improvements yesterday to draft an ordinance for the opening of Franklin street on a viaduct 100 feet wide from Harrison to 22d street. The estimated cost is $11,000,000, to be met by special assessments.

The improvement will be an extension of the Wacker drive system. When it is completed, Market street, from Madison to Harrison street, will remain the only bottleneck in a riverside boulevard carrying through traffic around the loop from the link bridge to 22d street.

Rail Representatives Protest.

The action was taken after railroad representatives had protested that their roads, which will pay the larger part of the assessments, have no funds available for such expenditures. The railroad attorneys also asked where the city is going to find the money for the public benefit share of the assessments, which it will pay.

It was pointed out, however, that the passage of the ordinance now will protect the street lines involved in the project. Passage will free the city from liability for condemnation damages arising from the necessary removal or cutting back of any buildings built after the ordinance is approved.

William A. Dudley, executive secretary of the Greater Central District association, indorsed the proposal on behalf of his group and of the Wholesalers' association, South Central association, and Van Buren Street Improvement association.

When E. H. Lee, president of the Chicago and Western Indiana railroad, said that his company was opposed to the opening under present conditions,

Emmett Trainor, general attorney for the Santa Fe railroad, said that his road had already given the city easements for Franklin street, but asked where either railroads or city were going to get any money.

Ready to Meet Engineer.

The most optimistic statement came from L. G. Curtis, chief engineer of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, who said: "We have 8,000 feet of frontage and are ready to sit down with E. J. Noonan, the committee's engineer, and work out the problem."

D. J. Brumley, chief engineer for the Illinois Central; S. E. Murray, general counsel for the New York Central, and other railroad representatives said that their roads did not oppose the improvement, but had no funds now to pay for it.

WITNESS TELLS OF FEES PAID FOR CANAL JOB

Ex-Colonel Girl Put on Pay Roll by Crowe.

The testimony in the sanitary district graft conspiracy trial, in which Timothy J. Crowe, president of the district during the election days of 1927-28, is a defendant along with seven former associates, brought new disclosures yesterday concerning the pay roll scandal of Crowe's regime. It was revealed that at least one applicant for one of the machine jobs made a cash payment in order to get his name on the pay roll.

Other testimony disclosed that a man whose loyalty was not remembered by the officials had a comely young daughter at a party and that when the county merchant for whom she got a job to sell her to see Crowe. She went to the office of Crowe and he put her on the pay roll, according to the testimony.

Subpoenaed Books Revealed.

The previous jobs were bartered for various kinds of considerations, the evidence showed, including political deals by which Republicans were put at work for Democratic workers during the polls and Democratic workers for Republican candidates. Many names well known to the politically inclined were disclosed as those of persons who were called to the witness stand yesterday.

Chief Counsel Harry Fisher of the Crowe defense was in readiness when the trial opened to examine the first witness for the people of many names on the pay rolls of the sanitary district. The prosecution planned to call Miss Ruth Fisher, secretary to Crowe, as the first witness, but she was not present when the trial opened. Judge John Prystalski, who is acting in the same capacity, is still ill at his home, and the trial is proceeding without him.

Women Pay Teller Heard.

Mrs. S. D. Hill, 5460 North Troy street, a former paymaster and cashier, is the first witness who answered the afternoon session. Dressed in a black fur coat and a tightly fitting hat, Mrs. Hill, who formerly was Patty Kascott, calmed the somewhat listless crowd in the courtroom to great attention when she walked from the witness room.

The start of the testimony under questioning by Assistant State's Attorney Jo Calvin Webb was perfunctory. She gave her name, address, and testified that she was carried on the law department pay roll for $50 and one-half months, being paid a total of $1,650 for work she did not perform. The questioning then proceeded.

Q.—Who was your sponsor. A.—I do not know.

Q.—You mean to tell us that you do not know how you obtained your position on the pay roll. A.—I mean that I do not know the name of the sponsor. I met him at a dinner party and I don't remember what his name was.

Q.—Tell us about the dinner party.

At this point Attorney John Stamos of the defense objected, but his associate, Attorney Albert Fink, took part the objection with the remark, "Let her go; this sounds interesting."

Story of Dinner Party.

"A girl named Grace, who lived in the same apartment hotel, arranged the party," said Miss Hill. "Four of us were in the dinner party, two men, myself, and Grace. I asked about a job and one of the men said he could arrange that and he gave me a card. The next day I went down to the sanitary district and I asked for Mr. Crowe. I saw him and he referred me to a tall man, whose name I do not know.

Q.—What was Grace's last name. A.—I do not remember that.

Q.—When did you next see your sponsor after the night of the dinner party. A.—I never saw my sponsor after that first night.

Tells of Paying for Job.

The charge that he had to pay for his workless job came from William Gunnell, 1041 North Lamon avenue, who is a resident of Crowe's home ward. He said he collected $600 from the district treasury, but had to pay back $25 a month to Asst. Fairchild, who, he said, was Crowe's field representative in the ward, according to the witness.

Harry A. Klebo, 5201 West Chicago avenue, was another who charged that he was not allowed to keep all the money obtained from the public treasury. He, too, is a resident of Crowe's ward and was sponsored for his job by Fairchild. He was questioned as follows:

Q.—Tell us how you obtained your job. A.—Fairchild took me down to the sanitary district office to see Crowe in May, 1927. We saw Crowe in his private office.

Q.—Tell us what conversation took place. A.—Fairchild said to Crowe that he would like to have me taken care of. Crowe said he would and later I got a letter from a lady in the office to give to Al Brodie, the quiet clerk in the law department. Brodie told me to report to the timekeeper and when I did he accused me, saying there was nothing to do.

Q.—Did you pay for your job?

The defense objected to this question, but the judge ruled that the witness might first answer what character of consideration was paid if any. He replied "money."

Q.—To whom did you pay? A.—I paid part to the Democratic county organization. I had to pay $50 dues and a $100 campaign contribution. It was paid to Keefe, secretary of the said organization.

Tells Quarrel Is Proper.

The name of James [Jimmy] Oberta, slain partner of Joe Saltis, was injected into the testimony when Mrs. Rose Backhaus, 3612 South Lincoln street, named him as her sponsor. She said she had known Oberta since he was a child. Oberta sent her with a letter to Crowe, she said.

Joseph Netherland, 3435 South Wabash avenue, named the late Dan Jackson of the Second ward as his sponsor. Joseph Smeczywski, who was president of the village board of Phoenix, was appointed for a job by School Trustee Joseph Savage, the testimony showed.

THE MORNING SESSION

After hearing twenty-five more pay rollers, who, with two or three exceptions, testified that they did no work for their pay from the public treasury, Judge Fisher suggested that the attorneys make up a list of all the pay rollers and put a stipulation in the record.

It was apparent that both Judge Fisher and Judge James J. Kelly, who is sitting with him in an advisory capacity, were becoming bored by the routine of pay rollers giving over and over again the same testimony. Assistant State's Attorneys Harold Keele, Henry Seyfarth and Jo Calvin Webb work in shifts questioning the witnesses, and each person called takes an average of five minutes to tell in substance the following:

"We were paid so much money and did no work of any consequence in return."

"How many more of these witnesses are you going to have," Judge Fisher asked.

"We have about 1,000 more of this class of witnesses," replied Prosecutor Keele.

"What is the need of us sitting here listening to another 1,000 men and women tell the same story?" queried Judge Fisher. "Isn't it possible that you state and defense can make up a list containing the names, addresses, sponsors and a brief summary of what each witness will testify to? This would save much time."

"I do not believe that the defense could make such an agreement because some of the witnesses might say they have performed some services," replied Attorney Fink. "Some of them have so testified already.

"I believe the court, however, has the right to limit the testimony on any one subject. I do not see how more or fewer witnesses on this subject can aggravate or lessen the situation we have before us."

"The number of such witnesses may have some value," replied Judge Fisher.

Wants All to Be Heard.

First Assistant State's Attorney Northrup, directing the prosecution, appeared at this time and said:

"I think we ought to hear all these witnesses in open court. At least we ought to go on for some time yet. There will be marked variations in some of the testimony to come."

"Well, let's get to the variations," replied Attorney Fink.

"You will get them soon enough," remarked the prosecutor, as court adjourned for the noon lunch period without any agreement being reached.

Several witnesses became recalcitrant during the early testimony, and Prosecutor Seyfarth said indictments charging perjury might be asked against them.

Doctor Is First Witness.

Dr. Ernest P. Steffman, 1415 Thatcher street, Des Plaines, was the first witness of the day. He said that he was hired personally by Timothy J. Crowe and that he attended several patients for his $2,160 salary. He was carried on the miscellaneous law department pay roll.

Fred Froelich, 2217 Monroe street, who was carried on the law department miscellaneous pay roll, was one of paper bearing Froelich's name.

Certainly," replied Mr. Stamos.

William Neff, 4304 Cottage Grove avenue, complained that he was given too much work to do. He was paid $1,800. He said that he had to have his wife help him in his work. One night he was given 1,000 names to copy, he said, and at other times he had to write essays.

"I suppose it was to prepare us in English so that we would not talk like bums when we were to go to people's doors to ask about water meter," he said in explaining his essay work. "We also wrote about loyalty to the organization."

Austrian Sculptor Guest of Arts Industries Group

Prof. Eugen Gustav Steinhof, sculptor and painter of Vienna, Austria, was the guest at a banquet last night given by the Association of Arts and Industries. His talk, "The Relation of Modern Architecture to the Decorative and Industrial Arts," was illustrated with lantern slides. He was introduced by Prof. John Shapley, head of the art department of the University of Chicago. William Nelson Pelouze presided at the affair which was attended by 160 persons. The banquet, held in the Hotel Sherman, was the first of the winter series.

EVANSTON LIGHT CONTRACT LET; PROTESTS FILED

The Evanston board of local improvements yesterday awarded a contract for installation of an ornamental street lighting system throughout the city to the Contracting and Material company, 42 East Pearson street.

The action was taken in the face of protests from a group of property owners over the fact that the company's bid of $1,847,427, while that of the Donovan Construction company of St. Paul, the low bidder, was $1,028,031.

The Evanston city council a week ago recommended the award made yesterday, on the argument that William P. Cagney, owner of the Construction and Material company, is an Evanston resident and would be more likely to use local labor. A number of property owners filed written protests yesterday against the award, and said they will take further action in court.

VICTIM'S FRIEND TRAILS BANDITS; POLICE SEIZE 2

Otto Nelson, 3201 Lincoln, followed two 19 year old bandits several blocks last night after they had held up the drug store of his friend, M. J. Lodgin, at 3744 North Ashland avenue, and brought about their arrest.

The prisoners are John C. Hendricks, 4644 North Bernard street, who told police that he was a student at Sunday school with Strong of the Wilson Club hotel, 4700 Wilson avenue.

Lodgin and Nelson were inside the store when the youths entered and took $15 from Lodgin at the point of a gun. They left, but Nelson returned and then ran to shout Lodgin, who was yelling an alarm.

Nelson stepped out of his shoes, took off his hat, turned up his coat collar, and followed Strong and Hendricks to a confectionery at Wilson and Southport avenues. There he met a passerby to call police and point out the two robbers to Sergt. Robert Friel and a squad.

SLUMP IN TARIFF YIELD HEAPS WOE ON NEW ZEALAND

Government Hunts for Other Revenue Sources.

BY QUENTIN POPE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WELLINGTON, N. Z., Dec. 10.—To-engaging of New Zealand's customs revenue has been one of the greatest single factors in the series of crises which have assailed the country this year.

With the single exception of the period from 1917 to 1922, when war profits and incomes were both abnormal, customs tariff has always yielded more than any other tax in New Zealand and usually more than half the total revenue from taxation. Events which reduced this revenue have thrown the state's financial mechanism out of gear.

The commonwealth of Australia anticipated New Zealand's financial drift by almost two years. At the invitation of the federal government, Sir Otto Niemeyer, representative of the Bank of England, visited Australia early last year.

Australia Is Warned.

He indicated the results to be expected from a continued policy of heavy borrowing and unbalanced budgets and advocated a more cautious financial policy. But although he gave Australia two years' grace before danger threatened, the sudden collapse of world markets threw the country into confusion. New Zealand was thus inevitably drawn into the welter of trade disorganization.

The trade and financial destinies of Australia and New Zealand are closely intertwined, although the two countries are anything but friends in tariff policy. Australia fears New Zealand's more efficient agricultural production, and New Zealand seeks to overcome disadvantages enjoyed by the Australian manufacturer in his bigger home market.

But the same companies trade in both lands. The same insurance companies, large investors of funds, operate on both sides of the Tasman sea. Six national banks serve New Zealand, and four of them are Australian, with their policies directed from that side of the water.

Trade Financed Via London.

The trade of Australia and New Zealand is financed 99 per cent through London. The bank rate on any foreign country is the London rate, plus any additional percentage which may be rendered necessary by adverse trade balances between London and the dominion concerned.

This was demonstrated recently when Britain moved off the gold standard, and the selling rates for American and Canadian dollars were immediately adjusted on the basis of the new London quotations. A dollar bought in New Zealand is not a New York dollar but a London dollar.

The banks of New Zealand have for years had a common institution known as the Associated Banks, which acts for all banks, holds daily meetings, and makes announcements on the altered price of money. With the growth of the Australian crisis it became obvious that the banks in Australia and New Zealand were using the London funds of the two countries as a common pool for the adjustment of balances.

Trade Balance of 2 States One Unit.

This meant that the position as between New Zealand and London did not determine the exchange rate. It meant that the trade balance between Australia and New Zealand considered as one unit had to be scanned for reasons for any particular move in the prices for London funds.

Within two months of the beginning of trouble in Australia the rate between New Zealand and London had risen to almost 10 per cent.

Reasons behind the decision of the banks to sky the rate were given by B. B. Ashwin, secretary to the principal of the New Zealand treasury. He said that the London funds of the four Australian banks doing business in New Zealand were suffering severe drain and that the move was obviously designed to bolster Australian credit.

"Australia is a much larger economic unit than New Zealand," Ashwin said. "This country is accordingly much more affected by Australian conditions than Australia is by those of New Zealand. The practical result is that the rate of exchange in New Zealand on London is governed largely by Australian conditions."

The heavy adverse trade balance in Australia resulted from the fall in prices. It was accentuated by cessation of borrowing through unwillingness of British investors to lend and the fact that London funds were being openly rationed in Australia. This adverse trade balance pointed to the solution.

Credit balances built up by New Zealand in good years were being used by the four Australian banks to support their own exchange, and the influence was felt in New Zealand at once.

Situation Grows Worse.

Thus the position has grown worse. Each move of the Australian exchange was answered by a move of New Zealand's, until the banks reached a rate of 30 per cent as between Australia and London, 9% per cent between New Zealand and London [admittedly pegging the rate there], and 17½ per cent between Australia and New Zealand.

These factors conspired to place an additional penalty of almost 10 per cent on New Zealand's imports, due to her financial independence of Australia and the fact that gold reserves were not available to adjust the exchange rate. After the world war New Zealand has never returned to the gold standard.

Even now, with imports falling off so fast that latest figures indicate a drop of at least one-third, the situation continues. And the government of New Zealand searches desperately for revenue to compensate for the slump in customs returns.

EX-PREMIER OF AUSTRALIA SEEKS VOTES BY CABLE

LONDON, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Stanley Bruce, prime minister of Australia until the Labor victory in 1929 and now again a candidate for the post, sailed for home today after an election campaign by cable and telephone.

Engaged in private business when word of the dissolution of the Australian parliament came at the end of November, he drafted an election address to his home constituency and cabled it back. He made several inter-continental telephone speeches from his ramshackle office in London across 11,000 miles of land and water.

LEADERS IN BOTH PARTIES OPPOSE HOOVER'S PLAN

Comment of Men in Congress Hostile.

she proposes to adjust reparations upon any proper basis. We adjusted the debts on the basis of capacity to pay and canceled about seven billion dollars of obligations. Under the present policies pursued in Europe, another readjustment on a basis of capacity to pay would about wipe out the debts."

Sees Opposition to Extension.

Senator James E. Watson [Rep., Ind.], majority leader, opined there would be no serious opposition to authorizing the one year moratorium but considerable opposition to any extension thereof.

"I am opposed to the one year plan or any further extension of the debt payments," said Senator Elmer Thomas [Dem., Okla]. "First, because it means saddling on the American taxpayer a huge burden while favoring a special class who hold foreign bonds and investments, second, it is the beginning of visible cancellation of debts. The President in his message intimates cancellation."

Senator Clarence C. Dill [Dem., Wash.] said the constitution of the war debt commission would mean only one thing—cancellation—and he opposes it. Senator Claude Swanson [Dem., Va.] said the present settlements are liberal and that an extension of the moratorium would be preferable to any move in the direction of cancellation.

Smoot "Wants All Facts."

"I am in favor of revival of the war debt commission," said Senator Smoot, "but before committing myself on extension of the payments or scaling down the principal I should want to have all the facts."

Senator David A. Reed [Rep., Pa.] said he is unwilling to extend the moratorium in full and would expect each debtor to meet its obligation so far as possible, adding that "most of them are more able to pay than we are to cancel."

EUROPE HAILS MESSAGE

LONDON, Dec. 10.—(AP)—President Hoover's moratorium message to congress today was accepted in high parliamentary circles tonight as a sign that the United States now is taking a world-wide attitude toward current financial problems.

Moreover, the belief was voiced that the message was evidence the United States, while not committing itself on the subject of reparations and war debts, undoubtedly recognizes that these questions lie at the roots of the world's economic problems.

Other political and financial circles expressed pleasure at his statement that none of the debtor nations ever had suggested cancellation of war debts owing to the United States. It was pointed out that the cardinal point of Great Britain's attitude was that no official move for cancellation would be initiated here.

Meanwhile it was emphasized that Great Britain, in common with other countries, would be put in embarrassing situation if the American congress does not ratify the Hoover moratorium by Dec. 15, on which date she would have to find £40,000,00 as her share of the payment.

France Sees Cut Proposal

PARIS, Dec. 10.—(AP)—President Hoover's moratorium message to congress was treated with the utmost importance at the French foreign office tonight, but comment was declined until it had been discussed by the cabinet.

Unofficial circles, on the presumption that Mr. Hoover was proposing a ten year partial war debts moratorium, expressed the opinion that such a move would have an immense easing influence on the international financial situation.

Hailed by Italy.

ROME, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Italy tonight welcomed the tenor of President Hoover's war debt message.

It has been repeatedly said the Italian government would not suggest cancellation of war debts to the United States or their postponement, but would gladly follow any step taken in this direction by America.

Official Italy was inclined to regard somewhat dubiously President Hoover's statement: "Reparations are wholly a European problem with which we have no relation." The belief here is that debts and reparations are more or less inexplicably related—that reparations are indeed a European problem, but they are linked with debts payable to America.

Germany Draws Parallel.

[Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, Dec. 10.—In President Hoover's message to congress, the Cologne Zeitung sees striking parallels to the new German emergency decree in that both are chiefly concerned with governmental measures against economic ills.

"Nothing can better illustrate the fact that today all nations are economically in the same boat," it says, "and though President Hoover seems to proceed from an assumption that the United States can effect recovery in a large measure independently from the rest of the world, he yet attributes America's economic difficulties this year mainly to the disorganized state of world economy."

After enumerating the presidential recommendation for reducing the budget, raising taxes, providing credit extensions and bank reform—"bearing to us a familiar aspect,"—it continues:

"But there are other measures proposed by the President of the United States breathing that spirit of economic optimism which can only further cripple the world's economic mechanism and intensify the crisis, such as the further restriction of immigration and the repudiation of any lowering of the mountainous tariff walls."

HELD FOR MAIL FRAUD.

Sioux City, Ia., Dec. 10.—[Special.]—W. H. Walker, 37, who says his home is in Chicago, was arrested here today, charged with using the mails to defraud. His offense is said to have been committed at Fargo, N. D., where he is said to have swindled the Fargo Foundry company out of $3,000, but the major part of the deal was consummated through mail correspondence.

Text of President Hoover's Message Asking Congress to Approve Moratorium

Washington, D. C., Dec. 10.—[Special.]—The message of President Hoover asking congress for ratification of his moratorium agreement with European nations in its essentials follows:

"With the support of a large majority of the individual members of the senate and house, I informed the governments concerned last June that—

"The American government proposes the postponement during one year of all payments on intergovernmental debts, reparations and relief debts, both principal and interest; of course not including obligations of governments held by private parties.

"Subject to confirmation by congress, the American government will postpone all payments upon the debts of foreign governments to the American government payable during the fiscal year beginning July 1 next, conditional on a like postponement for one year of all payments on intergovernmental debts owing the important creditor powers.

"In making this proposal, I also publicly stated.

"'The purpose of this action is to give the forthcoming year to the economic recovery of the world and to help free the recuperative forces already in motion in the United States from retarding influences from aboard.

Europe Hardest Hit.

"'The world-wide depression has affected the countries of Europe more severely than our own. Some of these countries are feeling to a serious extent the drain of this depression on national economy. The fabric of intergovernmental debts, supportable in normal times, weighs heavily in the midst of this depression.

"'From a variety of causes arising out of the depression, such as the fall in the price of foreign commodities and the lack of confidence in economic and political stability abroad, there is an abnormal movement of gold into the United States which is lowering the credit stability of many foreign countries. These and the other difficulties abroad diminish buying power for our exports and is a measure are the cause of our continued lower prices to our farmers.

"'Wise and timely action should contribute to relieve the pressure of these adverse forces in foreign countries and should assist in the reestablishment of confidence, thus forwarding political peace and economic stability in the world.

"'Authority of the President to deal with this problem is limited, as this action must be supported by the congress. It has been assured the cordial support of leading members of both parties in the senate and the house.

"'The essence of this proposition is to give time to permit debtor governments to recover their national prosperity. I am suggesting to the American people that they be wise creditors in their own interest and be good neighbors.

View on Reparations.

"'I wish to take this occasion also to frankly state my views upon our relations to German reparations and the debts owed to us by the allied governments of Europe. Our government has not been a party to, or exerted any voice in determination of, reparation obligations. We purposely did not participate in either general reparations or the division of colonies or property.

"'The repayment of debts due to us from the allies for the advance for war and reconstruction were settled upon a basis not contingent upon German reparations or related thereto. Therefore, reparations is necessarily wholly a European problem with which we have no relation.

"'I do not approve in any remote sense of the cancellation of the debts to us. World confidence would not be enhanced by such action. None of our debtor nations have ever suggested it. But as the basis of the settlement of these debts was the capacity under normal conditions of the debtor to pay, we should be consistent with our own policies and principles if we take into account the abnormal situation now existing in the world.

"'I am sure the American people have no desire to attempt to extract any sum beyond the capacity of any debtor to pay, and it is our view that broad vision requires that our government should recognize the situation as it exists.

Consistent with Policy.

"'This course of action is entirely consistent with the policy which we have hitherto pursued. We are not involved in the discussion of strictly European problems, of which the payment of German reparations is one. It represents our willingness to make a contribution to the early restoration of world prosperity in which our people have so deep an interest.

"'I wish further to add, that while this action has no bearing on the conference for limitations of land armaments to be held next February, inasmuch as the burden of competitive armaments has contributed to bring about this depression, we trust that by this evidence of our desire to assist we shall have contributed to the good will which is so necessary in the solution of this major question.'

"All the important creditor governments accepted this proposal. The necessary agreements among them have been executed, and creditor governments have foregone the receipt of payments due them since July 1, 1931.

"The effect of this agreement was instantaneous in reversing the drift toward general economic panic and has served to give time to the peoples of those countries to readjust their economic life. The action taken was necessary. I am confident it commends itself to the judgment of the American people.

"Payments due to the United States government from many countries, both on account of principal and interest, fall due on Dec. 15.

Asks Early Ratification.

"It is highly desirable that a law should be enacted before that date authorizing the secretary of the treasury, with the approval of the President, to postpone all payments due us on accounts of debts owned by foreign governments to the United States government during the year ending June 30, 1932, and to provide for their payment over a ten year period, beginning July 1, 1932.

"As we approach the new year it is clear that a number of the governments indebted to us will be unable to meet further payments to us in full pending recovery in their economic life. It is useless to blind ourselves to an obvious fact. Therefore it will be necessary in some cases to make still further temporary adjustments.

"The congress has shared with the executive in the past the consideration of questions arising from these debts. I am sure that it will commend itself to the congress that the legislative branch of the government should continue to share this responsibility.

"In order that we should be in position to deal with the situation, I recommend the re-creation of the world war foreign debt commission, with authority to examine such problems as may arise in connection with these debts during the present economic emergency, and to report to the congress its conclusions and recommendations.

Disarmament Conference Plans.

"The United States has accepted an invitation to take part in the world disarmament conference which convenes on Feb. 2 at Geneva. The efforts of this conference will be in line with the endeavors in which the American government has taken a leading part beginning with The Hague conference in 1898.

"Up to the present time the record of achievement has been almost entirely in the field of naval disarmament. It is to be hoped that further progress can be made in reduction of naval arms and that limitation and reduction so urgently needed can be extended to land arms.

"The burden of taxes to support armament is greater today than before the great war, and the economic instability of the world is definitely due in part to this cause and the fears which these huge armaments at all times create. No discouragements should be permitted to turn the world from sane and reasonable limitation of arms.

"With a view to establish an atmosphere of confidence for the opening of this world disarmament conference more than forty governments, including all the principal military and naval powers, have joined in accepting the principle of one year armaments truce.

"This truce, which is the outgrowth of a proposal advanced last September by the foreign minister of Italy, is designed to prevent the expansion of armaments program during the coming months, in the hope of removing the threat of a sudden revival of competition in arms before and during the conference. These steps were fully approved by our war and navy departments.

Concern Over Manchuria.

"We have been deeply concerned over the situation in Manchuria. As parties to the Kellogg-Briand pact and to the nine power treaty we have a responsibility of maintaining the integrity of China and a direct interest with other nations in maintaining peace there.

"When this controversy originated in September the league of nations was in session and China appealed to the council of that body, which at once undertook measures of conciliation between China and Japan. Both China and Japan have participated in these proceedings before the council ever since.

"Under the Kellogg-Briand pact all of the signatories, including China and Japan, have convenanted to seek none but pacific means in the settlement of their deputies. Thus the ultimate purpose of proceedings under this section of the Kellogg-Briand pact and of conciliation proceedings by the league covenant coincide.

"It seemed, therefore, both wise and appropriate rather to aid and advise with the league and thus have unity of world effort to maintain peace than to take independent action.

"In all negotiations, however, the department of state has maintained complete freedom of judgment and action as to participation in any measure which the league might finally be determined upon.

"Immediately after the outbreak of the trouble this government advised both Japan and China of its serious interest. Subsequently it communicated its views to both governments regarding their obligations under the Kellogg-Briand pact.

Joined by Other Nations.

"In this action we were joined by other nations signatory of the pact. This government has consistently and repeatedly by diplomatic representations indicated its unremitting solicitude that these treaty obligations be respected.

"In the recurring efforts of the nations to bring about a peaceful settlement this government has realized that the exercise of the utmost patience was desirable, and it is believed that public opinion in this country has appreciated the wisdom of this restraint.

At present a resolution is pending before the meeting at Paris, with hopes of passage, under which Japan and China will agree to take no initiative which might lead to renewed conflict; in which Japan has reiterated its intention to withdraw the Japanese troops to the railway zone as soon as lives and property of Japanese nationals in Manchuria can be adequately protected, and under which both nations agree to a neutral commission to meet on the ground, to which commission all matters in dispute can be referred for investigation and report.

Caribbean Affairs.

"In compliance with the agreement made in May, 1927, the Nicaraguan government requested supervision by an electoral commission from the United States of the congressional elections held in 1930.

"This year a member of the commissions of 1928 and 1930 was sent to N[illegible]a as an observer during the election of municipal authorities in order that, on the basis of [illegible] observations, it might be possible to arrange the many necessary details of the supervision of the 1932 presidential election in Nicaragua.

"Armed forces of the United States maintained in Nicaragua have been reduced to the minimum deemed necessary to the training of the Nicaragua constabulary and the rendering of appropriate support for such instruction. It is proposed to withdraw completely American armed forces from Nicaragua after their presidential election in 1932.

"Substantial progress has been made in carrying out the program for the withdrawal of our activities in Haiti recommended by the commission which, with the support of the congress, made an investigation of Haitian affairs in 1930, and by its good offices laid the foundation for the present popularly elected government of that republic.

Withdraw from Haiti.

"After protracted negotiations an accord was reached with the Haitian government on Aug. 5 providing for the return to Haitian control of important government services heretofore carried on under American supervision by virtue of general obligations arising through the provisions of our treaty with Haiti.

"In accordance with this agreement the Haitian government on Oct. 1 assumed definitely the administration and control of the department of public works, the sanitary service, and the technical service of agriculture, which includes the industrial educational system. All American personnel was withdrawn from these services.

"The accord makes appropriate provision for the continuance of adequate financial control and assistance on the part of our government.

"In 1929 the government of the United States, together with the governments of Cuba, Colombia, Mexico, and Uruguay, formed the commission on inquiry and conciliation, Bolivia-Paraguay, which had the good fortune of being able to terminate an international incident which for a time threatened to cause war between the countries involved.

Accept Friendly Offer.

"The five neutral governments then offered their good offices to Bolivia and Paraguay, with a view to furthering a settlement of their difficulties. This offer was accepted in principle. I am happy to state that representatives of both countries are now meeting in Washington, with the hope of concluding a pact of nonaggression between them.

"It has been the privilege of this government to lend its good offices on several occasions in the past to the settlement of boundary disputes between the American republics. One of the most recent occasions upon which the disinterested services of this government were requested was in connection with the settlement of the dispute which, for almost a century, has been outstanding between the republics of Guatemala and Honduras with respect to their common boundary.

"The tribunal, which will meet in Washington, will be presided over by the chief justice of the United States, who has set Dec. 15, 1931, as the date for the first meeting.

"The period for hearings before the general and special claims commissions between this country and Mexico expired in August, 1931. Pursuant to a resolution of the senate under date of Feb. 28, 1931, and under instructions from the department of state, the American ambassador at Mexico City is carrying on negotiations with the Mexican government looking to the renewal of the activities of the commissions, in order that the claims of American citizens still pending may be heard and adjudicated.

"There have been transmitted to the senate, from time to time, treaties and conventions which have failed during recent sessions to obtain that body's consideration or final decision.

"Inasmuch as these treaties affect numerous phases of private and public endeavor, I earnestly commend their early conclusion to the attention of the congress.

"In the last session of the congress I transmitted to the senate protocols providing for adherence by the United States to the permanent court of international justice.

"I need not repeat that for over twelve years every President and every secretary of state has urged this action as a material contribution to the pacific settlement of controversies among nations and a further assurance against war.

"The convention for the supervision of the international trade in arms and ammunition and in implements of war, signed at Geneva June 17, 1925, represents another of the steps taken in the general field of restriction of armament. It has been ratified unconditionally by others.

"With the added impetus which ratifications by the United States would lend to such a move, it is quite possible that the fourteen ratifications necessary by treaty stipulation would be received to bring the convention into force."

13 Warrants Issued for Mary Nolan as Pay Dodger

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 10.—(AP)—Thirteen warrants charging Mary Nolan, film actress, with failure to pay wages amounting to $500 were issued by the city prosecutor today after 13 men and women, former models and tailors employed in the actress' dress shop, demanded her arrest. The complaints also named Wallace T. Macreary, husband of the actress, once known on the New York stage as Imogene Wilson. The actress has been arrested several times on similar charges.

"Best Doctor" for Depression Is Uncle Sam, Grandi Insists

ROME, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Foreign Minister Dino Grandi delivered his report on his American visit to the senate today to the accompaniment of an almost unprecedented display of enthusiasm and approval on the part of Premier Mussolini.

The foreign minister addressed the senate for twenty minutes, and at his side stood the premier, smiling and nodding approvingly at each telling point. At the conclusion of the speech Mussolini led the applause, leaned over to the minister, and said "Very good."

Grandi told the senate that "one of the surest courses" for the rehabilitation of the world is provided by the efforts of American statesmen. He asserted his deep confidence in those efforts and assured his hearers that Italy and the United States could work together for the promotion of peace and prosperity.

Eager to End Naval Row.

In the diplomatic gallery was Alexander Kirk, American charge d'affaires, acting as the United States representative.

The foreign minister emphasized the possibility and desirability of settling the naval differences between France and Italy. He called the Hoover moratorium the "first real act of international cooperation" and the first attempt to rise above the "tragic debit and credit balances written with the blood of 10,000,000 men who will never see the sun again."

Recalling that America supported his suggestion for an armament truce, the foreign minister remarked that the truce and the Hoover moratorium were inspired by the same ideals. Both truce and moratorium are provisional, he said, "but serving to practical and immediate results."

Hails Hoover's Efforts.

Sig. Grandi emphasized his admiration for "the broadmindedness, the generous, and intelligent understanding of international problems that President Hoover and the American statesmen constantly carry to their work."

"In the arduous and determined efforts the world is making to overcome the difficulties confronting it," he continued, "this work constitutes one of the surest courses and cannot fail to inspire deep confidence.

"Never as today has it been so clearly shown that the interests of all nations are strictly interdependent, that the misfortune of one will never be the fortune of another, and that in the welfare of all lies the welfare of each.

"I believe that the United States and Italy can work together within the sphere of international collaboration."

Will Work for Peace.

Relationships fostered during his American visit will be valuable, he said. "In laying the foundations for beneficial action by our respective governments."

"In the United States," he declared, "just as with us, it is believed that peace cannot be disassociated from justice."

PAINTS GERMANY AS GROGGY, BUT STILL FIGHTING

Emergency Decree Is Life Saver, Bankers Told.

BY EGBERT SWENSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BASEL, Switzerland, Dec. 10.—A picture of Germany's desperate internal financial condition was presented today by Count Schwerin von Krosigk, German budget maker, to the consultative committee of the Bank for International Settlements, which is investigating the reich's "capacity to pay reparations."

Succeeding the regular German delegate, Dr. Carl Melchior, Hamburg banker, who had explained Berlin's foreign indebtedness, Count Krosigk, with the support of convincing figures, told the committee that the new drastic emergency decree promulgated by Chancellor Bruening was Germany's last possible attempt to balance its next budget.

Decrees Save One Billion.

Germany has issued four such decrees in the past two years, each more drastic than the preceding one, the budget maker said, adding that these four measures resulted in economies totaling 4,000,000,000 marks [about $1,000,000,000.

"The last resources of the reich have been drawn upon this latest emergency decree, which reduces salaries of officials for the third time and raises the turnover tax to two per cent," Count Krosigk said. "Our resources are thereby exhausted. Neither the reich, nor the provinces and communes can reduce expenditures further or increase taxation. But we are fighting desperately."

Count Krosigk said that the provinces encouraged by the reich, had reduced their expenditures from 15 to 25 per cent between 1930 and 1931. But he stressed that drastic reductions in expenses were being hotly pursued by the steady decrease in the tax yield.

"A fall in revenue by 1,650,000,000 marks [about $400,000,000] is anticipated," he continued. "It is hoped this will be recompensed by the new turnover tax of two per cent. But the 1932-'33 expenditures will tend to increase—largely because of the enormous interest on the floating debt and the rapid rise in the total number of unemployed. It is difficult to make an exact forecast. The budget's future depends upon economic development."

Over 5,000,000 Jobless.

The German said there were over 5,000,000 unemployed in Germany, sixty per cent of whom are receiving the dole under the federal insurance law and 28 per cent receiving aid from the "crisis scheme" and local communities. Unemployment relief costs 1,500,000,000 marks [about $250,000,000].

The count told members of the committee that income has been considerably diminished since 1929. He said that the original estimated income for 1931-'32 would total 9,120,000,000 marks. But it is now clear, he said, that the total will be less than 6,800,000,000 marks, with estimates for next year falling to 7,200,000,000.

RID DEPRESSION BY ENDING REPARATIONS, BRUENING'S ADVICE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Dec. 10.—"The world cannot rid itself of the depression until a complete understanding has been reached with Germany on reparations and on the repayment of her foreign debts," Chancellor Heinrich Bruening said today at the first formal press conference he has held since he took over the foreign affairs portfolio.

He refused to state out and out that Germany would refuse to continue to pay reparations when the Hoover moratorium expires next July, but he said so indirectly when he made the following statement:

"After Germany's working capital had evaporated through years of inflation, through payments of reparations, with its foreign long term loans, then Germany tried to pay them out of her surplus from exports. Now tariff prohibitions face us on all sides, making it almost impossible to export our goods. Today the all encompassing solution which Germany can accept must be found in taking into consideration all the angles of the problem.

"Other nations are nearing a crisis similar to ours. Therefore it is a wholesale experiment with which we are trying to interest them.

"The reduction of wages, prices, and freight rates alone were not sufficient, so we were forced to cut interest rates. This has not been tried since the remote ages. It is a complicated operation, but yet I am convinced that it will prove successful. In past years farmers have been paying rates of interest ranging from 8 to 12 per cent, and that unhealthy condition had to be stopped."

The "temporary success" of Adolf Hitler, leader of the National Socialists [Fascists] and other radicals, Chancellor Bruening ascribed to 17 years of misery from which the Germans have suffered.

"When unhappy, Germans take refuge in day dreams and think of Utopian schemes," he said. "Radical leaders may make big speeches, but we will not tolerate the slightest violation of the constitution, and the reins of government will remain firmly in our hands."

BRITAIN BARS ALL NEW ADMIRALS AS ECONOMY STEP

LONDON, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Sir Bolton Eyres-Monsell, first lord of the admiralty, announced today as a matter of economy that no more admirals of the fleet would be created and that vacancies would not be filled until the number of incumbents had been reduced to three.

The title of admiral of the fleet is little more than an honorary distinction. It is held by King George, Earl Beatty, Sir Osmond Brock, Sir Roger Keyes, and Sir Henry Oliver. Earl Jellicoe and Sir Charles Madden are admirals of the fleet on the retired list.

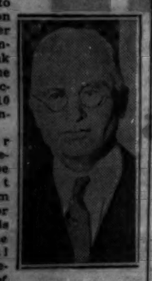
UNION LEADERS TO ACT ON RAIL PAY CUT TODAY

Refuse to Forecast Wage Parley Decision.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.

Representatives of the union railway workers of the United States are scheduled to make a decision today on whether they will recommend to the rank and file of the unions the acceptance of a 10 per cent voluntary wage cut.



DANIEL WILLARD.

Eighty-four members of a special committee struggled last night to form a program for consideration this morning by the 1,500 general chairmen, representatives of 1,500,000 rail employes.

Shortly before midnight, however, the special committee gave it up for the night without having reached any agreement on the proposed wage cut. It was announced that the committee would meet again at 9 o'clock this morning, keeping at the task until it is finished. Meanwhile the main meeting of the general chairmen will be postponed, awaiting the completion of the committee's report.

The grand ballroom of the Palmer house, in which the main meeting will be held, bids fair to become a historic setting, for it is generally conceded that the announced attitude of the union leaders will have a far reaching effect in the financial status of the railroads and of the nation.

Reaction in Wall Street.

An indication of the significance which Wall street attaches to the impending action of the union men, was given yesterday when a rumor circulated about the New York Stock exchange that the rail men had determined to accept the cut. There was a brief flurry in rail stocks before the rumor was stopped.

But economists freely conjectured yesterday that if the union men announce today an acceptance of the proposed pay cut, rail stocks will advance in the market from $5 to $15 a share. Statisticians have computed that a 10 per cent wage cut would increase the railroads' earnings by from 70 cents to $6.71 for each share of stock issued by the various companies. In the cases of almost all the principal roads the increase per share produced by a wage cut would be more than $2.

There was a dearth of certain knowledge on the situation at the Palmer House yesterday. The leaders refused to express themselves, and the lesser lights didn't know.

Rumors of Compromise.

While predictions that the wage cut will be turned down were most freely expressed, there were also reports that the union men were considering a form of compromise.

These reports had it that the union men may issue a statement that they will recommend to their separate organizations that the cut be accepted, but only on condition that the railroads will accept the program for relief of unemployment and betterment of working conditions which has been prepared by the union forces.

The 1,500 general chairmen attended a short session yesterday afternoon at which the railroads' proposal for a 10 per cent reduction, informally made during a conference between union leaders and a committee of railway presidents, was explained to the chairmen. No discussion was permitted.

Begin Drafting Program.

The men were instructed by David B. Robertson, chairman of the meeting, to divide into separate meetings of the 21 brotherhoods which were represented. In those meetings each of the brotherhoods was told to choose three general chairmen as a committee to represent the group. The 63 men thus chosen then met, beginning at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, with the 21 executives of the brotherhoods, and began at once the task of drafting a program to be submitted for the action of the whole group.

The program agreed upon by these 84 men will be presented at the general meeting at 10 o'clock this morning.

Mr. Robertson stated yesterday that no official invitation had been presented to Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, to address the union meeting, as was reported on Wednesday night. He said he was unable to state whether Mr. Willard had conferred or been asked to confer with any of the union leaders, but he did say he himself had not talked with the railway president.

Willard Stays in Chicago.

However, it was made clear during the day that Mr. Willard had consulted with some of the union men. He would not discuss the matter. He has been in Chicago for several days, during all the union conferences, and although he was scheduled to attend a meeting of railway presidents in Washington today, he said he would not be there and would remain in Chicago.

Answering the report spread on the stock market that the union leaders had agreed to accept a cut, Mr. Robertson stated that "no organization has yet acted or taken any position on the wage question."

AVIATION NOTES

Caught in a low, dripping wet fog that closed in behind him, Air Mail Pilot Melvin Fried played tag with water towers and high tension lines around Highland Park for half an hour early yesterday morning before landing his Waco, powered by Wright, in a field between a marsh and high tension wires. The mail was forwarded to St. Paul by train. He was flying for Northwest Airways from Chicago to St. Paul.

The department of commerce estimates that daily about $54,000,000 in bank clearings, remittances and negotiable securities arrive in New York by air mail. Air mail is now averaging 750,000 pounds a month, and there is an increasing volume of general and social, as well as business, correspondence.

The Belmont Park Aviation club is holding a series of meetings to discuss current aeronautical developments on Tuesday evenings at 5008 Fletcher street. R. M. Getchell, formerly at McCook field, has been giving a course of lectures.

TWO POLICEMEN HUNT KIDNAPERS; ONE IS KIDNAPED

Policemen Harry Miller and Harry Lang of the detective bureau yesterday stopped two men, whom they suspected to be kidnapers, at Roosevelt road and Spaulding avenue.

The men proved to be just what they were suspected of being by kidnaping Detective Miller, forcing him into his own automobile, taking him for a short ride and tossing him out at Sawyer avenue and Douglas boulevard. The car was later recovered at 15th street and Crawford avenue.

When the meeting of detectives and kidnapers occurred Lang flashed his pistol and pointed it at the smaller of the men. The taller, who wore a camel's hair coat, beat Miller to the draw. There was a brief period of status quo, with Lang threatening to shoot his prisoner and the man in the coat threatening to shoot Miller. Lang, to save his partner, dropped his pistol. It was picked up by the little man and the ride began.

The supposed kidnaping the detectives were investigating was that of Sam Asinow, a waiter at the Auditorium hotel. He declared he had been taken to 3215 Grenshaw street and tortured until he gave up $1,000. After the real kidnaping of Miller, other policemen went to that address and arrested Charles (Chick) Hadesman. He asserted that Asinow had not been kidnaped, but had been injured a little in a brawl in the Hadesman flat. Asinow admitted this was true.

CONGRESS ASKED TO HELP INSTEAD OF HINDER LINES

I. C. C. Report at Same Time Gives Roads Advice

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 10.—[Special.]—Recommendations for legislative and other action by congress to the end that the railroads be strengthened in their competitive position and helped rather than hindered by federal regulation, together with suggestions to the carriers for more efficient and economic management, are contained in the forty-fifth annual report of the interstate commerce commission, made public today.

The report asks congress, in effect, to put an end to delays on remedial action requested of it in the past by the commission and others. It was especially emphatic for effective regulation of competing transportation agencies.

"The essential thing," said the commission, "is to make provision for some regulation. Once a start is made, experience will then show the need for amplifying or extending it."

The commission broadened its previous suggestions on this point to include public regulation of interstate trucking companies, pipe lines, and certain waterways, whereas its original suggestions were confined to interstate passenger bus operations.

New Proposals.

The more outstanding proposals, however, were for changing the present rate making method used by the commission, repeal of the recapture clause of the interstate commerce act, congressional investigation into government subsidizing of motor, water and air carriers, and extension of the commission's jurisdiction to nonoperating holding companies, and freight forwarding concerns.

On the question of holding company control, the commission said "it may be desirable" to authorize it to require such companies to divest themselves of their control of railroads where such control had not been authorized by the commission and was found prejudicial to consolidation plans it had sanctioned.

Under the present rule of rate regulation, the commission declared freight rates must be lowered in times of prosperity when traffic is heavy and increased during periods of depression when traffic is light, "directly counter to the normal trend of prices." It said the objection to the system is that it "cherishes elusive hopes that by mere changes in rates, railroad earnings can be made stable regardless of business conditions."

Regulating "Recapture."

To remedy this situation the commission proposes repeal of the recapture provision whereby the government recovers one-half of the annual earnings of a carrier which are in excess of the so-called fair return of 5.75 per cent on the value of property investments. In this way the railroads would be permitted to retain earnings in prosperous years to be used in tiding them over the periods of lean traffic conditions, such as the present, when earnings fall below the legal fair return to which the roads are entitled.

Doctor Is Seized on Murder Charge in Woman's Death

Dr. Justin Mitchell, 757 West 79th street, was arrested on a charge of murder by illegal operation yesterday, following the death in St. Bernard's hospital of Mrs. Ethel Vaughan, 30 years old, 7035 Kimbark avenue. The complaint was signed by her husband, Harold Vaughan, a clerk, who charged that Dr. Mitchell performed the operation on Nov. 16 in his office.

CAFE MAN SLAIN WHEN HE HURLS PIES AT BANDITS

Henry M. Schmitt, 39 years old, battled late yesterday afternoon with two robbers who entered his lunchroom at 4728 Belmont avenue. His only weapons were pies, plates and canned goods, which he hurled at the bandits. They had pistols and one of them put an end to his resistance by shooting and killing him.

When the men entered Schmitt and a waitress, Florence Mikkelson of 3333 North Kilpatrick avenue, were preparing for the dinnertime influx of patrons. Miss Mikkelson fled out through the kitchen, where Schmitt's wife was cooking, and called for help.

After the shooting the robbers fled to a car in which a confederate was waiting. They did not stop to take the $7.50 that was in the cash register. Mrs. Schmitt found her husband dying, with a wound in the temple, when she ran in from the kitchen.

RULES CHILD CAN SUE DOCTOR FOR INJURY AT BIRTH

Columbus, O., Dec. 10.—[Special.]—Right of a child, deformed at birth through alleged negligence of the attending physician, to bring suit for damages was upheld by Judge John King today in the case of a 4 year old child for whom suit had been brought against a Columbus physician for $100,000.

The judge held, in overruling a demurrer of the physician, that the case must go to trial. The decision is the first of its type in Ohio, and probably in the United States.

The child's suit charged that the physician was under the influence of liquor and that he improperly used forceps to deliver the child.

PAIR SENTENCED TO JAIL FOR RUM SALES TO PUPILS

Two men, who sold booze to Austin High school students, were denounced by Municipal Judge John Sbarbaro yesterday in the Fillmore street court after he had fined them and sentenced them to jail for contributing to the delinquency of minors and for violation of the state prohibition law.

The men are Stanley Lax, owner of an alleged beer flat at 4226 Augusta boulevard, and the bartender, Henry Kilkowski. The former was sentenced to 60 days in the Bridewell and fined $200, while the latter was sentenced to 14 months in the county jail and fined $800.

"Through the actions of your type these boys are not getting an education but are learning to become drunkards on rotten booze," Judge Sbarbaro said in sentencing them.

James Copp, 18 years old, 1030 North Keystone avenue, brought about the arrests of Lax and Kilkowski. With Alexander Borker, 15 years old, 1017 North Crawford avenue, the youth had purchased two half-pint bottles of the booze for 75 cents, he testified. He became ill and his mother, learning of the purchase, notified the police. Police said liquor may have been sold to elementary school pupils.

Women Meet Today for City Problem Discussion

The second of a series of luncheon meetings on municipal problems will be held this noon at the Woman's City club, 6 North Michigan avenue. Francis X. Busch, former corporation counsel, and Prof. T. V. Smith of the University of Chicago will discuss "Chicago's Failure in Government." The meetings are held under the auspices of the citizenship committee, of which Mrs. George Bass is chairman, and are open to the public.

JUDGE ASSAILS USING GIRLS AS LIQUOR DECOYS

Dismisses Case Brought by Policemen.

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 10.—[Special.]—Judge Arthur E. Gordon of Recorder's court today made it plain he would not tolerate use of girls as decoys in buying liquor in Detroit speakeasies. He dismissed a case after two patrolmen testified they had "picked up" two young women and asked them to a blind pig for a drink.

The policemen, Justin Driscoll and Ray Murphy, admitted to Judge Gordon they asked the girls to take them to a place run by Evangel Gabriel, where admittance was gained because the proprietor knew the girls. This admission was made by the patrolmen at the jury trial yesterday of Gabriel, who was charged with the violation of the state prohibition act. Today, at the opening of court, Judge Gordon directed a verdict of not guilty for the defendant on motion of Cosimo P. Minazzo, assistant prosecution attorney.

Girls Knew "Good Spot."

Driscoll testified he picked up the girls Nov. 16, and that the three then joined Murphy a few blocks away. Driscoll said he told the girls he would like to buy them a drink but didn't know of a blind pig in the neighborhood. The girls said they would take the officers to a "good spot," Driscoll said, and led them to Gabriel's place.

The four were in the place two hours, the officers testified, and spent $4.35 for steaks, sandwiches, and drinks. They then arrested Gabriel, who, they said, served them. The officers admitted that, while they spent their own money, they were subsequently reimbursed by the police department.

Recently the use of girls as decoys to obtain evidence against violators of the prohibition law by federal agents caused nationwide comment. Judge Gordon was emphatic in telling the patrolmen that he disapproved of their methods in obtaining evidence.

In dismissing the case, he said:

"It seems to me that, with thousands of needy families in the city, the money you spent in securing evidence against this defendant might have been spent to much better advantage.

I do not approve of the practice of using young women as decoys in liquor cases. It is not good public policy and certainly is detrimental to public morals."

Agent Resigns Under Fire.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 10.—[Special.]—The resignation of P. V. Hertzig, dry agent attached to the Pittsburgh district, was received today at the prohibition bureau, following a personal investigation by Director of Prohibition Amos W. W. Woodcock into charges Hertzig's bank account was out of proportion to his earnings. Mr. Woodcock said the dry agent's resignation was entirely voluntary.

DRY AGENTS DEFEND BLOND'S ARREST ON BRUNETTE WARRANT

United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker yesterday re-questioned John Vorenkamp and N. H. Hinkes, prohibition agents who arrested Albert Casey, 6 feet tall, weighing 198 pounds, and a blond, on a warrant specifying a 5 foot, 8 inch brunette, weighing about 166 pounds. Casey was accused of selling liquor and was held to the grand jury Wednesday in bonds of $1,500.

The agents were firm in their declaration they were mistaken a little in their description, but that Casey was the man who had sold them liquor. The commissioner said he was satisfied with their stories and that the case is now beyond his jurisdiction.

SAVING NICKELS MAY BE SECRET OF ED'S WEALTH

Policeman William Lawler and William Smith, of the detective bureau, watched Edward Blair, 29 years old, as he entered a telephone booth in the Randolph street station of the Illinois Central railroad last night. They saw him carefully select a dull looking coin from a handful of bright ones, and insert it in the coin slot.

"He's using a slug," observed Lawler.

When Blair emerged, Smith arrested him. Lawler signaled the telephone operator to return the last inserted coin. It was counterfeit. Smith and Lawler marched Blair to the station. They questioned him. He described himself as a Detroit bootlegger.

"A bootlegger trying to cheat for a nickel!" exclaimed Detectives Lawler and Smith in surprise. Their surprise increased a moment later when they searched Blair. In his pockets they found $781.

FUGITIVE, 62, FEARS MA, 107, WILL LICK HIM

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 10.—(AP)—A 62 year old man who escaped from the Alhambra city jail and pleaded with officers who recaptured him not to "tell my ma, because she'd likely lick the tar outta me," was back in his cell today to complete a sentence for shoplifting.

His "ma" is Mrs. Charles Peebles, 107 years old, of Eau Claire, Wis., and the errant son is Cordel Peebles.

Peebles, convicted last Tuesday of shoplifting, escaped from the city jail Friday and was traced to the home of his brother, S. J. Peebles, 70 years old.

"I was just getting ready to fetch this feller back to jail when you fellers arrived," officers said S. J. declared as he shook a scolding finger at his younger brother.

NEWBERRY RUM PLOT TRIAL PUT IN JURY'S HANDS

Peoria, Ill., Dec. 10.—[Special.]—A jury retired at 12:15 o'clock this noon to consider the fate of Edward M. "Ted" Newberry, alleged Chicago gangster, and 24 others charged with liquor conspiracy.

Late this evening they had not yet reached an agreement and were locked up for the night.

Just before the jury retired Judge Fitzhenry ruled that the ledger sheets of the Addison National bank, Chicago, representing the accounts of Newberry and his seven aliases, were not to be admitted to the jury room.

The bank ledger sheets show accounts totaling more than $1,000,000 covering a period of less than three years' time.

Capt. William Waugh, Chicago, Newberry's counsel, again suffered a nervous collapse while presenting an argument to the court urging him to eliminate the bank records from the evidence and exhibits. It was during his plea that he sank to the floor and had to be carried from the courtroom.

Soviets Expel 2 Directors from Party; Warn Others

MOSCOW, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Two directors of soviet trusts were expelled from the communist party and cited for criminal trial today for shipping produce which was stuffed in torn bags instead of properly packed in wooden boxes. A number of others were cited for trial, some were removed from their posts, and others were warned another offense would bring severe discipline. Nine departments connected with the system of supply for manufactured goods were charged with storing great amounts of commodities instead of distributing them for public consumption.

JURY'S ACTION IN OGLESBY CASE KNOWN TODAY

The action taken by the Lake county [Ind.] grand jury, in session in Crown Point, on testimony that Jasper Oglesby, son of Richard Oglesby, civil war governor of Illinois, had contracted a bigamous marriage there in June, 1920, will be reported to Criminal Judge Martin J. Smith today. Prosecutor Robert G. Estill refused to state whether Oglesby was included in one of 16 indictments which the jury is expected to return. Oglesby's wife, Mrs. Maude B. Oglesby, and her father, D. B. Byrum of Chicago, testified before the jury on Wednesday.

Mrs. Oglesby and her father said her husband had deserted her and her two children, Richard, 12 years old, and John, 13 years old, in Elkhart, Ill., 11 years ago. She produced evidence to show that Oglesby married Myrtle Nicholson, also of Elkhart, in Crown Point, and that he subsequently lived with her and was the father of her two children. Oglesby, whose whereabouts are unknown, is $4,200 in arrears in alimony due Mrs. Oglesby on a separate maintenance suit.

OVERPOWERED AND ROBBED.

Otto Bruckman of Ottumwa, Ia., was robbed of a $385 diamond ring, a watch and chain, and $6 in cash by two men who strongarmed him early yesterday in front of 330 South La Salle street.

COUNCIL GROUP SEEKS 10 CENT MILK FOR CITY

Compare Cost Elements with Milwaukee.

BY PAUL POTTER.

A thorough investigation into the factors affecting the price of Chicago's milk, with a view to determining whether retail prices can be lowered even more than the voluntary reduction of a cent a quart announced by the distributors early yesterday morning, is to be opened next Wednesday by a subcommittee of the city council.

This assurance was given last night by Ald. David L. Sutton [7th], chairman of the council subcommittee appointed last June to determine why milk prices had not been lowered with other living costs. Ald. John F. Healy [4th], member of the committee and author of the resolution calling for the investigation, affirmed Sutton's announcement last night.

Want Price of Ten Cents.

"The council committee, as well as consumers, are well aware that the price of a pint of milk has not been lowered from eight cents—the price that has been in effect since December, 1922," said Ald. Sutton. "We will not be satisfied while the people are paying more than ten cents a quart, when Milwaukee pays nine cents a quart for the same quality of milk."

The new price of milk per quart in Chicago is twelve cents, effective Jan. 1.

A survey made yesterday through milk dealers, dairy farmers' organizations, labor leaders and available city records in Chicago and Milwaukee disclosed that the farmers supplying both markets are getting, within a fraction of a cent per quart, the same price for their milk in both cities.

The costs of distribution in the two cities, when analyzed, disclosed that the handling of the milk from the time it leaves milk plants in the country until it is placed on city doorsteps, accounts for the difference of three cents between retail prices in Chicago and Milwaukee.

Costs Are Compared.

Based upon information given by authorities yesterday, the following table shows that it now costs about two cents more to deliver a quart of milk in Chicago than in Milwaukee, and about one cent more to transport and process it.

	Price.	Farmer gets	Driver gets	Dealer gets
Chicago	12c	4.27c	3.90c	4.60c
Milwaukee	9c	4.50c	1.62c	2.52c

Two principal factors are given by officials in both cities for the increase costs in Chicago. One is that less distance per bottle is required to get milk from farm to doorstep in Milwaukee, and the second that each Milwaukee driver handles almost twice the amount of milk a Chicago driver does. Chicago drivers are unionized, those in Milwaukee are not.

There are 6,800 wagon drivers who deliver 250,000 gallons of milk daily in Chicago and the suburbs. There are 800 drivers in Milwaukee and suburbs, delivering 87,000 gallons. Cost accountants have on two occasions reported the per package cost of handling and delivering pints and quarts to be practically identical, according to Chicago dealers yesterday.

Union Chief Gives Figures.

Robert Fitchie, head of the Chicago Milk Wagon Drivers' union, local 753, declared yesterday that of the 7,200 members of the union, 400 were now unemployed. Each employed driver, who is guaranteed a minimum of $50 a week by contract, is paying $1 a week toward relief for these 400, in addition to his union dues of $6 per month, Fitchie said. This latter sum provides a reserve fund for sickness and accident benefit for all members.

Officially there are now 5,085 milk wagons licensed and operating in Chicago, in addition to about 460 in the suburbs. Each rig wagons require one additional driver for relief, the drivers' contracting for a six day week. There is a foreman for about each 16 or 17 wagons, according to Fitchie.

Loads Per Wagon Declines.

"Business conditions have seriously reduced the loads per wagon," Fitchie declared, "until many drivers are getting the bare minimum wage scale. Yet the dairy industry has been taking care of its own unemployment and reduced incomes."

The closest estimate obtainable on size of loads carried per milk wagon in the two cities shows Chicago wagons carrying 251 "points" and Milwaukee wagons 410. Each bottle of milk or cream, dozen of eggs or pound of butter counts as a "point." The nonunion drivers in Milwaukee are paid a minimum of $35 a week, the present average being about $150 a month, according to reports yesterday. The monthly average paid Chicago drivers is estimated to be $218, taking into account two weeks' vacation pay allowed each driver by contract.

There are two large dairy companies controlling almost 90 per cent of the Milwaukee distribution, with 20 small companies dividing the balance. Eight of the largest Chicago dealers out of the 141 now licensed control 75 per cent of the metropolitan milk business.

City ordinances governing the handling and quality of milk are practically the same in both cities.

JAPANESE ACTOR PAYS MOTHER OF HIS CHILD $7,000; SAILS HOME

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 10.—(AP)—The Chronicle tonight said Sessue Hayakawa, Japanese motion picture actor, paid Miss Ruth Noble $7,000 and agreed to pay her $150 a month for three years, before he sailed from here today for Japan, in settlement of all claims she may have against him for alleged paternity of her child.

Miss Noble, an actress, once Hayakawa's theatrical partner, arrived here on the liner Tatsuta Maru from Los Angeles today. Hayakawa was a passenger on the same boat. Miss Noble had booked passage on the liner for Japan under the name of Ruth Noble Darby. The actress left the ship here. Meanwhile, Mrs. Hayakawa, wife of the actor, remained in Los Angeles with the boy which she and her husband have adopted and which Miss Noble claims as hers.

JACK GUZIK TAX SENTENCE UPHELD IN APPEAL COURT

U. S. Continues Its 100% Record in Drive.

The conviction of Jack Guzik, Capone business manager, who is under sentence of five years and a day for income tax evasion, was affirmed yesterday by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

JACK GUZIK.

The victory for the government maintained its record of 100 per cent in the prosecution of gangsters and grafting politicians since United States District Attorney Johnson launched his income tax campaign three years ago. So far nine convictions have been won in the trial courts, four of these have been upheld by the Circuit court, and two appeals have been denied by the Supreme court.

Same Points of Law.

The Appellate court's opinion, written by Judge Evan A. Evans and concurred in by Judges Will M. Sparks and Samuel Alschuler, referred to the fact that the same points of law raised in Guzik's appeal have already been decided against County Assessor Gene G. Oliver, State Representative Lawrence C. O'Brien, and Ralph Capone in the higher courts.

This encouraged the belief among federal prosecutors that in the future appeals will not even be taken from income tax convictions. The only tax case now pending before the Circuit court is that of Al Capone.

Dodged $225,000 Taxes.

Guzik was charged with trying to dodge $225,000 in taxes on an income of more than $1,000,000 for the years 1927, 1928, and 1929.

Representative O'Brien is scheduled to leave tonight for Leavenworth penitentiary to serve his sentence of eighteen months, and Terry Druggan and Frankie Lake, former beer barons, are to appear before Judge James H. Wilkerson on Monday for sentence on their pleas of guilty to income tax evasion.

HIS PRISON TERM IS BOOSTED 3 YEARS FOR ATTEMPT TO ESCAPE

Federal Judge John P. Barnes yesterday sentenced Edward Otis, 40 years old, to three years in the penitentiary for trying to escape from custody last week by throwing pepper in the eyes of a United States deputy marshal.

Otis, under sentence of two and one half years in the penitentiary for impersonating a prohibition agent, was being brought to Chicago from Waukegan by Deputy Marshal Harold Goodwin. He made his break for freedom, after half-blinding Goodwin, when they reached the elevated station at Quincy and Wells streets, but was recaptured after a short chase. The two sentences are to run consecutively.

Judges of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday affirmed the conviction of Thomas Walsh, Ralph Scala and Fred Vanucci, who were sentenced to eight years each in the penitentiary by Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley for impersonating federal prohibition agents.

FOUR EXECUTED AT SOUTHERN ILLINOIS PRISON

Southern Illinois Penitentiary, Menard, Ill., Dec. 11 (Friday).—(AP)—Four convicted murderers, three of them Negroes, were put to death in the electric chair here early today.

Hazel Johnson, 23 year old Negro of Decatur, Ill., was the first to go. He was pronounced dead at 1:43 a. m. He was convicted of the murder of William Keller, special railroad police officer.

He received the first charge at 1:29 a. m. and was held in the chair for about five minutes before he was pronounced dead.

Henry Pannier, 57 year old farm hand, the only white man in the group and who killed his benefactors, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Schuline, when they asked him to move from a house he had occupied rent free, was the next to go. He was pronounced dead at 1:54 a. m.

Willie Green, 31 year old Negro of East St. Louis, convicted of slaying Max Newman, a grocer, went to the chair at 2:01 a. m. and was pronounced dead at 2:05.

He shook hands with the Rev. Charles Stanley, East St. Louis priest, saying, "O my God, I am sorry for having offended thee."

James Jackson, 31 year old Negro of East St. Louis, was the last man to die. He paid the supreme penalty for the slaying of his wife, Alberta Jackson, April 5. He was pronounced dead at 2:19.

BOY CONFESSES HE FIRED SHOT KILLING BRIDE

Orange N. J., Dec. 10.—[Special.]—Schoolboys, holding nocturnal target practice from an attic window, fired the fusillade of bullets that pierced homes in West Orange last night and killed Mrs. Grace Giuliano, 8 months' bride of a wealthy furrier, as she was about to step into her bath.

Erwin Flaster, 16, admitted to West Orange police tonight that he fired the bullet which is believed to have ended Mrs. Giuliano's life. The boys were in the attic of the Flaster home, a block behind the Giuliano house.

"We were shooting at lights and telephone wires," the Flaster boy confessed after detectives had taken him into custody at West Orange High school. "I aimed at a light on a telephone pole. Right after I fired we heard a woman scream, so we did not shoot any more."

Police said they would hold Flaster and three other boys who admitted they were in the group, until tomorrow when they will determine what charges will be filed against them.

MOTHER OF CIVIL WAR SOLDIER TO BE 100 TOMORROW

Mrs. Samantha R. Button, the only surviving parent of a soldier in the civil war, will celebrate her 100th birthday anniversary tomorrow in her home at McHenry. Mrs. Button can still thread a needle without glasses and does some of her own sewing and mending.

Mrs. Button gets about with the aid of a cane in the home of Mrs. Theresa Culver, with whom she has lived for the last few years. The house is near McCollum lake, which was named after Mrs. Button's father.

Mrs. Button's son by her first marriage, Clinton Rorer, became a civil war soldier at the age of 15. He enlisted in Company H, 18th Illinois cavalry, in February of 1864. After rising to the rank of captain, he died of tuberculosis at Camp Lee. Mrs. Button has never missed placing a wreath on his grave in McHenry on Memorial day.

VERDICT IN LYNCH MURDER.

A verdict of murder by unidentified persons was returned yesterday by a coroner's jury investigating the killing of Timothy Crook, 60 years old, secretary of the West Suburban Teamsters' union.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

THE DEFLATION OF THE LEAGUE.

The functioning of the league of nations in the Manchurian imbroglio cannot have either astonished or disappointed any one in the United States who has opposed our adoption of the league covenant. But it has been a demonstration of the validity of American objections. Public opinion, disposed as it is to optimism and experiment, has not shown much inclination to exchange such liberty of action as we may preserve in this complicated world for the responsibilities and dubious opportunities of league membership. It has remained, except for a clamant minority unduly influential in official politics, true to our tradition of political independence. The proceeding over Manchuria will fortify that tradition. It will also we hope, impress upon the nation the weakness of any reliance upon the protection of such a diplomatic enterprise as the Briand-Kellogg treaty outlawing war as a substitute for national defense.

It is behind the pretentious facade of the league, the league court, and the outlawry treaty that a policy of limitation and reduction of our material defenses has been going on. It is to be hoped the lesson of Manchuria will check that. The league, even with our active coöperation, has not protected China from armed invasion and gives no sign of ability to defeat Japanese expansion by force of arms at China's expense. The influence of the United States and the other powers interested in or even pledged to the preservation of peace and the territorial and administrative integrity of China restricts Japanese ambition in the degree that it would have restricted it without the machinery of the league. The league no doubt has been a diplomatic convenience, but the results will be the same.

A salutary deflation of ill founded claims and expectations has thus been brought about, and the league can be seen for what it is and must be, an agency of European politics, controlled by the same forces as govern the policies of its constituent governments, and not by motives mysteriously transmuted by league membership into something for which, in the lofty altruistic theories of its American proponents, we can afford to sacrifice our independence. The league is an agency of practical international politics and it was born of them, with the aid of an American statesman who did not know the forces he was dealing with and cherished a naïve ambition to be president of a world government. European statecraft had no altruistic illusions as to the character of this instrumentality, but adopted it for such practical uses as it could be made to serve. The statesmen of Japan have shown a complete understanding of these possibilities and their limitations in the self-regarding policies of the powers controlling it. In spite of the league, to say nothing of the outlawry treaty, she has pursued her ends with such formidable resources as she possesses, as other powers have pursued their ends in the past.

The lesson for us is clear. The pacifist millennium is not here, and it has not been advanced by the league or by the formal outlawry of war in the Briand-Kellogg treaty. No people in the world is less inclined to war as an instrument of policy than ours. Our conduct in the family of nations is not provocative or bellicose. As an independent force the United States will exercise such influence as it may have, in the spirit of its people, for peace and the rational compromise of differences. But if it is to do so it will cherish its independence of judgment and action. It will have faith in its own conscience and put its confidence in its own strength. It will dismiss apology and vain dreams, and it will make itself strong in its own right.

THE HOUSE OF MACVEAGH.

The decision of Mr. Franklin MacVeagh and his son to wind up the affairs of Franklin MacVeagh & Co. is an event of significance in our business history. It was not brought about by critical errors of judgment nor by those changes in method and organization which have forced out many of the older houses. It was the result of general conditions which affect business generally and in increasing degree.

The gist of the matter is that a business of high repute conservatively managed, carried on since 1868 upon principles that, under conditions which ought to prevail in our country, insured years of success, has gradually ceased to be a profitable enterprise. Its margin of fair profit has been progressively wiped out by the increasing taxation which the ruthless waste of politics and short-sighted public policy have been piling upon the shoulders of productive enterprise. This process is the most important factor in the problem of business recovery in this period of depression. If it continues it will destroy our prosperity. The closing of the doors of Franklin MacVeagh & Co. is but another warning of this end. No doubt this solid enterprise could have been carried on, but investment and the cares and responsibility of management must have some reasonable reward. If fair profits are to be absorbed and diverted to meet exactions imposed by the waste of unscrupulous politics and lavish though unproductive government expenditure, business cannot survive. Enterprises of unstable foundation and reckless management will go under in times of stress like the present. They are exceptions, a small minority. But when conservative and well managed enterprise is overburdened and eventually forced out of existence, general prosperity is doomed.

Excessive taxation not only destroys constructive activity but dries up the sources of taxation. It is both murder and suicide. When the house of MacVeagh closes, four hundred employés, industrious and able citizens of a class which ought to find security and would find it under proper business conditions, will be turned out upon the street. At the same time the house of MacVeagh will cease to be a real estate, personal, corporation or income tax payer.

The first duty of the people of the United States to themselves is to make it known to their representatives in politics and office that public waste in graft and in lavish expenditure must stop. The first duty of legislators and executives and of the politicians who control them is to see to it that they are stopped.

MAYOR CERMAK IN ACTION.

Mayor Cermak is giving an exhibition of public spirited energy for which the community will be grateful. It is too seldom that we have a leader who will lead for the people and will place the public interest above considerations of party and personal advantage. Mayor Cermak assumed a difficult office when its difficulties had been multiplied not only by the misgovernment of the régime he supplanted and by the culmination of long standing bad methods, but by the general condition of the country. From the first he has shown perception of the gravity of the city government's predicament and courageous determination to correct such evils as his own authority could reach and to aid loyally where his influence could serve. This has no doubt made political enemies, but the community will not overlook his effort to serve its best interests and its urgent needs.

PERJURY MADE RESPECTABLE.

A United States commissioner in Cincinnati a few days ago had before him a man and woman accused of conspiracy to violate the prohibition act by transporting liquor. The government presented its case, which consisted of the testimony of one informer. This man said informing was his only source of livelihood. He was paid a commission calculated upon the number of convictions obtained through his efforts.

The commissioner, Mr. H. H. Siemon, dismissed the proceedings peremptorily. "If the federal prohibition department," he said, "depends upon perjurers, it is time that some other method be used whereby the United States courts are not imposed upon."

This is a blunt statement, but it does not go beyond the facts in the case before Mr. Siemon and in many other cases of similar nature. The attempt to enforce the prohibition law has led to the degradation of the standards of prosecution in the federal courts. It has led to the employment of spies and agents provocateurs, whose testimony is relied upon to send American citizens to the penitentiary.

Only infrequently does a man on the bench venture to characterize this kind of evidence for what it plainly is. That fact in itself is an evidence of the current state of our processes of justice under prohibition. Perjury and entrapment are becoming respectable.

THE TEACHERS' PROGRAM.

The unionized teachers of Chicago have started publication of a monthly paper. The first number contains a list of objectives which the teachers propose to attain. They want, among other things, better physical equipment for teaching, small classes, a municipal four year college, shorter hours, higher pay, and the assurance that salaries will be paid on time and in cash.

There is no money to pay the present costs of the schools, but the teachers are asking apparently that these costs be increased considerably. The assumption appears to be that the present difficulties are not real, arising from a genuine inability of the taxpayers to find the money now asked of them, but artificial and easily surmounted.

That has been the attitude of most of the men and women in the various public services for a good many years, and it has contributed to a steady and rapid increase in the costs of local government until now the costs have outrun the revenues. No doubt some, at least, of the teachers' objectives, notably better school buildings and smaller classes, will meet with widespread approval, but the question is, How are these improvements to be financed?

Some of the teachers are talking of new kinds of taxation as if that were the remedy, but there is little reason to believe that new taxes will produce additional revenues. A more realistic attitude on the part of the teachers would lead them to consider how the efficiency of the school system can be maintained despite the reduced revenues which must be regarded as inevitable.

Editorial of the Day

INCREASING THE GAS TAX.

[Peoria Transcript.]

The plan of Senator Richard J. Barr to levy an additional 2 cent tax on gasoline—thus bringing the total tax to 5 cents—is indicative of the tendency to panic growing out of the sullen protest of the people against high taxes and the unemployment problem. The senator will introduce his bill next week, and it will produce $10,000,000, he estimates, to relieve the unemployed. The measure will have a clause limiting its operation to six months.

In effect, this amounts to a dole. The machinery for doling out the money is implied by the manner in which the funds would be obtained if the bill is passed. It is not likely that the legislature will take the measure seriously, but the fact that the proposal has been made is significant of the hysteria which seems to have gripped conservative legislators.

Manifestly, a 5 cent gas tax would not only be resented, but would work a hardship on many persons it was designed to aid. Any plan to increase taxes must be carefully scrutinized, and while in many ways a tax on gasoline is equitable and logical, to make it carry the burden of the state's obligations is unfair, and to use the money for unemployment relief is silly.

Illinois needs tax reductions, not tax increases. Senator Barr has been in the legislature too long not to know this. When tax moneys are spent for unemployment relief, the state enters upon the worst kind of paternalism.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. RAA

LOOKING FORWARD.

(And not very far forward, either.)

Old John Citizen left his home early in the morning to go to his office. On the way he stopped to pay his income tax, and groaned because, instead of the $3,500 exemption he used to have, now he got exemption on only $2,500. He stopped at the cigar store and bought two packages of cigarets, paying the new government tax of one cent on each package. He stopped at the bank to get a check cashed and stuck a two cent revenue stamp on it before the teller would accept it. Then he went to the telegraph office and sent a telegram to his wife down at her mother's, and, besides paying fifty cents for the telegram, paid ten cents for a government stamp to affix to it.

Then he got to his office and called up his house to find out what groceries they needed, and, besides the quarter for the suburban call, he had to pay another nickel tax. He opened his mail and received his bills from the two clubs he still belonged to, and had to pay a government tax on each one. The man who had been dickering to buy his automobile came in and finally agreed to take it for less than a fifth what it had cost him, b ., even so, he had to pay a heavy tax to the government when he made the sale. Then he sent a cable message to his son in London, paying the new government tax on cable messages.

After lunch he dropped in at a movie, bought the cheapest ticket he could, but at that he had to pay 10 per cent government tax, and he bitterly reflected that every time he went out to see a ball game in summer he would have to pay that same 10 per cent tax to the government on his tickets. He bought a new radio—on installment, of course—but the government tax imposed for buying radios wasn't on installment—that was cash down. He bought some three cent stamps to put on letters he was sending out and sighed to think of the days when a two cent stamp was all that was needed on a letter.

And having got through with paying all the income and special taxes that the national government demanded, old John Citizen opened a letter and got his bill for his state income tax. And then he received the schedule of the taxes due from him to the city. He went over to the window. It was seventeen floors above the street.

The newspapers said his suicide was due to winter itch and fear of becoming bald, but the newspapers didn't hear old John's last words: "This seems to be the only thing I can do on which I don't have to pay a tax."

But when his will was probated the government grabbed over half the money he left for inheritance taxes.

AND WHILE it may be true that the debtor nations cannot pay, as stated in the President's latest message, we know what would happen to us if we couldn't pay the butcher, the groceryman, and the haberdasher over on the corner. They would take our auto, and our hound dog, and the kitchen stove, and the parlor lamp, and the radio, and the cocktail shaker. A debtor nation might have a few old things lying around loose, such as a small island or two, that they might be persuaded to turn over for the benefit of their creditors. Anyhow, a couple of mean old bailiffs might go over to the debtor nations and snoop around to see what household things they've got left. If any.

The Mystery of Caleb Summons.

Sir: Several days ago when I bought a Linebook from an incomprehensible but by no means inarticulate newsie I knew that unforgettable face in the sixth row of the crowd pictured on its cover was familiar to me. Then came the hew and cry raised in the Line about Caleb Summons. I racked my brains for a clew to the haunting familiarity of both face and name. But not until this morning did the whole amazing story flash on me. How could I have forgotten it? How could any one living in the year 1922 have forgotten the strange mystery of Caleb Summons, all the staggering details of which were then known to every man and woman who could—or at least did—read the newspapers of two continents? But the strangest, the most ironic part of that whole baffling, incredible affair is that in nine short years Caleb Summons—a name that was on every lip once, a face that stared across millions of breakfast tables—should now be almost forgotten, requiring days of puzzled thinking to remember who he was!

What a story these last nine years in the life of Caleb Summons would make! The man who at the height of a notoriety unequaled perhaps in all history vanished from the world of men, only to appear nine years later as one of a crowd on the cover of the Linebook! You, sir, should find Caleb Summons and write that story. Whatever its details, whether of tragedy or comedy, of light or grimmest shadows, it would undoubtedly form the greatest human document of our time. The mere fact that Caleb Summons is alive yet is colossal. And I at least shall never rest until he has been found and persuaded to tell all that has happened to him in the years since that July day in 1922 when he so fatally disappeared and left the Mystery of Caleb Summons a blacker mystery than ever.

PECULIARITIES OF PEOPLE OF TWO TYPES.

Long, Narrow, or Linear Type.

NARROW head; hatchet face; long, narrow, straight nose; space between eyes narrow; small, often receding chin; teeth crowded and ill set; abundant hair on head, reduced hair on body; neck long and small; long limbs and trunk; shoulders high and angular; round shouldered; chest long and narrow; small chest measure; ribs set obliquely, angle of ribs at pit of stomach narrow; expansion poor; heart small and rather low in chest; arteries and veins thin; abdomen short vertically; pelvis wide; liver low and well over to the right.

The stomach is low. Most of the people with dropped stomach belong in this class. To people of the group so-called dropped stomach is natural. However, a dropped stomach does not empty well and people with this condition are somewhat disposed to digestive troubles. They are likely to have dropping of other organs and to complain of the symptoms which accompany low blood pressure.

They have not much abdominal fat. They are generally lean. Their muscles are lean and not well developed. The body is slender and many of them are underweight, according to insurance tables. They are prone to be farsighted and have poor circulation. They are often pale and sallow; assimilation poor; constipated. They pass through adolescence early. The males usually sing bass, if they sing. People of this type should eat a highly nutritious diet containing plenty of milk, meat, and eggs.

In disposition, personality, and mind they are intense, intellectual, and self-centered; fond of reforming; dogmatic, fanatical, deficient in sense of humor, have poor executive ability, little endurance; are nervous, excitable, introverted, self-conscious, and prone to ideas of persecution.

Short, Wide, or Lateral Type.

The qualities of those of the lateral type are:

Round head, round or square face, thick nose, wide between the eyes, prominent chin, teeth not crowded, moderate hair on head and body, neck short and thick, limbs and trunk short and thick, chest short but broad, angle at end of breastbone wide, heart large and placed high, arteries and veins thick, abdomen well developed and likely to protrude, liver large, stomach high, plenty of fat generally, including in the abdomen.

The muscles are well developed, bones large, body short and thick and, as a rule, overweight. They are likely to be nearsighted. The circulation is good and they are ruddy and fullblooded. They tend to high blood pressure. They are apt to have good nutrition and good digestion. They are not likely to be constipated. When they burst into song they usually take the tenor scale.

The broad types are socially easygoing. They are tolerant in morals and religion and they have a well developed sense of humor. Most of them have good executive ability, great endurance, and phlegmatic temperament. They are likely to be slow and methodical. They are extrovert and free from sensitiveness and self-consciousness. If they develop mental trouble it is likely to be of the manic-depressive type.

This classification of men into two great types is the work of Dr. George Draper, in greater part, though it has had the support of Drs. Stockard, Thompson, Lucas, Palmer, and others. If it could be considered final, and of universal application with no exceptions and no mingling of types, it would be rather easy for any person to classify himself and, having done so, to choose his vocation, lay his life plans, and list his disease enemies. Perhaps some day it may be modified enough to make it apply to the great bulk of the people. As it now is, there are too many people who cross their qualities.

WHOOPING COUGH.

Mrs. M. B. writes: 1. My 5 year old boy has a cough and I think it is whooping cough. How can I tell if it is? 2. How long does it generally last? 3. Shall I keep him in the house or let him out to get some air?

REPLY.

1. The health department will help you to find out. There is a laboratory test that helps.
2. The contagious stage lasts about a month. The cough lasts longer.
3. Follow the rules of your health department. These rules often call for isolation in the house for two or three weeks, followed by isolation in the yard for two or three weeks more.

EAT A SMALLER MEAL.

H. L. C. writes: I have a very uncomfortable feeling after eating my noon meal. I suppose it is indigestion.

REPLY.

At least try eating a smaller and simpler noon meal. You may need no more than that.

NO CHANGE BY DISEASE.

M. writes: Is smoking good or bad for a diabetic?

REPLY.

The disease does not alter matters.

EXTRA POSTAL HELP.

Chicago, Dec. 8.—[Friend of the People.]—Will you be kind enough to inform me to whom and when I may apply for a position as an extra clerk in the postoffice during the coming holiday season?

T. R.

When the newspaper releases from Washington that provision had been made to employ extra help during the Christmas season were printed in the Chicago papers, thousands of men appeared at the postoffice seeking this temporary work. Obviously we could not handle them through personal application and they were told to make application in writing, addressed to the postmaster. A flood of such letters was received and applications sent to the writers until we had reached the number we could possibly absorb during the holiday season. There are many more applications on file now than we can possibly fill, so it will serve no useful purpose for the writer to make his application now. I am sorry. I sympathize with the need of these men, but there is a limit to what we can do to help them. We have not only reached that limit but we have stretched it somewhat in our desire to be helpful to as many of them as possible.

ARTHUR C. LUEDER, Postmaster.

CAN FORECLOSE.

Chicago, Dec. 3.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I own property in Elmhurst. I have title to it, but there are both first and second mortgages. Until recently I made all payments. I recently lost my job and have paid part of the interest due on the first mortgage with no principal yet due. I have also paid interest up to date on the second mortgage, but dropped the last monthly payment on the principal. If I continue unable to make payments on the interest and principal as same come due [1] how soon can creditors take the property and force me to vacate? 2. What conditions would enable me to regain possession?

E. J.

1. They can institute foreclosure proceedings at once. You will be permitted to occupy during the 15 months allowed for redemption unless a receiver is appointed.
2. By redeeming during the 15 months. To redeem you would have to pay the amount of the mortgage plus the court charges.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

PATENT IS A PROTECTION.

Polo, Ill., Dec. 5.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Do I have to get a patent on a preparation of popcorn confection which I am planning to manufacture and put up in cartons and sell? 2. Do I have to secure a permit from the pure food commission to go ahead? I am advised to write to you in regard to getting information on this question.

W. E. T.

1. The law never requires that any one secure a patent. When inventors do take this step they are doing it for their own protection.
2. No.

If you intend to peddle you will need a peddling license.

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

DECEMBER 11, 1915.

LONDON.—The allies' campaign in Serbia appears to be at an end. The Anglo-French forces are retiring on Saloniki, London admits. All eyes are watching Greece's move in the event the Bulgar-German forces pursue the allies across the border into Greece. The question is, Will Greece force the retreating armies to embark at Saloniki and go away, or allow them to make that Greek city a military base? The retirement of the allies was necessitated not only by the superior forces which the Bulgarians and Germans opposed to them, but to a threat of an outflanking movement from Petrovo, where the Bulgarians have arrived. Both the British and French forces engaged in a four days' battle in which they inflicted heavy losses on the Bulgarians. Attack after attack was repulsed, but the Bulgarians still came on and each evening the allies fell back to new positions, where events of the day before were repeated.

CHICAGO.—The Chicago Art institute was entered by robbers some time between 1 and 2 o'clock this morning and the entire Ida Noyes collection of antique jewelry, valued at $30,000, was taken.

WASHINGTON.—America has found a way out of one international complication, but has become involved in another. Emperor William has personally recalled Capts. Boy-Ed and Von Papen, naval and military attachés of the German government, who were considered persona non grata by this government. This removes a cause of friction between the United States and Germany. On the other hand, perils of a break of diplomatic relations with Austria have been brought near by America's demands over the sinking of the Ancona.

DECEMBER 11, 1901.

MARION, O.—Dr. Charles A. L. Reed of Cincinnati, retiring president of the American Medical association, at a banquet given for him by the medical profession of northern Ohio, attacked Gen. Brooke for his conduct of the military camp in Florida during the Spanish-American war. Dr. Reed was a member of the commission appointed by President McKinley to investigate the condition of camps. Dr. Reed explicitly named Gen. Brooke, holding him responsible for the great fatality in the camp in Florida.

BERLIN.—In reply to an interpellation in the reichstag regarding Polish grievances in Wreschen, Count von Bülow, the imperial chancellor, said that the powers concerned in Polish affairs were united in the policy of preventing all agitation looking toward the restoration of the independence of Poland. He concluded by saying: "I will oppose all efforts to set back the course of history and will see that the Germans in the east do not fall beneath Polish wheels."

STOCKHOLM.—Four of the Nobel prizes for achievements of the greatest benefit to humanity were awarded by the Crown Prince Gustavus of Sweden. Those who were awarded prizes are Prof. Roentgen of Munich, Prof. von Hoff of Holland, M. Armand Sully-Prudhomme of Paris, and Dr. Behring of Marburg, Germany. The prizes were provided by the will of the late Alfred Nobel, who directed that five awards, each valued at $50,000 in cash, be made each year to those who had by their works accomplished the most in the direction of promoting the peace and welfare of humanity.

LONDON.—June 26 next year was officially gazetted as the date for the king's coronation. The coronation festivities will include a gigantic naval demonstration.

CHICAGO.—Excepting at the matinées, "Pendragon" has been the attraction at McVicker's theater the last week and with it Mr. Barrett has brought to a close a very successful and satisfactory engagement. "Hazel Kirke" will return to McVicker's on Dec. 26.

LONDON.—Smalley's special says: English hostilities toward the Irish increase. This animosity has largely increased since the Stafford and Derry elections showed the depth of the Irish resentment against legislation by the British. The election was a decided victory for the government over the Land league.

THE PRICE OF MILK.

Chicago, Dec. 8.—We were quite impressed by your yesterday's editorial entitled "The Price of Milk." We are in the cheese business. We own and operate several plants in the country, some of them situated in the Chicago fluid milk shipping district, and we are, therefore, well acquainted with the price of milk and dairy products. We also know that there has been during the last year at times a tremendous surplus of fluid milk in the Chicago district and we are convinced that if the Chicago retail milk price were left to be decided by supply and demand without interference from other sources, milk would be retailed in Chicago today at 8 cents per quart and possibly as low as 6 cents. That is what is being done today in some larger cities.

Milk used to be retailed in Chicago before the war at 8 cents a quart and 5 cents a pint, and at that time butter and cheese prices were just about the same and no lower than they are today; in other words, an 8 cent per quart retail milk price would be quite in line with today's butter and cheese prices.

A considerable portion of the milk sold by the producers has not brought the top price, but was paid on basis of surplus milk, so we are quite sure that the "average" price that is paid would easily permit the milk companies to retail milk at 8 cents per quart without cutting this "average" price to the producers.

As we see the situation, only consistent hammering by the press will bring about lower retail milk prices. The city authorities refuse to act, claiming that they are merely required to supervise the quality of the milk but not the price. Keep up the fight for the consumer and the producer is bound to benefit also.

THE RELIEF FUND.

Chicago, Dec. 7.—There has been a great deal of talk and chatter about the great relief fund for the unemployed, which I am unable to understand, and I would very much appreciate some enlightenment on the subject.

It seems as though in the neighborhood of eight million dollars has been collected to date for the relief of the unemployed, but where is this money, and how is it to be used? The people of Chicago and the state of Illinois, I am sure, would be interested in knowing what disposition is being made of this money, and I believe that an account is due.

Recently I have become interested in the question and numerous investigations have left me baffled. It seems that if a person, though unemployed, still controls a bar of soap, he is not eligible to receive relief.

I believe there are a great many people who are entitled to relief, but who do not seem to be able to meet the requirements of the relief committee.

Other cases into which I have looked are of home owners, who have modest cottages and have been able to maintain them only through constant work, and who are taxpayers, and are unable to receive relief due to the fact that they still own their homes.

To my mind, people of this character who have been honest and steady workers for a period of years in our state are highly more desirable and should be given relief in preference to homeless floaters with no responsibility, and who perhaps have migrated into the state with nothing but a handkerchief and stick.

These home owners should be given first consideration, and should not be forced to sell their modest homes at this time.

CHEMICAL WARFARE.

Chicago, Dec. 8.—May we never have another war, but just in case we should, I would like to suggest that in order to gain a quick victory the fleet of buses operated by the Chicago Motor Coach company be conscripted for the use of the army. One charge on the enemy ranks by these buses in reverse and every foe would be laid low by the fumes.

THE BIRTH OF CONSCIENCE.

Ionia, Mich., Dec. 7.—In yesterday's TRIBUNE you feature an article by John Boettiger, the report of an address made by Dr. Breasted, the learned anthropologist, at the dedication of the new Oriental institute of the University of Chicago. In this Dr. Breasted is said to defy the claims of those he called "the old school theologians" who have it that man's conscience and character were produced by divine revelation or inspiration. He really seeks to discredit the Christian religion as it has been received by establishing a "new theory"—really that of Pelagianism, that man by his own efforts discovered a true ethic of life, leaving God out of the picture, or that "conscience" is the result of experiment.

But against the position taken by the very dogmatic scientist, if quoted correctly, and made widespread in your paper, I would like to point out that unless man possessed an innate conception for morals he could not have responded. Whence this capacity? Prof. Rehwinkel in "Social Psychology," page 126, No. 1, agrees with Canon Rashdall's statement to the effect that education does not produce moral ideas—they can only be produced in a mind already endowed with a capacity for apprehending them. This is exactly what "old school theologians" claim—that home angles was made in the image and likeness of God, as related in Genesis. The light which lighteth every man gave these early people Dr. Breasted referred to the ideas of social values, because the Creator made them capable of receiving these impressions.

EDWIN WARD.

FLAMING REFORMERS.

Chicago, Dec. 6.—One minute these reformers are demanding that their fellow man who have disobeyed the law be severely punished, and the next are found lying on the street in a drunken stupor after having shot one of these so-called "flaming youth" who has attempted to do him a good turn. I would suggest that such people be characterized "flaming reformers."

HIGH SCHOOL JUNIOR.

AN OBITUARY.

Chicago, Dec. 5.—The other day a fellow citizen, whose name was familiar to the writer without otherwise knowing much about him, died and on the first page of THE TRIBUNE there appeared an obituary which for lack of good manners beats anything that I have ever seen. Here was an old man, by the name of Jelke, who had had some trouble in court years ago and whom a former President of the United States pardoned. The moment the old man died all this was spread upon the front page.

OLD SUBSCRIBER.

OVERCROWDED CARS.

LOUIS MARSHALL.

BOTTLES.

Chicago, Dec. 8.—The milkmen claim that one reason why milk is now so much more expensive is that there is now such a great loss in bottles. The writer has kept a close check upon his own bottle return and will truthfully state that the bottle loss is not an average of one bottle a year. This presents the question, why not make a credit check upon the monthly milk card record for each bottle returned? The man who is careful with his bottles should not be required to pay for those who destroy and lose them.

UNION ORGANIZER FOUND GUILTY OF PLOT TO MURDER

Sentenced to Life for Coal Field Slaying.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Mount Sterling, Ky., Dec. 10.—[Special.]—Unionism in the Kentucky coal fields received a severe setback today when a jury in the W. B. Jones murder and conspiracy trial in which the struggles of the union men in Harlan county are involved, returned a verdict of guilty. Jones, who is secretary of the Evarts local of the United Mine Workers of America and has been an active force in organizing that field, was given a life sentence in the penitentiary.

The jurors remained out from 1 p. m. Wednesday until 10:20 o'clock this morning, although they deliberated but six hours. They stood 10 to 2 for guilt until this morning and two jurors wanted to send Jones to the chair.

Motions for a new trial will be argued on Dec. 28 and the verdict then will be appealed. Jones' lawyers will ask for a reversal on the grounds of incompetent evidence and improper arguments to the jury by the commonwealth attorney, W. S. Hamilton.

Brings in "Red Menace."

Mr. Hamilton based his closing plea on the Red menace which it felt was at the bottom of this case, although it was not shown that Jones belonged to any organization except the United Mine Workers. He is said to have joined the Industrial Workers of the World after the killing of Deputy Sheriff James Daniels on May 6, last, and his defense has been financed in part by the General Defense league of Chicago.

The verdict was returned on the second instruction of Judge H. R. Prewitt which said that Jones could be found guilty of the conspiracy to murder Daniels even though he was not present at the killing if it was found by evidence that he had aided and encouraged it.

Jones took the blow with great composure and was ordered to jail without bond. His sentence, if affirmed, will be served at the Eddyville prison. Under the Kentucky law he will be eligible to parole in eight years.

Think Trial Was Fair.

Officials of the United Mine Workers have expressed themselves as satisfied with the fairness of the trial accorded them in this Blue Grass court and by Judge Prewitt. The jurors are all small farmers, with no wealth represented.

The trials were removed here from Harlan county on change of venue and will be followed on Dec. 28 by the trial of Bill Hightower, president of the Evarts local, and then by the cases of nine other defendants. In the third term of court the cases of the men who are said to have been the actual slayers of Daniels and two other officers will be called. Other indictments and trials are pending in Harlan, 67 cases in all. It is a drive against the whole union organization of that county.

Five were in the courtroom this morning when a knock was heard on the jury room door. Speculation has been swinging to the theory of a permanently "hung" jury.

"All right, come in," said Judge Prewitt, who was on the bench.

Mr. Hamilton, and Capt. B. B. Golden of defense counsel, were in the room and Attorney W. R. White of the defense was sent for.

Discuss Plans for Appeal.

Miss Annie Hunt, court clerk, took her place by the side of the judge and the verdict was handed in by the foreman of the jury. There was not a display of emotion from Jones, save a quick flush, as the verdict was read: "We find the defendant guilty under instruction No. 2 and fix his punishment at life imprisonment."

Mrs. Jones put her hand on her husband's knee and Capt. Golden, veteran of many labor battles, came over and patted the defendant on the shoulder. That was all.

A few minutes later Jones was across the street in the little two story brick jail. He had nothing to say. Mrs. Jones will find a home and stay here until the appeal is settled.

EX-CONVICT HELD FOR MURDER.

Salem, Ill., Dec. 10.—[Special.]—A coroner's jury today ordered that Virgil Hunter, 30, ex-parole convict, who confessed killing his employer, E. E. Bowen, farmer, be held to the February grand jury on a charge of murder.

TELEPHONE COMPANY PUTS $1,007,195 IN CITY WARRANTS

The Illinois Bell Telephone company yesterday purchased $860,000 worth of 1930 tax anticipation warrants and paid the city $57,195 in accrued interest on the warrants, bringing the total cash payment to $1,007,195. The warrant purchase was allocated as follows: Corporate tax warrants, $175,000; educational fund warrants of the school board, $750,000; Municipal Tuberculosis sanitarium warrants, $35,000.

Pledges for small warrants aggregating $6,500 were received by the city from several industrial concerns. The Gane Printing Press company and the Hydrox corporation made pledges for tax warrant purchases of $10,000 each.

The drive to sell 1930 tax anticipation warrants so that city and school employes may be paid has so far raised $4,605,300, of which $2,612,000 is in pledges and $1,793,300 is in cash, City Controller Szymczak announced.

The failure thus far of the special session of the legislature to take any action toward Chicago relief was blamed yesterday by D. F. Kelly, chairman of the citizens' commission, for the reluctance of Chicago business men to invest in warrants.

MAYOR WALKER PRAISES CHICAGO ON HURRIED VISIT

Mayor James J. Walker of New York City, returning from his plea in California for the freedom of Tom Mooney, dropped off a train in Chicago yesterday, was the guest at a hastily arranged luncheon in which the grand ballroom of the Hotel Sherman was filled, heard Mayor Cermak say many kind things about him, said kind things about Cermak, expressed expectation of the election of a Democratic President in 1932, and was gone on his way to New York.

"We are glad to welcome you, Mayor Walker, and we hope you will help us bring the Democratic national convention here," said Mayor Cermak at the luncheon.

"Chicago is not a great city because it is a railroad center," Mayor Walker said in response to his introduction by Recorder Clayton F. Smith. "It's a railroad center because it's a great city. I appreciate how splendidly you say 'Hello' to me. Some people in New York could take lessons from you."

TRUCK LINES OWNERS FACE FINES.

Benton Harbor, Mich., Dec. 10.—[Special.]—Facing arrest and $100 fine for disobeying orders to appear in court, operators and owners of eight truck lines running between Chicago and Benton Harbor are to be brought into court next week. They also face a life-ban of their establishment.

LET'S MAKE THIS A GOOD OLD-FASHIONED CHRISTMAS

DEBATE CUTTING TEACHER PAY TO BALANCE BUDGET

Some Trustees Reported to Favor Plan.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Certain school trustees are considering a cut in teachers' salaries, in preference to a reduction in the education of the school children, as one means of saving the necessary $13,044,895 to bring the 1932 budget within the school income.

The representative of one teachers' union has suggested to several trustees that the school year be shortened by a month. He estimates that would save $6,000,000 and argues that is to be preferred to a lowering of the "salaries or standards" of the teachers.

Children's Interests Cited.

"That means a denial of one month's training to the children," commented one trustee yesterday. "You know that any one who criticises the educational side of the schools is classed as ignorant, and an enemy of the school children. There are probably other ways of keeping the expense within the income, but it is more in the interest of the school children to cut the teachers' salaries than to throw the children on the streets a month earlier."

The job of teaching in Chicago, with its attendant rights and privileges, is a good position, according to the viewpoint of this trustee. He said that the impression given the public that a Chicago teacher is entitled to excellent compensation because of the money spent in preparation is only partly true.

It was pointed out by the trustee that only 58.1 per cent of the Chicago teachers have learned the art of teaching in a state normal school, and that only 25.2 per cent are college graduates. Those who have made sufficient investment in educational training to be both college and state normal school graduates are only 7.7 per cent of the total number of teachers.

1,169 Out of 14,666.

This group numbers less than 1,169 out of more than 14,666 public school teachers. Among the teachers are 3,464 who are classed as neither college nor normal graduates. These have had either high school or a little college extensive school training.

This data, it was pointed out, is contained in an official report to the state for the year ending last June.

This trustee and others said they would like to have a salary schedule for teachers which pays more compensation for real meritorious service, which they claimed is not the case under the present system. Under the present plan a teacher's salary is automatically increased annually to the fifth year. Then if the teacher passes an examination in college credits, the salary is automatically increased to a maximum in five more years.

Auditors' Report Recalled.

It was contended by the trustees that the hurdle, in the fifth year, is not hard to get over. They pointed out that the report of the Cleveland audit company has not been refuted, when it said:

"To all intents and purposes Chicago has a salary schedule which permits a teacher at a minimum to move on without interruption to the maximum in a period of 10 years. Pittsburgh has a very much higher range of salaries than Chicago, but very definitely restricts the number of teachers that may reach the upper brackets. Pittsburgh rewards those teachers who show exceptional ability and efficiency. Chicago permits all its teachers to go to the maximum."

Report Made to State.

In its report to the state for the last school year ending in June, the board listed 14,037 teachers—probably including principals and other supervisors—for $27,028,910 in salaries—an average of $2,825. The number of teachers and salaries by groups is as follows:

School.	Number.	Salaries.	Average.
Normal	67	$ 240,654	$3,726
Junior colleges....	344	910,909	2,622
Senior high....	2,974	10,149,221	3,500
Junior high.....	1,065	2,974,272	2,714
Elementary	9,750	23,131,933	2,374
Totals	14,037	$37,026,910	$2,638

A large percentage of the teachers are employed on a basis of 10 months. Of the 9,719 teachers in the elementary schools, 7,343 or nearly 83 per cent were receiving $3,000 a year or more, and 2,321 were receiving $2,800 a year or more. Of the Normal college teachers only five were receiving less than $3,000 a year, and of the 141 Crane Junior college teachers, according to this official report, 13 were receiving less than $3,000 a year. Of the 2,974 in the senior high schools, 2,321 were receiving $3,000 or more a year.

This report also shows that of the Chicago teaching staff only 3,018 are men, but their total compensation was $4,032,810, an average per man of $3,014. The remaining 13,049 women obtained $30,940,201, or an average of $2,562.

Why Fat Folks Stay Fat

"The trouble with me, and I guess this applies to 99% of the men and women who are putting on weight, I didn't have the energy or 'pep' to keep it off. Lost all interest in any healthy activity and just lazed around accumulating the old pounds."

Start taking Kruschen Salts—that's the common-sense way to reduce. This is how it works: Kruschen clears out the impurities in your blood by passing the bowels, kidneys and liver in splendid working order—then, vigor and tireless energy you'd bottled up comes to the surface.

As a result, instead of planting yourself on an easy chair every time nobody's looking, fat accumulates, you feel an urge for activity that keeps you moving around doing the things you've always wanted to do and needed to do to keep you in good condition—you've got that "Kruschen feeling."

Be careful of the foods you eat—but avoid the pounds with fat! Take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot or cold water tomorrow morning and every morning—and if they don't change your whole idea of dieting and how much fun it is to get the slender form you've paid for them, just ask for your money back. Get a bottle of Kruschen Salts—today. It's sold at any progressive druggist anywhere in the world.

Mayor Indicates Downstate Forced Assessment Plan

Downstate legislators hold the whip hand in Cook county's effort to obtain relief from desperate financial straits, Mayor Cermak indicated yesterday as he discussed the plan to reorganize the county's tax assessment machinery.

"It is all right to talk about keeping home rule and having a board of assessment and review appointed by the county judge or county board president, but such a bill would not receive the support of downstate legislators," Mayor Cermak said.

Some interpreted the mayor's remarks as indicating that partisan politics played by downstaters had forced him to accept the so-called compromise plan for organizing the Cook county board of assessment and review. Under that plan the president of the county board would appoint one reviewer, the governor the other, and these two would pick the assessor. If they fail to agree the Illinois Supreme court would pick the third member of the board. There are six downstate justices and one Chicago justice in the Supreme court.

Plan Is Attacked.

The plan was no sooner announced on Monday night than protests arose that the proposed bill would, in effect, give downstate politicians a strangle hold on the Cook county assessment system. Aldermen yesterday asked how Mayor Cermak, for years a worker for home rule for Cook county, and Gov. Emmerson, also pledged to home rule, could bring themselves to support such a proposal.

The demands of partisan politics were the mayor's answer to the question. It would be foolish, he maintained, to expect Democratic legislators to vote to abolish the Democratic board of assessors and Republican legislators to vote to abolish the Republican board of review, if a compromise could be forced.

Dr. Kenneth E. Sears, professor of law at the University of Chicago, yesterday made an analysis of the legal questions involved in the proposed appointment of the assessor by the Supreme court. This has been attacked as a perversion of fundamental principle of American government, that executive and judicial functions should be kept separate.

Fears Result in Court.

Prof. Sears held that from a legal standpoint the measure might be constitutional, although he pointed to doubts on that score. From a practical standpoint he criticized the idea, pointing out the danger of making the highest court of the state a victim of spoils politics. His opinion follows:

"On this proposal two questions have been raised: 1. Is it constitutional to provide for the selection of the assessor by the Supreme court? 2. As a matter of government policy is it advisable to provide for the appointment by the Supreme court?

"The first question separates itself into two problems:

"[a] Under the doctrine of separation of powers there has been much discussion and general agreement that the appointment of officers, agents, and servants is not the exclusive function of the legislative, executive, or judicial branch of the government.

Opinion Is Divided.

All three of these branches have exercised some appointive power. There seems to be no objection to appointments by members of the judiciary if the appointees exercise judicial functions or functions incidental to judicial services.

"Many courts also hold that there is no objection to appointments by members of the judiciary even if the appointees, such as members of a board of police commissioners, are not to exercise judicial functions. Here, however, many courts disagree and deny the constitutionality of such legislation. The split in authority seems reasonably well balanced.

"The Illinois Supreme court has been on the liberal side of this question.

Hold It Is Bad Policy.

"The proposal in a certain event to have the assessor appointed by the Supreme court is believed to be bad policy from the point of view of high standards of judicial service. The curse of American judicial service has been the baleful influence of extraneous political considerations. The popular election of judges is far from a success. To subject judges to "wire pulling" over the appointment of an official who will control matters so near the pocketbook as assessment of property for taxes and therefore not directly related to ordinary judicial services makes matters worse.

"It seems to be a just observation that placing judges into political situations of that sort may cause a lack of respect for the judicial function of determining litigated issues on a basis of fairness and impartiality. It is also conceivable that a court which has to make such appointments may find itself a victim of the American spoils system."

BANDIT INVADES CHURCH; BEATS AND ROBS WOMAN

A bandit crept into the Irving Park Presbyterian church at 4047 North Keeler avenue yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Estelle Aldrich, 4031 Waveland avenue, was descending the stairs to the basement to attend a meeting of the women's aid society when the man appeared. He beat her into unconsciousness and fled after taking her purse, which contained $150, the receipts of a church bazaar earlier in the week. Mrs. Aldrich, who is treasurer of the society, was revived by Mrs. Florence M. Ramseth, 4149 North Laurel avenue.

WORK ON GIANT LINER IS HALTED; 3,000 LOSE JOBS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 10.—The Cunard Steamship company has given instructions to stop work on the 73,000 ton liner being built at Clydebank. This new ship, scheduled to have been launched in February, was intended to be the world's largest. It was to have cost $20,000,000. Three thousand men will be thrown out of employment. The company in a statement explaining its action said it was not even earning the depreciation coverage on old ships.

in Egypt. Well, the Egyptians have been trying to lead them out of the wilderness for weeks now by telling them to put their personal property on the tax books."

"That would take a Moses," Senator N. M. Masson of La Salle county interjected.

Expect Confidential Information.

"We will provide the Moses," McCauley answered, then continued:

"I think it's also out of character for a bunch of bankers to put the legislature against the wall and say: 'Damn you, you've got to do this!' That's not a fair attitude and we don't have to do what they tell us to do. If Cook county defaults on its bonds and it's necessary to discharge the police and fire departments who will yell first? The bankers, I say, and maybe they are bringing the situation upon themselves."

After this outburst Charles H. Thompson of Harrisburg, another Republican, told McCauley quietly that he didn't believe the bankers should be criticised "so seriously."

"The only trouble," he said, "is that Chicago has run wild and has been given too much credit. The bankers are just exactly right."

"O, no!" shouted Harold G. Ward, Chicago Democrat. "The Chicago bankers want control of the assessing machinery in Cook county, and when they get it they'll appoint the assessor."

Earl B. Searcy of Springfield, a Republican, came into the discussion with the prediction that the bank committee could render a notable service because "Mayor Cermak indicated that he has some valuable confidential information. We can also learn on what terms the bankers will or will not extend further credit."

"We are following too closely the line that the bankers are trying to tell us what to do," Thompson said.

"Yes," Kessinger added, "the banks represented by Mr. Traylor demanded nothing and promised nothing, even if the tax conference program is adopted."

"The trouble," said Ward, "is that personal property is not on the books."

"If you wait until they put it on, you'll wait a long time," Kessinger told him.

"How are you going to get a legal assessment roll until you do?" asked Ward.

Foresees Troops in Chicago.

"You may wait until the state troops come to Chicago," replied Kessinger. "And if you think confidence will be restored until the boards of assessors and reviewers are abolished, you're wrong."

"Let me remind the senate," said James J. Barbour [Rep., Evanston], "that in 1893, when there were no financial problems in Chicago, the President had to send troops in overnight because of the Pullman strike. When the troops come to Chicago again and the fault lies with the legislature, no one is going to point to me as a contributor. Furthermore, no politician nor man in public life should stand and criticise men who are trying to save the city. I mean the bankers."

In the house, Robert M. Woodward [Rep., Chicago] introduced a bill calling for a $15,000,000 appropriation to purchase the site of the old Criminal Courts building on the north side and erect there a building to house all state departments.

RELIEF FUND GIFTS TOTAL $223,350 FOR DAY OF CAMPAIGN

Contribution to the Joint Emergency Relief fund yesterday totaled $223,350, bringing the total fund to $9,389,773, a net gain for the day of $73,350, due to a loss of $150,000 through a revision in the donation of Julius Rosenwald.

Mr. Rosenwald originally pledged $350,000, providing five other such pledges be received. No other pledges of an equal size were made and yesterday Mr. Rosenwald lowered his contribution to $100,000 with the stipulation that he would contribute the last $50,000 if the $10,000,000 relief campaign were a success.

The largest contribution reported last night was $50,000 from Donald M., Edward L., and May M. Ryerson. Subscriptions of $15,000 each were received from Charles S. Pearce and Mrs. Laura Shedd Schweppe. Subscriptions of $10,000 each were received from L. E. Block, F. D. Block, E. A. Cudahy Sr., George Pick, and Louis B. Kuppenheimer. Checks for $8,000 were received from the Chicago assemblies and from the employés of the Edward Hines Jr. Memorial hospital.

UNTY PASSES WIDOW AND PHANPENSIONS

e county's financial stringency nearly struck at 1,800 widows, 18 orphans, and 1,198 blind persons who are on the county pension list.

The county board committee on welfare passed the payments of mothers' pensions to the widows and orphans, but for the last half of November, the pension fund is exhausted. Only $41 remains in the blind pension fund, and instead of receiving a payment of a dollar a day for the last quarter of the year, the blind pensioners will get only $41.25 each for the period.

Only Relief They Get.

Under the mothers' pension act, persons admitted to the relief list get $15 a month for one child, and $15 a month for each additional child. That is the only public relief granted them, since such families are not eligible to receive groceries, coal, shoes, and milk distributed to families on the county poor list.

Joseph L. Moss, head of the county bureau of public welfare, said that failure to pay the pensions will not cause great hardship immediately on the mothers. They should be able to get credit for their purchases for a short time, pending renewal of payments under the 1932 county budget.

Previous Action Recalled.

Last year, when payment of mothers' pensions was stopped for several months, the county board authorized the bureau of public welfare to furnish food to the widows and orphans and charged against the pension payments when they were renewed. That action will probably be taken again this year if it becomes necessary, Mr. Moss said.

The welfare committee also instructed the county civil service commission to prepare examinations for the office of public defender and assistants in that office, and for attendants in the psychopathic clinic at the county jail. It was agreed when those offices were established that they would eventually be placed under civil service.

CANAL PAY CRISIS

Failure of payless pay day became the issue for the sanitary district's employés yesterday when it was learned at a board meeting that the trustees have been unable to find any buyers for the district's securities. According to President Thomas J. Bowler there is also the danger of the district defaulting on its bonds. On Jan. 1 the district will owe $1,500,000 in interest and amortization. There is only $200,000 in the corporate fund, Bowler said.

Lack of funds with which to pay employés is likewise expected to result in the suspension of approximately $2,000,000 worth of work now in progress. It was pointed out by Edward J. Kelly, chief engineer, could not fail to have its effect on the employment situation. There are more than 1,000 men now employed in this construction work.

Credit Must be Restored.

"The only hope for relief, according to President Bowler and Ross Woodhead, chairman of the finance committee, is in a restoration of the credit of the entire county. "And restoration of credit," said Mr. Bowler, "rests on the legislature."

"The district has no 1928 or 1929 tax anticipation warrants outstanding, according to Mr. Bowler, but it has $5,000,000 in 1930 warrants for which about $40,000,000 worth of refunding bonds. The monthly pay roll is $1,200,000. Employés were last paid Dec. 1.

PARKS CAUTIOUS

"Unless the legislature provides some relief, the south parks, according to President Edward J. Kelly, will find it necessary to eliminate a part of their service and to stop nearly all construction, including the building of Fine Arts building and the outer link bridge.

"Additional costs," said Mr. Kelly, "we must meet to protect our bonds against default. The importance of this to the credit of the parks cannot be overemphasized. Pursuing this policy we must meet these obligations as they fall due at least until July. But unless relief is restored and the tax situation set right, all the other activities of the parks must be seriously curtailed or eliminated altogether."

She recently entered the theatrical profession in London and is now appearing in the English production of "Five Star Final." Her marriage to Mr. Ketting was one of the important Chicago society affairs of the winter of 1928. Chicago relatives had not heard yesterday of her reported engagement to Mr. Meyer.

Recommend Ordinance to Create Board of Health

An ordinance providing for the substitution of a board of health for the present position of health commissioner was recommended to the city council for passage yesterday by the council health committee. The board of health would comprise three members, one of whom would be president and carry out the board's orders. The president would receive a salary of $10,000 a year, while the other two members would serve without compensation. The terms of the three members would be for two years.

CAPTAIN, 2 COPS SUSPENDED WHEN GUNMEN GO FREE

Allman Hits Fleming for Not Attending Court.

The dismissal in court of two gunmen arrested after they had wrecked their automobile on Nov. 9 and engaged in a pistol fight with policemen caused Police Commissioner Allman yesterday to suspend Capt. James Fleming of the Shakespeare avenue district and Patrolmen James J. Duffy and Burton E. McInerney of the West North avenue station.

The two patrolmen will be taken before the civil service commission on charges of neglect of duty.

Capt. Fleming is charged with violation of a recent order of the commissioner, which instructed captains who have branches of the Municipal court in their station to be present at all sessions of court to see that policemen appearing as witnesses present their testimony properly.

The court case was that of John Davies and Mike Kosar, two alleged beer runners. Policemen Duffy and McInerney chased them and two companions four miles before their car was wrecked against a brick wall. Three shots were fired at the policemen and the revolver was found, still warm, in the wrecked automobile.

Davies, the owner of the car, was found to have served a bridewell sentence for burglary. He and Kosar were charged with assault with a deadly weapon. Their companions escaped, but the police caught Davies and Kosar within ten feet of the wrecked car.

Despite that fact, McInerney and Duffy testified two days later in court that they were unable to identify the prisoners, and the cases against them were not pressed. Capt. Fleming, who was under instructions to oversee the policemen's testimony, was absent from the courtroom. He said later that he was called out on a matter of station business.

He has been a member of the department for 26 years, and was appointed captain in 1923, under the Dever administration.

"I have nothing to say, except that I have never been before the trial board in 26 years service," Capt. Fleming said yesterday. "If there is anything else to be said, it will have to come from Commissioner Allman."

Tacoma, Wash., Dec. 10.—(AP)—Ralph Capone, older brother of Al Capone, Chicago gang leader, entered the McNeil Island federal penitentiary, fifteen miles from Tacoma, today. He was transferred from the Leavenworth prison and is under sentence for three years for federal income tax evasion.

Capone will work as a common laborer at the institution until he shows he is adapted for something else and worthy of promotion, Warden Finch Archer said.

"We have no preferred classes at McNeil Island," declared the warden.

CHINA AND JAPAN ACCEPT LEAGUE'S PLAN TO END WAR

Belligerents O. K. It, but with Reservations.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Dec. 10.—In the gilt crystal clock room in the Quai d'Orsay, where the Kellogg peace pact was signed, the league of nations council today wound up its three weeks' extraordinary session on the conflict between China and Japan in Manchuria.

The session was marked by the Japanese representatives abandoning many of their original demands, but at the same time acquiring considerable new Manchurian real estate.

A magic formula ended the long deadlock on the famous six point resolution. It binds the two belligerents to keep the league's peace until a neutral five man investigating commission can recommend back to the council a definite solution on the tangled issues.

Belligerents Repeat Pledge.

The unanimous adoption of the peace resolution was made possible when the two stubborn orientals, Dr. Alfred Sze of China and Kenkichi Yoshizawa of Japan, stood and repeated their pledge to be good, which they both made on behalf of their countries at Geneva on Sept. 30. This time the difference was that they were allowed to tell the world they had their fingers crossed.

Dr. Sze made seven reservations to China's acceptance. Though Yoshizawa made only one, it was a big one—the right of the Japanese to hunt bandits in Manchuria when the Japanese think their lives and property are being menaced.

China accepted the plan with the stipulation that she abandons none of her rights under existing treaties and that Japan withdraw her troops from Manchuria as speedily as possible.

"We do not even concede the right of Japan to maintain troops even in the South Manchuria railway zone," Dr. Sze said in listing his government's reservations. "Neither must an injunction to cease hostilities be violated by Japan on the pretext of suppressing banditry."

Adjourn Until January.

The council, however, took no notice of the reservations and the session adjourned until the next regular meeting at Geneva, Jan. 15. In the meantime the work of picking an American, a Britisher, a Frenchman, a German, and an Italian for the investigating committee is being rushed. The investigators are due to start for Manchuria right after Christmas.

The peace plan, together with an explanatory comment by Chairman Aristide Briand, was presented with apologies. It was regarded by some as only a necessary makeshift. Even Briand admitted that it was not exactly a model arrangement.

The little powers not only apologized but made reservations of their own, pointing out that they did not consider that the council was establishing a precedent for handling cases of territorial aggression. The Latin-American countries were particularly rabid.

The acceptance of the peace plan was made a gala occasion. As diplomats and gorgeously gowned wives trooped into the council room Dr. Sze happened to cross the path of Yoshizawa and ceremoniously greeted his subtle adversary by bowing and shaking hands.

Briand took full advantage of the historical setting in his closing speech. "The threat of war has been averted," he declared in a vibrant voice. "Obstacles in the path of war, however fragile they may seem, have at least damned the flood of events and slowed down the first onrush. Three months have thus been gained."

Imprisoned Mayor Resigns.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Dec. 10.—After his release by rioting students, who had imprisoned him in a demonstration protesting that China's stand in Manchuria was too mild, Mayor Chang Chun telegraphed his resignation to Nanking today. He announced he had dismissed the chief of the public safety bureau as requested by the 5,000 students. Barbed wire entanglements were put up in the streets today by military patrols from foreign concessions.

Fifty thousand students staged a giant demonstration at Nanking today. They demanded the dismissal of Wellington Koo as foreign minister and a pledge from President Chiang Kai-shek to proceed immediately to deal with the Japanese in Manchuria.

PLAYS WRITS IN HIDE AND SEEK MARRIAGE GAME

Heiress' Father Obtains Warrants for Husband.

Montclair, N. J., Dec. 10.—[Special.]—Beatrice Barclay Pickerell, secretly married 15 year old daughter of John C. Barclay, who disappeared from her father's home on Monday, announced her presence at the home of a friend in Essex Fells late last night. But this afternoon, as far as the police are concerned, she vanished again, presumably in the company of her 20 year old husband, Bevis Pickerell, for whom the Montclair police have two warrants sworn to by the girl's father.

Thomas B. Kaveny, lawyer retained by Pickerell, was informed by the latter that the youthful Mrs. Pickerell was at the home of a friend, Miss June Mitchell of Essex Fells.

"They are happy to be together again," Kaveny said tonight.

Before her escape Monday the girl was prevented by her parents from leaving her home and Pickerell was not admitted to the house.

The couple had met in June, 1930, when Pickerell rescued the girl from drowning in a swimming pool. After their marriage they fled to Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., where, last Sept. 11, Mrs. Pickerell was forced into an automobile and returned to her home by her father and brother.

This morning Mr. Barclay, who is a retired vice president of the Western Union Telegraph company, appeared at the Montclair police court and had two complaints sworn out against Pickerell, charging statutory offenses.

GANDHI SUGGESTS LEAGUE USE HIS PLAN TO END WAR

GENEVA, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Mahatma Gandhi in a farwell address today said the league of nations lacked the necessary sanctions to enforce its decisions, as demonstrated by its efforts in the Manchurian controversy. Speaking at a gathering organized by the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, he suggested the league adopt his methods of nonviolence as a means of achieving its aims.

Switzerland should be brave enough to dispense with its army, he said, and thus give the world a real object lesson in disarmament. He cited the case of Belgium during the world war to show that no army could save a nation from invasion by stronger forces.

For Another Day Senate Fails to Elect President Pro Tem

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 10.—[Special.]—The third day of futile fight to elect a president pro tem of the senate saw four ballots cast. Each time the Socialists in the Republican party were able to thwart the election of the regulars' candidate, Senator George H. Moses of New Hampshire, and the Democrats failed, by but two votes, to elect Senator Key Pittman of Nevada.

SENATOR KEY PITTMAN.

On the day's first ballot [the seventh so far] Senator Moses received 39 Republican votes and Senator Pittman got 41 Democratic votes [all there were present]. The Socialist votes split as follows:

For Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska, 7, from Senators Blaine, Cutting, Frazier, Howell, La Follette, Nye, and Shipstead. For Senator Wesley Jones of Washington, 6, from Senators Borah, Brookhart, Capper, Couzens, Norris, and Thomas of Idaho. For Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas 1 [from Jones].

This ballot ended with adjournment until Monday when, the radicals predict, there will be several desertions from the Moses banner; but the regulars insist there will be none.

Earlier in the day the senate abandoned its election fight long enough to hear a few speeches on legislation to come before it later in the year. The silver problem bobbed up again when Senator Pittman demanded that the United States call a conference on silver regardless of any opposition from Great Britain. If Great Britain were to refuse to participate in such a conference the strategy of the participating nations would be, Senator Pittman declared, to draft an international agreement under which countries friendly to silver stabilization would refuse to import silver from countries which did not sign the agreement.

He charged the depreciation of silver to British efforts, from 1926 to 1929, to establish the gold standard in India, causing, he claimed, the dumping of several hundred million ounces of silver coins on the world market.

Senator James Couzens [Rep., Mich.], chairman of the interstate commerce committee, introduced a resolution proposing a study of railroad relief requirements and of the means to prevent unemployment among railroad employes. The resolution calls for an appropriation of $10,000 to pay for an investigation to be made by a committee. Senator Couzens stressed the importance of immediate aid, pointing to the estimated unemployment of 500,000 railroad workers and to the recent effort of railroads to obtain freight rate increases of 15 per cent by authority of the interstate commerce commission.

Senator Tasker L. Oddie [Rep., Nev.], renewing the fight he made last session against alleged dumping of Russian soviet products into the United States, introduced a bill prohibiting importation of all Russian products into this country. The direct target at which the bill is aimed, however, was manganese ore.

DUCE SHAKES UP DIRECTORATE OF FASCIST PARTY

ROME, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini effected a reorganization of the Fascist party directorate today by appointing seven new members, all of whom are provincial party chieftains.

The appointments are in fulfillment of a new policy of "getting close to the people." Achille Starace, successor to Sig. Giuriati as secretary, and Prof. Arturo Marpicati, as vice secretary, are the only old members remaining.

The other members are Matteo Adinolfi, also a vice secretary, and six directors—Sig. Tommaso Bottani, Ranieri, Dolfin, Brato, Cupello, and Gastaldi. Giovanni Marinelli continues as permanent administrative secretary.

How long would you talk to a wooden Indian?

Suppose you were selling a fast, smart, smooth-riding motor car at a price you felt was extremely fair. How much time would you waste on a wooden Indian?

Perhaps there aren't half a dozen actual cigar-store Indians in the New York Trading Area; but it's surprising how many petrified Arapahoes and Ojibways an advertiser can harangue if he doesn't study his newspapers.

We don't reach everybody with the New York Herald Tribune, but we talk to a whole lot of people who can respond—and they have been remarkably responsive during 1931. If they feel depressed, they don't show it much.

For one reason or another, nearly twenty per cent of the families in the New York districts where average income is $5,000 and up, read the Herald Tribune. So many are so far above $5,000 that grand pianos and oil burners and motor cars have become necessary luxuries. Perhaps the young man gets a Four or a Six instead of an Eight this year, but he doesn't ride a bicycle. So when you reach this group you talk to very few wooden Indians.

Nor is there any heavy proportion of unresponsiveness among the more than 190,000 Herald Tribune families in the middle-income districts where the average family income is between $2,500 and $5,000 a year. These people, too, have lately been helping New York shame the pessimists—by purchasing pretty much what they need and want.

We do not reach many families in those sections where family earnings average below $2,500. Just five per cent of the Herald Tribune readers live in these districts.

Which of these income classes do you regard as your primary market for 1932? The upper ones, naturally. Then why not concentrate your advertising there?

The New York Herald Tribune's total circulation is 325,432 on week-days; 458,106 on Sundays. (Average for six months ending September 30, 1931.)

DEVOL FORFEITS $3,000 BOND ON RAPE CHARGES

CRIMINAL COURT.

Sam Ponds, manslaughter, sentenced to 1 to 14 years in the penitentiary; Jack Miller, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary; Earl Miller, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in Pontiac reformatory; Robert Smetana, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in Pontiac reformatory by Judge Rudolph Desort.

Herbert Foster, manslaughter, sentenced to 1 to 14 years in the penitentiary; Edward Deich and Booker Lanier, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life each in the penitentiary; Joseph Gadowry, crime against nature, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary; Ben Ford and Oscar Ward, burglary, sentenced to 1 year each in Pontiac reformatory by Judge George Fred Bush.

Deputy sheriffs with a capias last night were searching for Carl B. Devol, 49 years old, insurance broker with offices at 175 West Jackson boulevard, who failed to appear yesterday in the Felony court on a charge of raping a 16 year old Wisconsin girl. His $3,000 cash bond was ordered forfeited by Judge Alfar Eberhardt.

CARL B. DEVOL.

While Devol's failure to appear was under discussion in the Felony court, the grand jury was reported to have listened to the testimony of eight witnesses, and voted true bills against him on charges of rape and accessory in rape.

Charge Defense Seeks Delay.

Assistant State's Attorney George Lavin told Judge Eberhardt that Devol's $3,000 bond was just a gift to the county. "They are trying to delay this case," said Prosecutor Lavin, "until all the state's witnesses will show disinclination to testify and the state's case has disintegrated."

Lavin asserted that Elliott Evans, Devol's attorney, knew something of the broker's whereabouts. Evans protested Lavin's statement, but Lavin refused to retract them. When Judge Eberhardt continued the case to Dec. 17, Evans promised to exert every effort to have Devol in court.

Prosecutor Outlines Case.

Judge Eberhardt was informed that Devol had taken the girl to a colored disorderly house at 4457 Indiana avenue on Nov. 14 and attacked her. Lavin said that John Thompson, 28 years old, a Negro, had confessed that he had also attacked the girl upon Devol's request. Mrs. Willetta Lowe, colored landlady of the house, and Levi Minter, also colored, have confessed that they aided in the alleged attacks, Lavin asserted.

At the same time that Devol was reported named in true bills, it was said that true bills were voted against Thompson for rape, and Mrs. Lowe and Minter for accessories to the act.

Judge Eberhardt expressed surprise that "such a low bond as $3,000" had been granted Devol.

Court Told of Release.

Devol was released from the Shakespeare police station on the night of Nov. 25 after Assistant State's Attorneys J. Kent Greene and A. C. De Witt spent several hours arranging a bond for him. Prosecutor Greene said that he was called into the case by W. W. Gillespie, Devol's employer, who was unable to persuade the police to accept his $3,000 check.

Greene revealed that he had called De Witt, who is head of the state's attorney's bond department, into the case. Both prosecutors said they did not know the facts when they acted on Devol's behalf.

To aid in the search for Devol, Prosecutor Lavin announced that he would issue subpenas for Gillespie and for Devol's son.

France to Cover Sterling Losses of Bank of France

PARIS, Dec. 10.—(AP)—By a vote of 305 to 271, the chamber of deputies today sustained the government proposal to cover losses totaling $100,000,000 incurred by the Bank of France as a result of England's departure from the gold standard.

Quickest Way To Knock a Cold

Millions Say of This Proved Way You Feel Like a New Person Almost Before You Know It

If you want quick relief from a cold, go back to first principles and use something you know does the business—don't start "trying" a lot of fancy ideas or remedies. Even a "little" cold is too dangerous to take chances on.

Get Hill's Cascara Quinine. A scientific formula made to do ONE THING WELL: to knock a cold in a fifty, not to cure a hundred different things.

Take two tablets now. Then follow directions on box. Drink lots of water, too—that's all. Soon those mean, aching pains in head and body begin to go; the cold breaks up; poisons leave your system. Almost before you know it, you feel like a new person.

If it doesn't do that, your money back. Get a box now. You'll be surprised at the speed with which it works. Costs only a few cents.

EDITOR HIMSELF CHARM ARBITER ON DEBUTANTES

Runs Column So Unkind to Social Buds.

New York, Dec. 10.—[Special.]—Dozen of débutantes whose social activities have been punctuated and punctured—by the barbed comments of "Audacious," an anonymous columnist of Tatler and American Sketch, a magazine which, with Town Topics, is under investigation by the attorney general's office, learned today that John C. Schemm, editor of the Tatler, not only conducts the "Audacious" column but is the man who grades the débutantes.

Under questioning today, Mr. Schemm admitted that and a number of other interesting facts to Deputy Assistant Attorney General Abraham N. Davis, in charge of interrogating two magazines in regard to their method of stock selling.

Stock Selling Investigated.

Practically no stock of the Tatler and American Sketch company has been sold in the past six months, Schemm and his associate, Charles Covall, told Mr. Davis. But about $20,000 worth of stock belonging to Schemm and A. W. Gardiner, secretary and treasurer of the Carlton Publishing company, which publishes Tatler, has been sold and the proceeds turned into the company funds.

About $250,000 worth of Tatler stock has been sold to investing individuals during the past five years, according to Schemm, but the magazine has never made any money. He was emphatic on the latter point, though he failed to tell Mr. Davis how he and his salesmen induced investors to purchase stock which has consistently failed to earn any returns.

Augustus R. Keller, editor in chief of Town Topics; Robert A. Davison, president of the American Social Registry, Inc., and Edmond Nugent and Harris Merwin, salesmen of Town Topics stock, were also interrogated.

No Profits for Years.

Both Town Topics and Tatler, according to a statement made by Mr. Davis after briefly summarizing the books of the two companies, have failed to make any money for several years. Despite this fact, the sale of their stock has proceeded briskly and it is in this connection that the attorney general's first interest lies.

Meanwhile, it was stated at the office of the attorney general that the list of stockholders of Town Topics would not be made public for the present, if at all. It was admitted, however, that the books indicated that approximately 200 of the wealthiest and socially most prominent men and women of New York and other cities have bought stock over the last few years.

The Tatler has been creating a furor in society the last year or so by its "grading" of débutantes in categories.

TESTIFY FOR KANE, BEING TRIED FOR WIFE DROWNING

Doctors Say Professor's Mate Had Weak Heart.

Fort Hampton, Va., Dec. 10.—[Special.]—Four physicians testified today at the trial of Prof. Elisha Kane, son of Dr. Evans Eliot Kane, of Kane, Pa., facing trial for murder on the charge of having drowned his wife, that Mrs. Kane could have made a serious effort to save her own life. They said she was a victim of heart disease, easily excited, and would become helpless and nervous under any trying circumstances.

The Circuit court of Elizabeth City county was crowded when the defense introduced Drs. A. E. Abernethy, University of North Carolina physician; R. M. Staunton, Robert J. Reeves, and E. M. Cannon of Durham, N. C.

Wife Easy to Excite.

Dr. Abernethy gave the most pointed testimony. He said he had attended Mrs. Kane when she was a resident of Chapel Hill, N. C., before her husband accepted the chair of romance languages at the University of Tennessee. He said the Kanes appeared happy, but Mrs. Kane, because of a very "pronounced heart affection," was excitable and unable to take care of herself in an emergency. Dr. Abernethy's testimony was offered to refute the testimony of Mrs. Kane's parents, who testified Prof. Kane was cruel to his wife.

Dr. Staunton said Mrs. Kane suffered from a rapid heart and he had treated her for heart disease, fever, and a throat affection. In answer to a question from the prosecuting attorney, he said Mrs. Kane had a "rapid heart with a beat of about 108."

Clam Digger on Stand.

An X-ray picture of Mrs. Kane's heart, taken by Dr. Cannon, was exhibited before the jury. Dr. Reeves, who had the picture taken said he was an expert on X-ray work and that the picture would show a lesion in Mrs. Kane's heart.

Willis D. Holloway, a clam digger, testified he was rowing a boat off Grandview beach on the morning of Sept. 11, the day Mrs. Kane was drowned, when he heard a man calling for help. He said he saw a man carry the body of a woman to shore, put it down on the sand, and apparently hold it between his knees.

Several witnesses testified that they had frequently seen Prof. and Mrs. Kane together and Mrs. Kane never had shown any fear of her husband.

RACKET BUREAU RAIDS BROKERAGE OFFICE; 1 SEIZED

The racket bureau of the state's attorney's office yesterday raided the offices of the Brokerage Corporation of America, 205 West Wacker drive, seized a quantity of records, and arrested A. J. Schiffmann, the manager.

The raid was made by Sergt. Michael Ahern on a warrant charging embezzlement issued by Judge Donald S. McKinlay. The complaint was signed by Bernard Given, vice president of the Central Mutual Insurance company. Cash bonds of $2,500 each were set by Judge McKinlay.

According to Assistant State's Attorney Donald Thompson, the brokerage concern during the last year had embezzled several thousand dollars through the misappropriation of insurance premiums. Owners of automobiles were insured through the brokerage concern, the prosecutor said, and an insurance company would be given the policy with a request for ninety days before premium payment. When no premium was paid the insurance company would cancel the policy, which then would be transferred to another company under a similar arrangement. Four other major insurance companies will aid in the prosecution.

FORFEIT BONDS, SEEK TO ARREST TWO GANGSTERS

Appeal bonds of $2,500 each were forfeited and warrants were issued for the arrest of Sam Hunt and James [Red] Forsythe, gunmen, by Judge Donald S. McKinlay yesterday when he found that no action had been taken in their behalf on the sixty day stay granted them when they were sentenced on Oct. 9. They were sentenced to 60 days in the Bridewell by Judge Matthew D. Hartigan, who found them guilty of possessing a revolver with defaced serial numbers. They were caught running away from the scene of a mysterious shooting in Grant park, in which, as far as was learned, no one was injured. One of them had dropped a revolver.

Another case involving a test of the new law which makes defacing the numbers of a gun a crime, and makes possession of such a weapon prima facie evidence that the possessor was the defacer, was before Judge James F. Fardy yesterday, but was continued to Dec. 21 for argument. The defendant is Louis Scaramuzzo, a gunsmith, said by Chief of Detectives Schoemaker to be the mechanic who keeps the guns of the Capone gangsters in snooting order. Fourteen weapons with defaced numbers were found in his shop.

To read the Saturday Antiques and Interior Decorations Pages in The Sun is to be well informed about antiques and the art of tasteful home decoration. Every Saturday in The Sun there are three or more pages devoted to news and valuable information about these subjects. They are edited by Charles Messer Stow, an antiquarian of national reputation.

The pages are copiously illustrated and contain valuable articles by leading authorities on old and new furniture, china, glass, silver, textiles, objects of art and other interesting subjects. They contain also a Question and Answer column, where collectors may have their questions answered; The Quester, a column of interesting and amusing information about old customs and objects; and Next Week's Auctions, which give the time and place of the various auction sales.

The Saturday Sun, containing these pages, may be had by mail for $1.50 a year, if you live outside Greater New York.

Be sure your Radio Tubes are QUICK Heaters

PROTECT YOURSELF WHEN BUYING TUBES

. . . ask your dealer these three questions:

1—Is this a new-type tube?

2—Is it a quick heater?

3—How quick? (If a tube doesn't heat up in ten seconds or less, it isn't an up-to-date tube.)

Notice the four strong pillars in the Eveready Raytheon Tube. With this solid foundation the fragile parts may not move a hair's breadth from their fixed position. Ordinary tubes have only a two-pillar foundation. Two supports instead of four! Jolts, bumps and vibration often impair their vital accuracy.

BE CAREFUL in buying tubes, or you may get the slow-heater kind. The market is being flooded with them . . . and the uninformed purchaser may accept them, only to be disappointed with their stubborn slowness in getting started.

No matter how fine your radio set may be, if it is handicapped with old-type slow-heater tubes, your enjoyment will be ruined time after time. Modern radio programs start on the dot . . . and so do tubes that are really up to date.

Insist on quick-heater tubes such as Eveready Raytheons! They get into action in a bare 7 seconds. Don't buy any tube until your dealer has proved its heating time. A quick start is your guarantee that you are getting an up-to-date tube. Time it yourself.

Here are their new, low prices:

TYPE	NEW PRICE
ER 227	$1.00
ER 224	1.60
ER 235	1.60
ER 551	1.60
ER 245	1.10
ER 247	1.55
ER 280	1.00
ER 226	.80
ER 171-A	.90
ER 201-A	.75

You get an extra, exclusive advantage with Eveready Raytheons. They have the unique, patented 4-pillar construction, which makes them twice as strong, twice as resistant to jolts and shocks, as ordinary tubes. They have a new clarity and beauty of tone, breath-taking in its realism.

THREE MEALS A DAY

From the Tribune Cook Book

By Mary Meade

Inasmuch as we all can't afford to indulge in orange juice for every week day breakfast, we may compromise and substitute other healthful juices, such as grapefruit, kraut, and tomato. While none of these have the same vitamin value as that of oranges, yet their vitamin content has been so protected by the canners who offer them to us that we may drink them with relish and still know they are "good for us."

To many people the whole fruits, particularly grapefruit, oranges, and lemons, are something which must be avoided, because they cause pain in the eating of them. I have seen breakfast guests courageously attack half a grapefruit and wince with every mouthful—not mentioning the faces they made! For such as these, the canned juices should be a boon, as they will not bother a mouth and teeth sensitive to the fruit from which they are derived.

Fruit juices used as an appetizer or cocktail nicely whet a dinner appetite. They may be served alone, or in combination with one another—tomato and sauerkraut juice being the favored "two tone cocktail" so much in vogue. They may be used in a variety of salads, especially those made with a gelatine base. If it's a tart aspic you're after, add a little kraut juice or tomato juice to your gelatine. If it's a fruit salad—frozen or the chilled molded variety—grapefruit, pineapple, or a dash of lemon juice will improve it. The one given below boasts both sauerkraut and lemon juice, which give it a sharp flavor, delicious for an accompaniment in a dinner with a mild meat or baked fish as the entrée.

CABBAGE PIQUANT IS MOLD.

1 package of lime or lemon gelatine
1½ cups of sauerkraut juice
½ cup of water
Juice of ½ lime or lemon
2 tablespoons of vinegar
2 cups of shredded cabbage
½ cup of diced green pepper
½ cup of diced pimiento
Stuffed olives—to taste

Bring the sauerkraut juice and water to the boiling point and pour over the gelatine, stirring until the gelatine is dissolved. When cool, add the lime or lemon juice, vinegar, shredded cabbage, pepper, pimiento, and rings of stuffed olives. Mix well and turn into a mold, or individual molds to set. Turn out on lettuce nets and top with a creamy mayonnaise. Garnish with pimiento squares.

CANNED GOODS FIND MANY USES ON DAILY MENU

Canned goods need be no barrier to having variety and appetite appeal in many types of dishes for any of the three standard American meals a day, according to the recipes and menus which household experts have devised.

Canned goods fit into preparations of such delicacies as fruit custard pies, steamed fruit puddings, plum wafers, crystallized apricots, tomato cheese toast, rice served with plums, scalloped tomatoes and rice and cheese, beef creole with macaroni using canned beef, pimentoes or peppers and tomatoes.

Canned meats may be used in salads, meat pies, and croquettes. Canned vegetables may be served in a salad, soup, or creamed dish. Canned fruits provide an even greater variety in combinations with tapioca, rice, or custard. Frozen desserts may include the products in ices, frozen fruit salads, or Bavarian creams. Pie fillings also suggest another method of using the canned products.

FUTURIST'S IDEA ON FOODS FINDS ITALY CONTRARY

Marinetti's Assault on Spaghetti Fails.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Italy, Dec. 10.—Sig. Marinetti, the Italian futurist, facetiously or otherwise has been trying to reform the art of cooking here and especially to persuade Italians to abolish spaghetti.

His movement appears to have had the contrary effect. Italy is showing a tendency to remain backward in its culinary tastes and even to revert to the old fashioned dishes, which are described in the 13th and 14th centuries and in some of the poems of the 17th.

Florence is particularly faithful to its culinary traditions and in Florence alone does spaghetti lack the favor which it has in all the other Italian cities. Beans, in fact, are to Florentines what spaghetti is to Napolitans and rice to Lombards.

Real Beefsteak Here.

The famous Tuscan oil makes the work of the cook easier in the city of the Medici by giving a wholesome taste to the various kinds of soups, vegetables and meats. Beans with onions and olive oil, tripe, leg of mutton and head of pork are among the dishes that no good Florentine seems to be able to do without, and Florence is the only city in Italy where a real beefsteak can be had, properly cooked and of such dimensions as would furnish food for several people were they not Florentine.

Also, the quantity of beans, savored with onion and floating in oil that a good Florentine can do away with and which he will eat regularly at least every other day, would appear astounding to any other heavy eater.

Everything Cooked in Oil.

In cooking, butter prevails only in the preparation of tripe, leg of veal, and pork head. Every other staple unless the customer of the trattoria specially asks that his viand be prepared in fat of ham, lard, or butter, is cooked in oil. The old tradition prevails in this as in many other respects, and it is as strictly observed by the cabby as by the rich merchant or banker.

Old tradition also prevails in the arrangement, decoration and general atmosphere of the Florentine restaurant where the natives eat. The Florentine will go to a restaurant which advertises "French cooking" only when having foreign guests who may not like the rich though not greasy Florentine meal.

When by himself or with other Florentines he goes to the trattoria. There are several classes of such eating houses, some even garnished with real china plates and silver spoons, forks, and knives. But the majority of trattoria frequented by the Florentines boast rather good solid food than refined paraphernalia.

Generally Underground.

The trattoria itself is generally underground or in the darkest rooms that can be found in the narrow streets of the ancient city. One of these places, a celebrated one, too, started a new decorative fashion some thirty years ago, when advertisements were a novelty in Florence. Its vaulted walls, underground naturally, are all decorated with posters, some of which recall times which only the prewar generation can remember.

But the preference in decoration is given to fresco painting and some of the frescoes are of considerable value. In several instances the frescoes decorating the Florentine trattoria are simply restorations of old frescoes which the 17th century habit of plastering everything over has helped to preserve and which the contemporary liking for primitive art has brought to light again.

There is one restaurant near the Uffizi gallery which occupies part of what was the ancient church of San Pietro Scheraggio: a church which was already antique in the time of Dante. Its walls are frescoed with figures and decorative motives which suggest anything but food.

Church Columns Preserved.

The same place is enriched by some of the most beautiful columns to be found anywhere, all belonging to the ancient church. The capitals are of brick material finely carved in Corinthian style, and every detail is perfectly preserved. They were embedded in a big wall which was built in the late sixteenth century and thus were preserved.

The latest addition to Florentine artistic trattoria is a place called "Beatrice's cave," an underground place where everything is in the style of the 14th century. Walls, linen, cutlery, and waiters give the impression of a tavern of the times of Dante preserved intact to the present day.

It is the fashionable place in Florence these days and its 14th century attired servants serve the typical oil, beans, and onions concoction as well as China tea.

Men Folk, Here's a Chance to Prove That You Can Cook; Try This Style of Hash

BY WILLIAM K. M'KAY.

Fellow Benedicts, I commend you to a consideration of hash. I would lead you by simple procedure into the production of a family meal which shall make friend wife, howsoever culinarily clever she be, admit that her old man is not entirely bereft of kitchen capability, and that any time her bridge game or matinee or other late afternoon engagements ensnare her, he can produce a toothsome collation ready for her arrival at the homestead and the coming with her of a guest or two.

Hash too much has been relegated into a low estate—into a concoction of touch and go's and makeshifts—of a combination of leftovers and castoffs, into a what-is-it, what-have-you melange of kitchen discards.

We consider now hash in primis—a delectable compound drawing its components from the best supplies of the markets—not a hodge-podge of relegated meat scraps, cold baked and boiled potatoes and other left-overs of the family table. We talk now of hash in primis—hash made as a dish of its own—not a gooey lot of mascerated refusables.

Corn Beef Hash for Six.

We shall have a corn beef hash—a serving, say, for six. First we shall get our corn beef. We might buy four or five pounds of mostly lean corned brisket, boil it slowly for several hours a day in advance and set it into the refrigerator to cool off for twenty-four hours or so.

That's adding a lot to the work, however. We can avoid all this preliminary effort by getting a pound or two or three of pressed boiled corn beef at the butcher shop. It comes in long loaf-like forms and the butcher will cut off a portion suitable to your needs. Several of the packing companies specialize in this corned beef loaf and it is very tasty, sliced into sandwich form or for our hash.

It Comes in Cans, Too.

Now, if your neighborhood butcher has none of this pressed corn beef loaf, don't worry. At any good delicatessen shop you can get prime corned beef in cans. The cans hold about twelve ounces and are of oblong shape, except they are a little larger at one end than the other. At the larger end there is one of those thumb-and-finger twisting gadgets that enables you to shear off the end of the can and then, by tapping the smaller end with the soft side of your fist, you ease the partly-pyramidal loaf of corned beef into a saucer.

[This entry into minute detail may irritate the skilled and experienced housewife, but please remember, girls, that this is written for mere, unknowing husbands by a mere man, vain of some little rudimentary cooking lore.]

When you buy the corned beef annex also a couple of green peppers, a small jar of pickled pimentos, an onion or two of medium size, and some potatoes.

Cook Needs Inspiration.

Back in the kitchen, wash your hands and clean your nails, roll up your sleeves, tie an apron around your midriff and feel that you're a real chef. One of the essentials of the hash is that its creator feel inspired—that as its preparation joyfully proceeds his pleasant anticipations are aroused, his pride in his performance stimulated and his gustatory yearnings sharpened.

Pull over that high stool which Marie, the colored maid, who is taking her day off, uses when she engages in her culinary rites, lay the cutting board before you on the kitchen table, grab a large, keen edged knife and proceed to dice your corned beef. Cut off a slice one-quarter of an inch thick; draw your knife across the slice up and down and then crosewise until it is separated into one-quarter inch cubes. Continue until you have diced two pounds or so of the beef.

[Of course you at this point are privileged to nibble. You can cut two thin slices of brown bread; lay between them a slice of the corned beef and a thin slice of onion, sprinkle on some salt and pepper, and proceed to munch. A pint of home brew or of high class near beer will add zest.]

Now the Potatoes.

After this little interlude get to work on your potatoes, which, carefully washed, are reposing, immersed, in an aluminum pan. The formula is equal parts of corned beef and potatoes. Scour the potatoes thoroughly in the cold water. Don't peel them. Save those mineral salts which the skins carry. Slice them and dice them, skins and all, into quarter inch cubes.

Meanwhile you have eased the corned beef into that large yellow mixing bowl, and now into the bowl you lift the diced potatoes. Proceed then to slice the green peppers into one-quarter inch squares; yes, let the seeds go in, and ease the cuttings into the mixing bowl. Then chop up a half cupful of onion and toss it in.

You now are ready for the proper blending of a real hash. Get up from your stool and stand by. With opened fingers gently stir the toothsome ingredients; don't press them or crush them, but, letting them slip through your digits, gently mix them thoroughly. Pause now and then to sprinkle in some gray pepper, some whole black peppers, some paprika, and a few cloves. Go light on the salt; there's plenty in the corned beef.

[Here we observe that an important ingredient has been overlooked—the celery. So chop up two or three stalks, a half cupful or so, and add to the bowl; also some of those red pimentos; we'll need them for their colorful effect as well as for their flavor. Mix both into the hash through your open fingers. By this time grateful and aromatic odors are titillating your nostrils. Yes, spread a spoonful or two of the mixture on a slice or two of rye bread and wash it down with another pint.]

And Into the Baking Dish.

Little remains to be told. In one of those large oblong or circular glass baking dishes you place your hash. From its transparent sides and its top you glimpse the brownish red of the corn beef, the green of the diced fresh peppers, the vivid red of the pimentos and the ivory whites of the potatoes and celery. Yum! Yum!

Pour over the hash in the pyrex baking dish enough water barely to cover the contents and add two or three tablespoonfuls of Tarragon vinegar. Place in your oven at a moderate heat. Let it stew and simmer; let the starch of the potatoes and the fats of the beef mingle and combine with the mild acids of the celery and the onions and the aromatics of the spices, the green peppers and pimentos.

Ride your time for an hour or so. When the water you poured in over the hash is mostly evaporated you have a feast prepared.

If you have provided a simple salad and toasted a few rolls and brewed a pot of coffee, what more could the good wife and her friends, arriving from downtown, desire?

I gave them all a new idea

ALL of our crowd are having a lot more parties at home these days. And to tell the truth we're having a lot more fun. Of course, we all try to have our dinners and late suppers a little better than the last one. And believe me, that takes some clever planning.
But I gave them all a new idea when I served KELLOGG'S Kaffee Hag Coffee. Here at last was a delicious coffee that every one could drink without danger of a sleepless night. And the way they enjoyed it certainly made my party a wonderful success.
KELLOGG'S Kaffee Hag Coffee is nothing but the purest, finest coffee with 97% of the tasteless drug caffeine and the indigestible wax removed. It cannot keep you awake—or harm you in any way.
KELLOGG'S Kaffee Hag Coffee is sold by your grocer in vacuum-sealed tins. The new improved blend is a revelation in real coffee flavor. And the price has again been reduced. Quality guaranteed. Roasted by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

18 RECIPES FROM TRIBUNE COOKING SCHOOL GIVEN

All Were Demonstrated by Expert.

This week we have for the cooking school enthusiasts the recipes that were demonstrated by Mrs. Chitwood at the Arcadia during the second week of The Tribune School of Cookery. Clip them now. Copies of these recipes will be rare.

STUFFED PEPPER SALAD.

Select smooth, well shaped green peppers. Cut a slice from the top, remove the seeds and pith, and wash with cold water. Place in the refrigerator to become cold and firm. Cook preserving slices and cut 4 slices on a bed of crisp lettuce for each serving. Garnish each slice with a tiny sprig of parsley or a small piece of pimento.

CARROT PYRAMID SALAD.

1 cup finely grated carrot
½ cup orange juice
1 tablespoon lemon juice
¼ cup cherries diced
1 cup crackers
¼ cup pineapple
¼ cup diced pears
1 cup ginger ale
¼ cup fruit salad
½ cup cream—whipped

Soften gelatin in orange juice and dissolve over hot water. Cool slightly. Add fruits, lemon juice and ginger ale. When mixture starts to congeal, fold in mayonnaise and whipped cream. Place in trays and freeze.

A SPARKLER.

1 egg yolk
½ lemon [juice]
½ orange [juice]
1 teaspoon sugar
½ glass ginger ale

Beat the egg yolk and then add the lemon and orange juices containing the sugar. Chill the mixture and place in a tall glass. Fill with ginger ale thoroughly chilled and serve immediately.

RAINBOW CAKE.

½ cup margarine
1½ cups sugar
4 eggs
3 cups flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
2 teaspoons vanilla
1¼ cups milk

Sift flour and baking powder together four times. Cream margarine and sugar together, then well beaten egg yolks, vanilla and beat well. Add flour and milk alternately, beating constantly, then fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Divide batter, color one-half with chocolate and the other half with red color paste. Pour chocolate batter in greased loaf tin, then pour red batter in on top of chocolate batter and bake in 375 degree oven for one hour. Let cool and cover with white frosting which will be made in class.

CHICKEN A LA KING IN CROUSTADES.

Open and heat 1 can chicken a la king, thinning a little with cream, and fill croustades with mixture.

To make the croustades, cut a slice of bread about 3 inches thick. Remove the crust and scoop out the center to make box shapes. Brush with melted fat and toast a golden brown under a slow flame. A delicious luncheon dish.

SALMON CROQUETTES.

Tall can salmon
1 cup cold mashed potatoes
2 tablespoons grated onion
1 egg
1 cup cracker crumbs

Mix all together and pat into shape three inches long and about one and one-half inches thick. Dip in egg and roll in cracker crumbs. Fry in hot deep fat to brown quickly.

AN ATTRACTIVE MOLDED SALAD.

SHRIMP ASPIC.

Cook one can of tomato sauce with five times as much water, adding a stalk of celery, half an onion, half a lemon, a sprig of parsley, a bayleaf and salt and pepper to taste until the mixture measures only three cups. Add one cup of cold water in which one envelope [two tablespoons] of gelatine has been dissolved. Add two cups of boiled, peeled chopped shrimp, one cup of minced celery, and six diced hard boiled eggs. Pour into a ring mold and when set turn out on a platter, garnish with lettuce and serve with a small bowl of chili sauce dressing.

CHILI SAUCE DRESSING.

Mix six tablespoons of salad oil, two tablespoons of vinegar, one teaspoon of salt, one-fourth teaspoon of pepper, a dash of paprika and one-fourth teaspoon of onion juice and beat well. Then add two tablespoons of chili sauce and mix until smoothly blended.

CREAMED POTATO CUPS.

Wash and peel potatoes. Boil in sufficient water to keep potatoes covered during boiling period until potatoes are tender. Drain and put through sieve. To each pint riced potatoes add one teaspoon salt, one tablespoonful margarine and one-half cup thin cream. Cream with wooden spoon until light and fluffy. The cups of this mixture will be made in class, also decorations.

BAKED BEANS CASSEROLE.

2 small onions
2 small green peppers
2 tablespoons butter
1 No. 2 can green beans
½ cup grated cheese
¼ cup fine fresh bread crumbs
2 slices bacon

Cook onions and peppers chopped fine in seasoning to a golden brown and add beans, alternate in layers with cheese in casserole. Top with bread crumbs, arrange bacon on top of crumbs and bake in moderate oven 375 degrees about thirty minutes.

BEEF STEAK POCKETS.

2 lbs round steak [cut 1½ in. thick]
1 lb. pork sausage meat
1 cup soft bread crumbs
¼ cup water
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
2 cups cooked tomatoes
1½ tablespoons salt
1 small onion

Cut the steak into three inch squares and slit a pocket in each with a sharp knife. Blend the sausage, bread crumbs, and chopped onion together with the water. Sprinkle each slit lightly with salt, and stuff with the sausage mixture. Secure the edges with toothpicks. Sear the outer surfaces of the meat in hot fat, slicing the whole onion into the pan to brown at the same time. Then add the salt and tomatoes to the pan and cover closely. Bake in a moderate oven [350 degrees F.] for 2½ hours. Yield, 6 servings.

WHEN IS A SQUASH NOT A SQUASH? IT MAY BE A PUMPKIN

The "true squash" and "true pumpkin" controversy is one that is hard for the amateur to settle, it appears, for few recognize the fact that summer crookneck, bush scallop, vegetable marrow, cocozelle and Des Moines types, usually considered quash varieties, are of the pumpkin family.

Experts explain that the stems reveal the difference between the squash and pumpkin. If the stem is ridged and five sided, it is a pumpkin, while if the stem is practically round and free from ridges and grooves, the vegetable is a true squash.

Household Hints

Honey quickly restores waning energy; for this reason it is equally good for athletes, children, or invalids.

Do not keep the electric iron in the kitchen if you want it to remain bright, for the moisture of steam from cooking will rust it.

No real craftsman will tolerate poor or dull tools; yet many a housewife struggles along with dull, badly worn, or stained knives.

To make meringue on pies and puddings hold its shape, bake it at a moderate temperature and long enough to give it time to rise and cook the egg whites.

ILLINOIS SURE OF ITS WINTER SORGHUM SUPPLY

Farmers in Peoria county, Ill., are boiling down more sorghum sirup for winter home supplies than has been the case in several decades, according to Farm Adviser J. W. Whitenand, following a visit recently with Albert McDonald, who has been running a sorghum mill for 41 years.

Wheat cakes and corn bread, as a result, will have a liberal sirup accompaniment. Sausages and eggs and milk, a cellarful of potatoes and fruit and vegetables, and the winter menus will sound quite tempting, says Whitenand.

McDonald's mill this year is setting a new record for the amount of sirup the farmer is turning out, although he is particular enough about his product not to permit any one else to watch the thermometer at the vats from daylight until dark.

40 Million Pounds of Snuff Consumed in U. S. in 1930

The consumption of snuff in the United States was more than 40,000,000 pounds in 1930. It has increased at the rate of a half million pounds a year since 1913.

PANTRY CREAM

A man-size portion of SAVOY fanciest RED SALMON costs only a few cents

● Think of it!—a man-sized portion of SAVOY SALMON costs only about ⅓ to ½ as much as the same amount of nourishment-value in other foods used as main dishes.

That's because SAVOY SALMON is the fanciest red fish—as the label plainly states. Among experts that label means the very finest salmon—the most richly flavored—highest in energy-value.

SAVOY SALMON is a great food for children. It's a fine body builder: It contains needed minerals that many other foods lack. It is a source of Vitamin D. And how children "love" it!

Order some right now from your favorite store. Remember there can only be ONE "Best." That's SAVOY. For 69 years that proud label has stood for the highest quality salmon.

CITY HOUSEWIFE TAKES INTEREST IN MEAT CANNING

Made Desirable to Guard Expense Accounts.

BY ANGELA PETESCH.

December winds find fruits and vegetables of summer packed away in shining jars along the pantry shelf. But, believe it or not, city housewife, they also find your country sister in the midst of one of the busiest canning seasons of the year. For December, January, and February are the months of killing hogs and preserving pork on the farm.

Before modern meat preservation methods were invented, the three months from Thanksgiving to Washington's birthday were a period of meat gorging for the farm household. In those days it was the farmer's custom to salt and smoke the hams, shoulders and sides of the pig and to eat other parts of the carcass as fast as possible.

The abundance of fresh meat was always in danger of spoiling, and the housewife served it generously and often. Pork this or pork that appeared on her table not once a day, as the health authorities recommend, but three times. Usually before a month had passed she was at her wit's end for new ways of serving the inevitable pork. Her family grew lazy with too much meat, and when spring came a stiff dose of old fashioned "sulphur and molasses" was the necessary if not the agreeable order of the day.

Also with spring came a shortage and eventually an absence of the fresh meat which had been a steady item on the winter diet of the farm household. She and her family simply waited for fall, the time for another outfit of fresh meat to roll around.

Not the Modern Way.

But those days are now gone from the farm with the tallow candle and the parlor organ. The modern farmer's wife pressure cooks her pork and has fresh meat all the year round.

City housewives too, in these days of guarded expense accounts are becoming interested in the advantages of canning meat as well as fruits and vegetables. Meats are cheaper this fall than they have been in many a year and some Chicago housewives that I know are taking advantage of the new low prices even in quantity of them against the day when prices may rise again. They did no more difficult than canning fruits and vegetables.

1 15-quart pressure cooker
1 tin can sealer if tin cans are used
No. 2 tin cans, or quart glass jars
1 sharp knife (butcher's)
1 sharp paring knife
1 large two tined fork
1 wooden spoon
1 sharp meat saw
1 iron skillet
1 set measuring spoons
1 dough board (on which to cut meat)

In the Pressure Cooker.

The process is begun by cutting the shoulder through the center with a very sharp knife and a good meat saw. Put the shank end in the pressure cooker and steam at 15 pounds pressure for at least a quarter of an hour. At the end of this time it may be removed and cooled. Then strip the meat neatly from the bone in as large pieces as possible and pack it into either tin or glass cans. Fill the cans with the liquid left in the pressure cooker or with hot water, and seal.

Now slice the butt end of the shoulder into steaks about 1¼ inches thick, using a large sharp knife and a meat saw. Leave the skin on these steaks and sear them whole in a hot skillet to a rich brown. Pack them while hot into No. 3 tin cans. Two steaks from an average-sized shoulder just fill a can. Add the liquid from the searing pan or hot water to the cans. Then seal them and process both the steaks and the meat from the shank at 15 pounds pressure for 40 minutes.

If the pork is preserved in No. 3 tin cans, the steaks may be removed and served intact. If glass jars are used the steaks must be cut into serving portions before searing, since the screwing tops of the jars make it impossible to stow them away whole. The liquid used in preserving may be later made into gravy to serve with the steaks.

The meat from the shank may be packed into either tin or glass jars. Then the cans should be filled with water—either that from the cooker, or, if there is not enough of that, boiling water from the teakettle. This boiled or steamed meat is especially palatable when served with a boiled vegetable dinner or used in making pork pies, creamed dishes, salads, croquettes, or a meat loaf in which it is combined with veal or beef.

The sterilization of pork or any other meat is accomplished only at temperatures considerably above the boiling point of water, which is 212 degrees F. Under no circumstances can we be completely assured of the safety of canning meat by the open kettle or water bath methods which may be successfully used for acid fruits and vegetables. Meat has a low acid content and, as in the case of non-acid vegetables, cannot be rid of its spoilage bacteria until it has been subjected to temperatures considerably above that of boiling water. This means that meat must be cooked under pressure if it is to be rendered sterile.

So important is this safety measure that the bureau of home economics of the department of agriculture in Washington recommends only the pressure cooker for safe canning. It has been found that when meat is cooked at a pressure of 15 pounds [which results in a temperature of 250 degrees F.] for a length of time which varies with the amount being cooked, all bacteria which cause food poisoning are destroyed.

APPLE FINDS ITS WAY INTO MANY FOOD DELICACIES

Tested Recipes for Use of Fruit Given.

BY IRENE STEYSKAL.

What rôles the apple has figured in, the fruit of gods and men, since the day Mother Eve plucked an enticing specimen from a leafy bough in Eden!

But its possibilities—even when confined to the span of a day—beginning with the baby's sauce for breakfast, ending with grandfather's midnight cup of hot, spiced cider—are sufficient to make apple the housewife's synonym for versatility. Apple pie, cobbler, cake, salad, cocktail, dumplings, tart, relish, butter, preserve—these, at least, of the apple dishes should be in every cook's index of recipes.

The following recipes were among a number of excellent ones recently tested and recommended by the Woman's club of Geneva, Mich.:

Escalloped Sweet Potatoes and Apples.

Boil and slice the number of sweet potatoes desired. Arrange the slices in layers alternately with slices of sour apple in a well buttered baking dish. Each layer should be dotted with bits of butter and brown sugar. Cover the top with a layer of buttered bread crumbs and bake in a moderate oven for thirty or forty minutes, until the apples are well cooked.

Cider Pie.

2 cups cider. 3 well beaten eggs.
1 teaspoon nutmeg. 1 cup raisins.
1 tablespoon butter. Brown sugar.

When the cider has been reduced by boiling to one cup, sweeten it to taste with brown sugar. Pour it gradually in the combined mixture of eggs, nutmeg, raisins, and butter. Pour this filling into an unbaked pastry shell and bake in a moderate oven until firm.

Quick Apple Pudding.

Crumble together two tablespoons of butter and a cup of flour as for pie crust. Sprinkle it on left over or freshly cooked apple sauce. Sift a little nutmeg and sugar over the surface and bake in a quick oven until the top is brown. Serve the pudding with whipped or plain cream.

Cider Grapefruit Gelatin.

1 cup cider. ¾ cup grapefruit
½ cup cold water. juice.
2 tablespoons gelatin. ¼ teaspoon salt.
Sugar.
1 cup boiling water.

Soften the gelatin in cold water, pour the boiling water over it and stir until it is dissolved. Sweeten to taste. Add the cider and grapefruit juice and stir well. Pour into molds which have been rinsed in cold water. When chilled and firm serve on a crisp lettuce leaf with mayonnaise dressing.

Apple Relish.

7 pounds apples. 1 teaspoon ground cloves.
3½ pounds sugar. 2 teaspoons ground cinnamon.
2 whole oranges, ground. 1 pint vinegar.
1 whole lemon, ground.

Peel and core the apples and chop them. Mix with all the other ingredients. Boil for about thirty minutes and seal in sterilized jars.

Cod Liver Oil's Vitamins Make it Easier to Down

Cod liver oil is a food rather than a medicine and is an important part of the diet in winter months in sections of the country as far north as Chicago. Children and parents would likely be more healthy and more happy if they recognized this, according to home economics specialists.

Two vitamins which the body needs most are found in cod liver oil, dietitians of New York State College of Home Economics report. These vitamins are A and D.

The first is also found in butter, cream, eggs, and in green, leafy and yellow vegetables. The concentration in cod liver oil is much greater than in any of these other foods, and since vitamin A is stored in the body it is a highly desirable food, even when green vegetables and dairy products are present in the diet. Vitamin A is an anti-infection vitamin and protects both adults and children against common colds.

The second vitamin found in cod liver oil, vitamin D, prevents rickets, and has no other source except direct sunlight and ultra violet lamps. Since this vitamin is thought of as preventing and curing rickets, parents may feel that children who show no signs of this disease need not take cod liver oil. Yet vitamin D is necessary to the storing of calcium and phosphorus, necessary for straight, strong bones and sound teeth, and even abundant calcium and phosphorus in the diet may not entirely prevent tooth decay.

Where warm strong sunlight is available throughout the year, the child's body may be exposed to it in play, and the vitamin D in cod liver oil is less necessary; but in the northern latitudes sunlight, during the winter months, does not take the place of cod liver oil.

In rare instances, children may be unable to take cod liver oil because of its oiliness and its peculiar flavor, but much of the opposition to the oil comes from children who have heard adults express a distaste for it. The child who has always had his daily teaspoon of cod liver oil will not find it hard to take as long as it is not suggested to him that it is disagreeable.

The Bride's Boat

By Coralie Stanton and Heath Hosken

SYNOPSIS.

It was Kit Lenoure's twenty-sixth birthday. She'd worked four years as receptionist in a London family hotel and she felt herself in a groove. When an East African guest offers her a post in the Grand Afrien hotel, Soydoret, Kenya, she gladly accepts. Theo Sabie was there and Kit wanted him more than anything in the world. They'd been in love, and their engagement was broken because of his mother. Kit sails on the "Bride's Boat." Jess Sturtt is her cabin mate. Jess is going out to be married. Kit meets Lal Crowhurst, the richest landowner about Soydoret and a most attractive bachelor. He is attentive to Kit. Jess delights in telling Kit the scandal she hears about Lal Crowhurst and about "the unknown who owns him." Kit hears that Theo Sabie has taken up big game hunting in Africa. Jess is married the day after their arrival to Noel Graham, who manages Crowhurst's coffee plantations. Soydoret proves to be a paradise with many serpents and terrible powers of demoralization to weak natures. Kit takes up her duties in the hotel. She arranges a dinner party to be given by the widow, Ariel Grieve. Lal Crowhurst shows Kit through his place, Moon Fields. He gives a picnic and his property on Kit's day off. Theo Sabie arrives in Soydoret with a hunting party.

INSTALLMENT XXIII.

A DEBT OF HONOR.

"Didn't I ask you to wait, sweetheart? Didn't I tell you I'd come back for you? You didn't believe me?"

"I know, Theo, you wrote so beautifully, dear—O, I know I was wrong, but somehow it didn't seem as if you could mean it! I didn't think you could really care. I thought your mother would never let you marry me."

"My mother died a few weeks after I wrote you my last letter, Kit," he said, his voice falling to solemnity. "You never answered it. I thought you had forgotten all about me."

"I am so sorry. How hateful you must have thought me! It was my wretched, ugly pride, Theo. It was wicked; I can never forgive myself. I thought you put your mother before me." She was half sobbing with the excitement, the shock, the sudden realization of her dream.

"When shall we get married?" he asked.

He took her in his arms again.

"I never thought anything about you, darling, only that you are the sweetest, the loveliest girl in the world! Kit, you do love me still? Yes, I can see it in your eyes!

"Of course, I do," she said, under the spell of the old dream, her eyes full of happy tears.

At that moment the door opened to admit a group of people. They sprang apart, and Theo Sabie repeated his request for a room in the most businesslike tone, and Kit allotted him the best one she could possible manage, and asked him to sign the register.

But when a boy had taken him upstairs, why did depression and uncertainty touch her heart, like a small, cold hand? It was just nerves, of course. She was glad to have found him—desperately glad.

It was very quite at Snow View on that same night.

Ariel Grieve had just said good-by to Dr. Cardew, who had come to see her professionally and stayed to dinner.

She had been suffering from her old enemy, sleeplessness, on an intensive scale these last few days. Dr. Cardew told her she was very much below par generally. The sum of his advice was to go away from the colony for a change.

"It is no use your getting to depend on drugs, even the more harmless ones, my dear lady," he said. "I know that you have great will power and only use them when you can't help yourself. But it's a bad thing at the best. And I'm afraid the climate is against a case like yours."

"But isn't it a wonderful climate?" she had queried.

"Yes, it's a first rate climate for most people, but there's no doubt that it does affect the nerves of some in a curious way that we doctors don't yet understand. Some think it's the exceptional dryness of the air, and others suggest the monotony of the seasons and of the hours of daylight and darkness, and another lot hold the theory that white people were never meant to live on the equator, or else the Almighty would have put them there. While I was home just lately, I certainly heard of some very queer cases that nobody could explain. The fellows at the Schools of Tropical Medicine are hard at it all the time."

Now the doctor was gone, she believed he had really wanted to give her a bit of a fright. The last thing he said had certainly impressed her.

"I really do advise a complete change. Nerves are delicate things; it's never wise to fool with them. If they get hold of your brain, and particularly your emotions, they give you endless trouble."

It was interesting. Also what he had said about white people not being meant to live on the equator. Come to think of it, she believed it was true. There had been episodes in her life that rather proved it; more than one. One especially . . .

She passed her hand over her ashen hair with a weary gesture. It was queer she should feel like this when she had everything she could possibly want. The one last gift—freedom from the man she had hated. The return to her side of this other man, a prince among men, really, who had the key to the treasures of this world and was about to hand it to her.

Here he was! She heard his car pull up outside with its velvety elegance.

Crowhurst came in. How well he held himself, she thought! What a distinguished figure he was! How attractive that ironical look was on a face so handsome? Yes, she was very fortunate. Things had worked out well. Very few women could have had a lover turn into such an admirable husband.

He smiled at her as he took her hand, a smile of understanding in which the heart had no part at all.

"I thought it was time we had a talk, Ariel," he said.

"Sit down, my dear. Will you help yourself to a peg?"

"Not now, thanks." He drew a chair opposite to hers. His face was in the shadow; hers, ghostlike, with the smoky eyes and the lines of pain and stress round them, had the strange fascination of a Whistler portrait. "When shall we get married?" he asked. "And where?"

"Do you think the time has come?"

"Your husband has been dead more than six months. That is considered correct nowadays—under the circumstances."

"Lal, are you trying to be nasty?"

"I am not. Surely, we can talk plainly!"

"You are telling me that your don't want to marry me."

"I am doing nothing of the kind. I am asking you to fix the time and place for our marriage."

She smiled as she said in her light, meaningless voice:

"You are loyal, Lal. I understand. But you've lost your enthusiasm. The days of your love for me are over. 'They are not long, the days of wine and roses,'" she quoted with an air of soft amusement. "It's funny to think I can remember you, crazy with rage when Joseph wouldn't divorce me, raving at him. I can hear your voice now—'I will marry Ariel some day in spite of you, you dirty cur!' Yes, Lal, you are loyal."

He said nothing. Certainly, her husband had been a dirty cur. But he could not tell her what she would not understand, what no woman could ever understand, that he had detested her as much as he had loved her, sometimes turn by turn, often at the same time. And he had no illusions about her, either. She might have imagined that she loved him. Women were able to do that. It made things so much easier for them. But it was for his money and position that she wanted to marry him now. He did not tell her so, because she would only have denied it. It was her right to pretend that she loved him and was achieving her heart's desire.

It was the simplest of problems. He was a man and she was a woman. He had involved her in dishonor. There was only one thing to do.

All the same, he could not keep a certain gloom out of his eyes. It was that same dark, haunted look that Kit Lenoure had seen, only with a different application. It was the way Faust might have looked at the devil when he had to fulfill his bargain; the way all men and women who have contracted debts look when the time comes to pay.

Eskridge Dives to Study Color of Tropic Fish

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

ROBERT ESKRIDGE is back from a summer of painting on the island of Tahiti in the South Seas. An exhibit of his work has just opened in the Chester Johnson galleries, Fine Arts building, and if you really want a thrill you should waste no time before dashing to see these pictures.

They are as alive in their gleaming tints as so many jewels strung on the wall.

Mr. Eskridge came last year with his Tahitian trophies and his work was greatly applauded. This year it is much, very much, finer. He has pulled his sense of composition together and where last year his paintings were patterns, this year those patterns have been drawn, with a gentle, intelligent, delicate manipulation of the strings, into pictures. Where last year his spear-throwing natives on the hunt for fish were like a Greek frieze, this year a single native fisherman, Huri by name, is a superb picture of masculine strength and grace on the job of hurtling a spear with a fish for goal.

Mr. Eskridge learned to dive last summer and to stay under water for nearly two minutes, wearing a special sort of glasses over his eyes whereby he could comfortably and accurately make color notes of the wonderland under the sea. A number of his pictures are of the fish that dazzle the imagination in those waters. Coral fish, angel fish, the poison fish—Tatairihau—all of these the artist has painted for us as he saw them. Where he has worked them into large canvases they make a stunning decoration, and always they are lovely.

"Rain" is one of the most sensitive and beautiful canvases you will find anywhere. It marks his growth in power perhaps more than any of the other paintings although "Papeete Harbor" and "Copra Boat" set new marks for his ability. Several of the drawings are full of fascinating detail. You will enjoy the humor in "The Market" and "Papeete." Among the most intriguing paintings, and when they deal with water remark the translucent quality of that water, are "The Otea," "Burau Tree," "Nanon," "A Diver, Afternoon Light," "Siesta Under the Mangoes," "In the Blue Lagoon" and "Coral Fish, 34."

The exhibit will continue through the month. No one should miss it.

Prairie Club Will Hike from Tinley Park Saturday

Members of the Prairie club will hike from Tinley Park to Oak Forest tomorrow afternoon, leaving the La Salle street station at 1:30 o'clock. On Sunday a walk is schedule from River Grove to Des Plaines. The party will leave the Union station at 9 a. m., and return at 5:05 p. m. The public has been invited.

This Fellow Finds All Girls Are Not Fair Weather Pals

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Well, boys, there ARE girls who'll see you through the financial crisis in a manner befitting your ideas of a "regular." Read "Ex-High-Flyer" and believe that they're not all heartless when the money has fled:

"In my own case the depression has brought me face to face with a most embarrassing situation. I am a college man, out several years, and I have kept company with one young lady during that time. For years I commanded an extra good salary. During that time I showered expensive presents upon her.

"We belonged to the gayest set at the country club. She was extremely popular. We were always at the theater or dining out. We attended all the college games, etc.

"The stock crash took my reserve savings. Then my country club membership went. Then my motor car, then my job. And then my jewelry went into hock and I was reduced to a job of the most menial sort, with a mere starvation salary.

"The young lady could easily have side-stepped me, and I suggested it many times. She refused. She has a private income of her own and now that I am just able to see one picture show a week, she insists upon paying her own entrance fee. We dine at her home and we take long walks. She will not permit me to spend a cent on her.

"And lately I learned that she secretly rescued my pawned jewelry. And, believe it or not, we are not engaged. I am embarrassed and so are many young men these days. We're swallowing a lot of pride—but the ladies! God bless 'em."

That's one man's testimony in a crisis deeply concerning some of our very nicest young men. I'm loath to follow it up with "Saddened's" report, which is in not so happy a vein. But it might serve to show some of our more thoughtless girls how a "reduced" young man may feel.

"Saddened" says: "When we had it we fellows all strove to outdo the other and thus stand ace high in the ladies' esteem. Now, when we are reduced to a plane on which we simply cannot furnish entertainment, our absence seems preferable to hanging on.

"Don't you think we have pride and suffer when we have to ask the girl friend to attend the neighborhood movie on foot? Our many refusals and a few grudging acceptances testify to the fact that our girl friends fail to accommodate their ideas to the times."

Mother Sends Good Fellows Christmas Plea

In a basement flat in Orchard street a little girl is making plans for Christmas. She has informed her mother in the confident way of a 4 year old that Santa Claus is going to bring her a baby doll with real hair, and eyes that shut, and a whole wardrobe of little clothes, and that's why her mother has appealed to the Good Fellows.

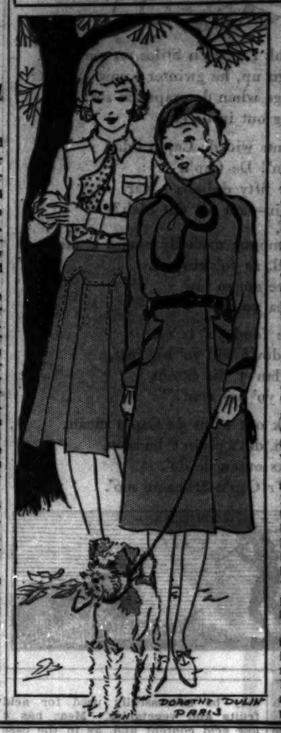
The little girl's eyes glisten as she remembers the presents she and her 6 year old brother got last Christmas. That was before her baby brother came—and before her father lost his job. But this year the child's mother waits in despair as the days slip by toward Christmas eve. Last year her husband was employed as an accountant. He brought home mysterious packages weeks before Christmas and hid them in strange places when the children weren't looking. But he has since lost his job and the family now lives in the basement flat.

The mother wrote to the Good Fellow department of THE TRIBUNE, asking for a few toys for her children. She didn't ask for a big dinner or anything for herself.

"It will be a tragedy if she does not get her wish," the mother said. "Please do this for my children. It is a hard letter for me to write—to ask for anything."

To enroll as a Good Fellow telephone Superior 0100 and ask for The Tribune Public Service bureau. You will be supplied with the name of a needy family.

Fashions for Young Miss as Chic as Sister's



BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—Paris has not forgotten to create a new ensemble for the young miss for the winter months. This ensemble could please the practical mother and is smart enough for any young daughter with an eye on her older sister's chic.

In the accompanying sketch you will see the full length coat, which is in a soft velvety-surfaced woolen, in the royal blue such a favorite in Paris now. There is a round high collar which ends in two tabs, but can be left hanging or one can be crossed over and buttoned, as illustrated. This collar has a narrow edge of black astrakan, which also makes the front of the belt, the back being in the coat material. Two large square pockets, with flaps for closing, are attached to this belt by means of tabs, which slip under the belt and are fastened over it. The pockets can be slipped off, of course, and the coat worn without. The coat is straight in line, and the sleeves, which are also straight, have diagonal bands of the caracul placed a few inches above the sleeve wrist, where they are out of harm's way.

The accompanying skirt is in the same blue soft woolen as the coat. It has a yoke which fits snugly over the hips, and is attached to a narrow band at the waist. It fastens on the left hip. The yoke gets its smartness by being cut out at the sides of both back and front, in two upside down V's. The skirt has four large box plaits, one at the center back and front, and one at each side.

The tailored blouse, with its round turned down collar and breast pocket, is worn inside the skirt, and is in the new silk jersey, like milanaise silk. It is in the palest blue, as is the foulard four-in-hand-tie, with its dark blue polka dots.

Boy Violinist Here for Concert Tomorrow at Orchestra Hall

Ruggiero Ricci, 11 year old boy violinist, arrived in Chicago yesterday for a concert engagement tomorrow night at Orchestra hall. The young prodigy is staying with Mr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Bartlett at the Ritz-Carlton hotel. Mr. Bartlett, Chicago real estate man and oil operator, has sponsored the youth's career since he heard him playing the violin at a private recital in San Francisco.

Chicago is the third and last appearance of young Ricci's latest concert tour during which he played in Baltimore and New York. From now on, according to Mr. Bartlett, the boy will have a good rest at his home in Los Angeles. Next year Ruggiero will study in Europe.

Seek New Name for Shop Helping Lying-In Hospital

Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank, chairman of the women's board of the Chicago Lying-in hospital on the Midway; Mrs. Charles King Corsant, chairman of the Birthday shop in the hospital, and Mrs. Max H. Sachs, chairman of the gift service committee, are the judges in a contest to give a new name to the shop.

Mrs. Barry Kempner, president of the mothers' aid of the hospital, that has taken over the operation of the shop, has offered a prize of $25 for the most appropriate name. Suggestions are to be mailed to Mrs. Sachs at 5100 Ellis avenue and the decision will be announced on Dec. 22.

Proceeds of the shop will go toward reducing the deficit which the Mothers' Aid pavilion incurs in providing medical attention during childbirth at a very small cost to the patient.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your digestive tract every day. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food just decays. It ferments and poisons instead of digesting. Then gases pile up, your stomach is sour, your breath is foul, your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable laxatives, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

Racketeer Old as Human Race, Author Asserts

by Links Moses, Romans, Barons, Capone.

"Rum Gain to Capone" by John [illegible]ay [Brennans].

The author of this devastating analysis of racketeering through the ages has had many years of newspaper experience in the west and in New York. For seven years he has lived in New York's "Hell's Kitchen." There he became intimately acquainted with important and unimportant gangsters and racketeers. He therefore "knows whereof he speaks."

In the outline of biblical times he demonstrates the various criminals and describes their rackets. Among those better known and more in line with our ideas of crime are Cain, Jacob who "with the help of his mother, Rebecca, became one of the most unscrupulous and tireless grafters in all history." Moses (because he sanctioned, by ignoring, the looting of the Egyptians), Abimelech, Joab, David and Jezebel. That section has the amusing title, "The Genesis of Racketeering."

"The Grafting that Was Greece," presents us with the astounding examples of Midas and Theristocles, who is modern times "would sit in agreement between Tweed and Croker." "The Crimes and Follies of the Golden Age of Greece" fame also are included.

The history of Rome's racketeering is the last days of the republic is one long series of shameless and criminal acts by most men in high stations, the author says, while in the middle ages the author finds a complete criminal and racketeering system in the strange order feudalism and later in the corruptions of the guilds.

The Italian Renaissance was full of grafters and racketeers. The most notable of these, according to Mr. McConaughie, were the Medicis, the D'Estes, the Viscontis, the Borgias and the Sforzas.

Francis Bacon, the famous philosopher, appears in this book as one of the most despicable men in English outstanding history, and Jonathan Wild greets us as the first real "king of gangdom" in early 18th century London. His beautifully organized system of crime compares favorably, in the eyes of the author, to that of modern gangsters.

In America it becomes evident, from the author's statistics, that we have had a tradition of lawlessness since the beginning of our history. Our present state is not a phenomenon at all but merely the natural result of our national habits. Neither the prohibition laws nor the prohibition law is responsible, in the opinion of the author.

The author contends that crime is not a product of modern times, but is "as old as the race, that it carries hate, even in method, from one age to another—and that regardless of party-creed, or form of government, it is ingrained in the social fabric of human communities, because it is ingrained in the individual.

"Racketeering," he says, "is based on one of the oldest and sincerest convictions of mankind—the conviction that labor is a curse; in the modern phrase, 'only fools work.'"

"The outlook on life, which goes back to the dawn of the race, and has basis in divine authority in the Old Testament, was indirectly responsible for the first murder as it will probably be for the last."

With the above as a suggested thesis is a sharp, critical and penetrating understanding of human motives and history. It is something of a shock to some of the author's own solecism to its problem of racketeering. This is part of the plan: "All that is necessary is that each of us as an individual duly realize that he will not do any of these things any more; that each of us will consistently reform himself when he goes to work on his neighbor . . . etc.

This is either a last bit of vicious irony or is simply "whistling through the work." The author goes on to say that guilt is ultimately personal and that theft along with oppression, starvation, slavery and their by-products are and always have been wrong. "This and wrong are immutable now and forever," he concludes.

Jane Addams to Use Nobel Cash for Peace

Friends Send Messages of Congratulation.

[Copyright: 1931: by the New York Times.]

OSLO, Dec. 9.—Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, and Jane Addams, founder of Hull house of Chicago, will share the Nobel peace prize for 1931, worth approximately $40,000.

Announcement of the award was made here today at a meeting of the Nobel institute in the presence of King Haakon VII., Crown Prince Olaf and high officials of the government, by Prof. Frederic Stang, president of the Nobel committee of the Norwegian parliament.

Prof. Halvdan Koht, a member of the Nobel committee, called attention to the fact that persons in the United States had received the peace award more often than those of any other country.

"I think all agree that this is very natural," he continued. "The United States is a world in itself—a vast area of peace where war is unthinkable. It is at the same time the biggest world power, with greater influence for war and peace than any other nation. All who want peace instinctively turn their eyes towards America, hoping for help from her.

"Miss Addams does not speak much," he resumed, "but her quiet, kind-hearted personality creates an atmosphere of good will which instinctively calls forth the best in all.

"She became the first woman of her land, nearly its first citizen. She did not always have public opinion with her at home or abroad, but she never surrendered her faithfulness and in her faithfulness she is genuinely American."

Butler Wants One Bank for All World's Gold.

New York, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Urging the eventual concentration of all the world's gold in an international bank, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, today acknowledged the award to him of the Nobel peace prize, and laid out a program, mainly economic to foster peace.

"War is all over," Dr. Butler said, "all the nations have to do is keep their promises. War is all over unless nations are liars."

He assailed Senator Hiram Johnson's effort to prevent a continuance of the debt moratorium.

Jane Addams to Use Money for Society She Founded.

Miss Jane Addams, head of Hull house, and Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, officially were awarded the 1931 Nobel peace prize. She will use her share, half of about $40,000, for the promotion of her efforts for world peace.

From her bed at Johns Hopkins hospital, Baltimore, where she is under observation for an illness, Miss Addams expressed her appreciation of the high honor. She said the money would be used for the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom. Miss Addams founded that organization in 1915, serving as its president for seven years.

In her home state of Illinois and her home city, Chicago, yesterday leaders of social, educational, and political life offered their congratulations. Gov. Emmerson from Springfield dispatched this telegram:

"I desire to congratulate you on the additional recognition and honor you have received through the Nobel prize for your long and splendid service in behalf of humanity."

Miss Edith Abbott, dean of the school of social service, University of Chicago, said: "Social workers in all parts of the world have been hoping that Miss Addams would be granted the Nobel prize."

Miss Sophonisba P. Breckinridge, professor of social economy, University of Chicago, declared: "Miss Addams' award has long been expected. She believes that the only good things which the human race has achieved have come out of cooperation, not strife."

Prof. A. J. Todd, head of the sociology department of Northwestern university, called Miss Addams "the greatest woman now living in America," and asserted that "her contributions to international peace as well as her settlement work will be a lasting monument to all womankind."

Official Contract

By Charles True Adams

(International bridge authority; author of "Official Contract at Sight.")

Shortly before the war occurred an exciting incident in a Yale-Harvard football game. Yale had the ball first down on Harvard's 4 yard line. From a Crimson viewpoint the situation looked desperate. Then there was a fumble and a Harvard man—I think his name was Coolidge—picked it up. Some one had taught him that a straight line was the shortest distance between two points. So he made a bee line straight for the distant goal posts and arrived there, ball and all.

South in yesterday's play-problem found himself in much the same psychological situation as the Harvard man who scooped up the fumble. The hand was:

NORTH
♠—K,10,4
♥—A,3
♣—A,K,10,3
WEST	EAST (Dealer)
♠—A,9,3,2	♠—6,5,3,2
♥—K,9,7,6,5,3	♥——
♦—10,3	♦—K,8,7
SOUTH
♠—None
♥—10,8,4,2
♦—Q,7,6,5
♣—Q,J,5,2

East opened the bidding with a spade. South passed. West bid three spades. Things certainly seemed desperate. South's hand was worthless against the spades. And then North bid four clubs, which East promptly overcalled with four spades.

But what a change had taken place. South's seemingly worthless hand had become charged with potent possibilities. As an assist for his partner's clubs it was worth four and a half supporting tricks (two and a half for the void spades—one for the Q of trumps and one for the five trump cards).

South came to with a jerk and bid five clubs, and all passed.

The play had certain elements of real interest, since it required skillful planning and the game was brought through establishing a card in a suit originally controlled by the opponents.

West opened the ♥ 4, dummy played the 7, West the J, and North the A. North then led the ♣ 3, which dummy took with the J, returning the ♦ 5; North finessed the ♦ J, and East took with the ♦ K. East now led the ♣ 4, which North took with the ♣ 10; North then proceeded to cash his ♦ A and 9 and the ♣ K, declaring that suit. To the eighth trick North led the ♦ 8, which dummy took with the ♠ 8; West dummy led the ♥ 10, West covered with the Q, which took the trick. West returned the ♠ 9, which dummy trumped with the ♠ 5. Dummy now led the ♥ 9. West put up the K, and North trumped with the ♠ A. North then led the ♠ 4, which he trumped in dummy with the ♣ Q. Dummy's remaining card, the ♥ 8, is now good. Five odd, the game, and much cheering from South.

It is obvious that if, at trick eleven, West had not put up his ♥ K, North would have let dummy's 9 go through, discarding a spade upon it.

By the way, I hope to get some very interesting hands from the finals of the Golden Card tournament, which will be played on Dec. 15 at the Palmer house in Chicago.

PLAY-A-PROBLEM: SOLITAIRE OR PARTNERS

Play this hand against four bridge players. Score a point for each hand you make in the bidding squares. After the final declaration has been made start the play, leading from the hand at the bottom of the diagram. As you play each card cross it off of the diagram and record it in the proper square, as W, N, E, etc. In the last square indicate the hand which won the round and lead from that hand on the next round.

Send your bridge problems to Charles True Adams, the Chicago Tribune bridge authority, in care of this newspaper.

Guten morgen!

Dolor steps aside for merriment on the Ufaton's screen, where the tragic "Zwei Menschen" has been supplanted by a farce comedy with decidedly phlegmatical leanings.

A regiment of the Imperial army and a servant girl are involved in a button-button plot as to who is the father of an expected "kleiner Unfall." Vater of an expected "kleiner Unfall." Vater is unknown to Mutter because, at a moment propitious for himself, Vater has fled through an open fenster, and, since, been seen no more by Mutter.

Well, the little town of Plowinkel is just all het up. Soldiers, civilians, and alibis go flying in every direction. In the meantime, the guilty man, through a clever ruse, gets himself sent to the guard house, where for three days he remains in safety. When his light o' love appears at roll call to point out the man who has done her wrong, lo, he is not there, but interestedly surveying proceedings from a barred window nearby.

Complications accumulate rapidly and comically, and the last reel of the picture is extremely amusing. The acting throughout is most commendable. The heroine you will remember as the peasant girl in "Zwei Menschen," the burgomaster's daughter as the feminine lead of "Zwei Hearts in Waltz Time," and the burgomaster's wife as the landlady in "A Student Song of Heidelburg."

Das Gelachter being gut for die Verdauung, I'd suggest "Drei Tage Mittelarrest" either just before or just after das Essen.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

WAGNER is credited with having once made the remark that "Die Meistersinger" is not only the greatest comic opera but the greatest opera ever written. After witnessing the performance last night one is inclined to the opinion that the famous Pole knows a good many things about music in addition to his own specialty of the piano.

This is a great opera and it had a great performance. With the exception of Miss Charnova, who took Maria Olszewska's former role of Magdalena and incidentally made a highly successful characterization of it, the cast was the same as that of late last season. The performance, however, was a little better than last season's, early or late.

Presumably it was feeling the effects of last season's breaking in, so that the stye and tube, the by-play, the tossing the ball of melody here and there was accomplished with a little greater flexibility and ease. But it has been noted heretofore that performances in general this season are brighter than they have been for a number of years, and "Die Meistersinger" came in for its share of additional sheen. Whatever the reason, the fact was obvious.

No more amusing scene will be found anywhere than the contest of wits and song between Mr. Bockelmann's Sachs and Mr. Habich's Beckmesser in the second act of the piece. It is amusing because it is so unforced, the natural expression between two types of craftiness, and it is followed at once by a marvel of a riot by the citizens of Nuremberg, done last night at a breath-taking tempo and with all the high spirits in the world.

Elsewhere in the course of the performance those who were there discovered some wonderfully fine singing from the tenor throat of Mr. Marson, the baritone of Mr. Bockelmann, and the bass of Mr. Kipnis. They also discovered that Mme. Rajdl has a great gift of winsome girlishness in voice and demeanor. If they had the memory of last season in mind, they likewise learned that Mr. Colzaira's David is greatly improved in song and manner, again the question of ease, as was Mr. Defrere's small bit of the watchman, this time a question of simplicity.

The hour grew too late to make it possible to stay for the end, but a report from the opera house tells that the solo, chorel, and orchestral proceedings of the final scene put a triumphant climax on the evening.

Nina Koshetz absent from Chicago since the season she was a member of the resident opera company, returned yesterday morning to give an unusually entertaining song recital at the Blackstone hotel. She stands well in the field of Russian song. Her repertoire is wide, many composers have dedicated their works to her, and she herself is a composer of merit.

Wherefore, in company with Gabriel Leonoff, tenor, and Vladimir Dubinsky, baritone, she took part in a program mostly, though not completely, of Russian, and with duets and trios as well as solos, generally of little frequently heard and often of highly attractive material. Mme. Koshetz explained her foreign works well and sang them better, and her assisting artists were both pleasants and artists in an enjoyable event.

School Lunch Helps to Keep Hearts Healthy

Children's Fund Praised by Mrs. Britton.

Cash Contributions to the Hungry School Children's fund will be received at the following Tribune offices: 1 South Dearborn street, 1101 East 63d street, and 4102 West Madison street.

By preventing undernourishment of thousands of boys and girls, and thus avoiding the diseases which culminate in heart ailments, the Hungry School Children's fund has been a valuable ally this winter of the Chicago Heart association, in the opinion of Mrs. Gertrude Howe Britton, executive director.

"We know that undernourishment, especially in children, leave them liable to contract all sorts of disease which weaken the heart," Mrs. Britton said. "That is why we are so grateful for the Hungry School Children's fund. We do not have to guess that in protecting these youngsters against malnourishment, it is saving us their care as cardiac cases in the years to come."

The fund will be the beneficiary this evening of the net proceeds of the annual winter dance under auspices of the West Side Retail Clerks association, to be held in the Gessmores hotel, Washington boulevard and Homan avenue. Mary Ann Jackson, child movie star and a member of the "Our Gang" comedies group, will be the guest of the organization and will entertain. Vaudeville acts also will be staged. Peter Divido's orchestra will play. Admission will be 75 cents.

From Harvard, Ill., yesterday came a pre-Christmas gift from three children who have read in THE TRIBUNE how many Chicago children must go to school hungry. It was a basket of apples and a fifty pound carcass of a yearling lamb, and was formally presented to the Grant school, 2438 West Wilcox street, by R. F. Marshall, itinerant attorney.

The lamb was raised by Mr. Marshall's sons, Hugh, 13 years old, and Robert, 6. The apples were donated by their neighbor, Irene Gretchen, 12 years old. The lamb will be served beginning next Monday to 360 children who are getting free lunches at the school.

Part of the proceeds of the sale of souvenirs at the exhibit of the world's smallest Bible, in the McClurg shops at 218 South Wabash avenue, have been pledged to the fund by M. H. Livingston of 5325 Harper avenue, the Chicago owner of the tiny volume. The book, which was made in Scotland in 1895, is insured for $15,000.

Contributions yesterday to the Hungry School Children's fund were:

Culbertsons Cut Rivals' Lead; Still Behind

Lens and Jacoby Ahead by Over 1,000.

New York, Dec. 11.—[Special.]—Protests and accusations characterized the third session of the challenge contract bridge match between Sidney S. Lens and Oswald Jacoby and Mr. and Mrs. Ely Culbertson. Play was interrupted several times at the Hotel Chatham last night while the participants called the attention of the referee to alleged violations of the contest rules by their opponents.

The lead of Lens and Jacoby was slightly reduced by the night's play, its margin of 2,075 points shrinking to 1,216 when Mr. and Mrs. Culbertson won the final rubber. Sixteen rubbers have been played in all, ten of them being won by the Lens team and six by the Culbertsons.

The Culbertson team won the first rubber, narrowing the Lens-Jacoby margin to 819 points. The Lens team took the second rubber and were 1,215 points ahead, but a redoubled four heart bid which w s set four tricks at the opening of the third rubber cost them 600 points and left the team only 615 in the lead.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

The greatest sufferers of the depression are children of unemployed and destitute parents. At least that is the opinion stated in a vigorous appeal by Walter W. Head, national president of the Boy Scouts of America. He compared the tendency here particularly among boys to form packs—like the "Bezprizorni" of Russian cities—that cruise in gangs about the streets of the various cities, stealing, robbing, house and store breaking, and not infrequently killing wayfarers for whatever plunder they may get.

Already in Chicago, Mr. Head points out, these same packs of boys are beginning to appear. He declares that one of the gravest dangers facing the community is the neglect of the welfare of boys whose parents, due to privations, are unfit for parental leadership and discipline. This results, he says, in the boys taking to the streets, and he asks that the demands of charities should not blind us to provide for mental health and moral welfare of boys who during these times find themselves deprived of advantages they lost when their father's employment was taken from him.

"The streets are the logical avenue of escape for boys in the homes which are lacking their financial independence," said Mr. Head, "and on the streets there is rapidly growing a spirit of lawlessness, of desperation, in the pursuit of any kind of pleasure or recreation which circumstances or opportunity might afford. The growth of this lawless spirit should bring the city up with a start to a realization of the extent to which present business conditions have affected our civic boy problem."

Mr. Head added that petty thieving is again becoming common, and that pickpocketing is common among boys not yet out of their teens. He pointed to the gangs which are developing without supervision and with a complete lack of principle. These, he says, spend their time cruising the streets and become shrewd and precocious and practice habits which heretofore adults with criminal tendencies dared to attempt.

A number of the churches and other organizations of this city have made definite and effective attempts to mitigate the problem, Mr. Head points out, in agreement with his opinion that these very boys can be restored to a normal vision and activity if the proper means are provided.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

Amid Smiles and Snickers.

I work for a large and well known firm and quite often they entertain groups of visitors, show them a display of different machines and end up with a dinner and a few speeches.

Often on these occasions I have been called upon to help wait on the tables and after all stomachs have been pacified we would fit about noiselessly from table to table gathering the dishes, taking great care not to disturb the speaker of the moment.

During one such affair everything had gone nicely and according to routine until I began gathering dishes. At one of the tables [and it had to be near the speakers' table] some one had spilled some gravy on the floor and, as I passed with a tray laden with dishes I slipped and landed with a terrific crash, with cups and plates rolling and bouncing in all directions.

Needless to say, there was an intermission, during which I gathered my wares amid smiles and snickers. But the worst was walking the full length of the room with all eyes on me.

Embarrassed? You say it for me.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

The long skirts have helped the lady with large calves and ankles, but since she's only the evenings in which to shroud them, they're not the blessing expected. It doesn't look as if daytime things are ever going to answer the plump legged's prayer.

And since dieting doesn't always whittle off the surplus poundage, it looks as if the poor sufferers were not going to get off without exercise. Dieting, as a rule, doesn't seem to extend its good work that far floorward. It's queer that it doesn't. Sometimes the flesh on the leg is flabby, and, if so, the general reduction brought about by diet may be successful in the leg area. But sometimes it is as hard as nails—and nothing but leg kicking and swinging and making bicycle circles will effect a change.

Up and down on the toes, up and down, up and down, fifty to seventy-five times a day! When you're doing this bring the hands up high overhead and clap, just for fun, and for further leg muscle stretching.

When you get tired of that one, run around the room, kicking the leg back and bringing it up as close to the buttocks as possible. One leg and then the other, and back again. Feel the pull on the leg muscles.

Then swing the right leg away out to the right, back in a semi-circle turn, forward over the same semi-circle curve. Put the other leg to work in ditto movement.

And, for final good measure, if you are in earnest about getting the legs reshaped according to the mode, lie down on the floor and do your bicycling act. Pretend you've got to get to the coast in a hurry and you're making your way on a bike. Anyway, grind away.

Now, if you haven't been leg exercising for years, you'd better just work on the first two for a few weeks. You may even need a bottle of liniment handy. Or hop into a tub of hot water to get the kinks out. Like horseback stiffness, the trick is to hop right back again the next day.

FARM AND GARDEN

TREATING VEGETABLE SEEDS.

Completion of a series of experiments on the treatment of vegetable seeds to determine the values of various precautions against disease have shown that one of the pronounced effects which must be watched most closely is that of the treatment on the seed itself rather than on the disease organism at which the procedure is aimed.

Growers often hesitate to treat valuable seed stocks because of the uncertainty as to how the vitality and longevity of the seed may be affected, in the opinion of Dr. E. E. Clayton, plant disease specialist of New York state agricultural experiment station.

Hot water treatments are considered especially hazardous when used on seeds of known low vitality. Two other types of treatments commonly used by vegetable growers and seedsmen consist of applications of copper and mercury dusts. The former were found to afford protection against decay in the soil. The mercury treatments, according to Clayton, were superior especially in the reports of growth stimulation and an increase in the vigor of germination of treated seed.

Reactions of seed to treatment were found beneficial especially with sweet corn, cabbage, cauliflower, cucumbers, cantaloupes, tomatoes, peppers, and beets. Practically no benefit was derived from treatment of string bean seed, while lima beans actually were harmed, according to the conclusion in the New York survey.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Wearing Apparel Needed.

"I have four children and they all need clothing. The girls are 14, 12 and 6 years old and the boy is 12. If any of your readers could spare children's clothing in these sizes and a bath robe for me, size 42 or 44, it would help so much. I am pregnant and my husband, who has just returned from the hospital, has been out of work for over a year.

"MRS. J. B."

Illness, unemployment, and the prospect of another mouth to feed have given this poor mother a great deal to be concerned about. Can you relieve her of some of her burden by providing the wearing apparel she and her family need?

All Children Need Patient Handling After an Illness

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

Yesterday in talking about convalescence and the aftermath of children's long or serious illnesses, I mentioned that mothers should be on the watch so they can learn to recognize certain behavior difficulties as the result of pain, shock, or depletion, and act accordingly. Many inexperienced mothers come to this knowledge through mistakes that are hard on them and hard on the child. A word of advice based on experience may save them both.

One of the first things mothers need, once they understand the cause of these newly sprouting behavior troubles, is to be patient with them. A child who has been normally quite free from unevenness may develop an easy irritability, or a quick temper, or even a sort of tantrum. Patience must be on tap.

Another way of dealing with these signs is to ignore them. It is important that no issue be made of these slips. By ignore I don't mean to ignore your child, but rather ignore or overlook the behavior. If you meet these difficult times in a calm, affectionate way without being disturbed, you will find it has a quieting effect on your child.

When these times of discontent, irritability, or even tears occur, you often need to keep reminding yourself that the condition is only temporary. You must try not to think of your child as permanently changed. Nor must you let yourself develop a corresponding irritability to his, or scold or punish him.

This patience and forbearance don't mean that you do nothing else to help restore your child to his normal, happy and contented self—but they are important and gentle ways of marking time until nature has had a chance to do her restoring work. For one additional thing, you will take extra physical care of him after an illness. You will see he has the foods he especially needs, that he has extra rest, that he is not allowed to overdo, and that he has lots of fresh air. So much for the physical.

On the other side, he should have pleasant and interesting things to do. Diversion and cheerfulness are indirect ways of helping back to bodily and mental poise. They are very healing things.

Society Finds New Thrill in "Lab" of Crime

PERSONS invited by Col. and Mrs. Calvin Goddard to visit the Scientific Crime Detection laboratory of Northwestern university are finding the experience more thrilling than a mystery play and far more fun than the recently popular game of "Murder." One evening recently a group including the Edward I. Cudahys, the Sterling Mortons, Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Robert E. Wood, George High, Mrs. Hearn Owsley, the Carroll H. Sudlers and the Burt Massons spent several exciting hours watching the operation of the elaborate crime detection equipment that has been installed by Col. Goddard and his staff.

They saw the intricate process by which Col. Goddard traces criminals' guns from fatal bullets. The spectators learned how, from an infinitesimal clew such as a strand of hair or a piece of thread, the criminologist may determine the identity of a criminal.

The lie detector provided a lot of fun when Gen. Wood volunteered to serve for a demonstration of the machine's powers. The general was given a card and then each person in the crowd held up a card and asked him if it were a duplicate of the one he had. Gen. Wood, as per instructions, gave a negative answer to each questioner. The uncanny machine registered "liar" when the duplicate card was presented.

Great Variety of Holiday Services by Novel Bureau.

The announcements received yesterday from Mrs. Frank Hibbard's novel little bureau are sure to have lifted a load from the shoulders of many busy women for delivering Christmas gifts is a chore in these days of hustle and bustle. The announcements read as follows: "Let Conveniences save you annoyances. Christmas gifts delivered in Chicago and Lake Forest at 25 cents apiece by Conveniences, 106 East Oak street. Names and addresses should be written legibly and parcels to be delivered must be left at 1301 Astor street in care of Mrs. Frank Hibbard not later than Tuesday, Dec. 22." All proceeds of Conveniences go to charity so by letting Conveniences deliver your gifts, you are helping others as well as yourself. Soon Conveniences is to inaugurate two new services which certainly should help to make life less complex for those who find city life too busy — boys from Conveniences will exercise dogs, and the bureau will give to persons in institutions or to those who are without means for luxuries, tickets to theaters, lectures, hockey matches, etc., which the purchasers of the tickets are unable to use.

The Friends of Opera started a similar service for music students some years ago and each season many young women and men, who are studying music and who otherwise could not attend the opera, are able to enjoy performances through the generosity of patrons who give to the music students' committee the tickets they cannot use.

There's no doubt that the Casino ballroom will be packed tonight for the Eli Bates dinner dance, because Miss Margaret Farwell has been receiving checks for reservations at a great rate ever since the affair was announced several weeks ago. The committee in charge has arranged for a pianist to play popular selections between the dance numbers and there will be entertainment by Texas Guinan and some of her troupe. The big feature of the evening will be, of course, the drawing for the diamond bracelet.

Mrs. C. M. Ely Gives Luncheon for Debutantes Today.

Mrs. C. Morse Ely is giving a luncheon today at her residence, 1301 Astor street, for some of the season's debutantes. Mrs. Ely is busy with preparations for a visit from her son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Morse Ely, and their three children, who are coming up from their plantation near Thomasville, Ga., to spend the holidays in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. James Ward Thorne are giving a dinner dance tonight at their residence, 1200 Lake Shore drive, for Miss Pauline Perry, debutante daughter of the I. Newton Perrys. There will be about 50 at the party.

Katherine G. Rogers Will Be Wed Today in New York.

The wedding in New York today of Miss Katharine Gamble Rogers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Gamble Rogers, to De Forest Van Slyke will be a small affair, with the guests limited to members of the families and a few close friends, but there will be a larger crowd at the reception after the ceremony at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Jenks [the former Mabel Runnells]. The marriage ceremony will be performed at the residence of Miss Gamble's parents.

Among the Chicagoans who have gone east for the wedding are the bride's brother, James Rogers Jr., who is living this year with his grandfather, Albert M. Day, and studying at the Northwestern School of Commerce; the bride's uncles, Hopewell and Bernard F. Rogers, and her aunt, Mrs. Tiffany Blake. Mrs. Leeds Mitchell, who was unable to attend the wedding, reports that her niece and nephew-to-be have received a marvelous array of wedding presents to be installed in their new home at Cedarhurst, L. I. Miss Rogers plans to continue her work as executive director of the Association of Junior leagues when she returns from her wedding trip.

Mary H. Bradley Tells How Africa Feels Now.

Mary Hastings Bradley, who talks of cannibals and jungle beasts as casually as most women discuss new recipes, presented her newest illustrated lecture, "Sultans and Savages," before a large and responsive audience yesterday morning at the Woman's Athletic club.

The lecture is mostly a record of the expedition which the Bradleys, with their daughter Alice and Dean Harry A. Bigelow of the University of Chicago made last winter into the African Equatorial region, plus a few pictures and outstanding incidents of some of their numerous other trips into the dark continent.

Mrs. Bradley told the story with her characteristic humor and repertorial gift for interesting details. The feminine audience appreciated especially her comments on domestic lives of the ebony kings who rule peacefully over households of from 10 to 100 wives; the picture of the cannibal ruler who, since the depression and decline in the price of palm oil can now afford only 250 instead of 900 wives; her story about the settlement where only the men wear clothes, because the women are far too modest to attract attention by wearing covering of any sort, and the pictures showing the painful methods by which some African beauties acquire abnormally long heads and perforated skins.

After the lecture Mrs. Bradley had luncheon with the president, Mrs. Raymond C. Dudley, Mrs. Alfred C. Tyler, program chairman, Mrs. William Nelson Pelouze and some of the other directors. Among those present were Mrs. Edward F. Swift with her daughter and granddaughter, Mrs. Huntington Henry and Miss Hortense Henry; Mrs. William J. Chalmers, Mrs. Robert B. Whitaker, Mrs. Allan M. Clement, Mrs. Wilhelm L. Baum. Mrs. Adolph S. Boericke, Miss Lillian Dudley, Mrs. William J. Sinclair, and Miss Margaret Sinclair.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Senior Return from the East.

Mr. and Mrs. John L. Senior of 229 Lake Shore drive have returned from the east, where they spent Thanksgiving with their daughter, Mary, who is a student at the Concord academy. Miss Senior will be at home for the Christmas holidays, although the date of her return is uncertain; John L. Jr. will arrive on the 20th from the Santa Barbara school in California.

Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey B. Blair and Mrs. Blair's daughter, Miss Katharine Daniels, have come in from Lake Geneva and are at 70 Cedar street for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. George F. Noyes of Evanston are being congratulated on the birth of a son, Thomas Ellis Noyes, at the Evanston hotel Wednesday night.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Dec. 10.—[Special.]—President and Mrs. Hoover gave the annual state reception to the diplomatic corps this evening, the first of those receptions for this season.

Arrangements for the party were as usual, with the procession down the state stairway to the blue room. There the hosts received their 1,500 or 2,000 guests. The Marine orchestra in the front corridor played during the reception and later for dancing in the east room. Mrs. Hoover wore a gown of corn color taffeta with a lace yoke. Five new ambassadors and a number of new ministers attended the reception. Several of them had served at this post at another time and one or more had been here in other rôles.

The new dean of the corps, the Italian ambassador, made his appearance in that rôle for the first time. There were many members of the American diplomatic corps who are on vacations in this country.

Mrs. Edward Everett Gann was the guest in whose honor Mrs. Absalom Waller entertained a company of 35 at luncheon today at the National Woman's Country club.

Mrs. Jacob Baur of Chicago, Republican national committeewoman for Illinois, arrived today at the Mayflower and will remain until after the meeting of the Republican committee Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Storey of Chicago are spending a week at the Mayflower.

Mrs. Hitchcock, wife of former Senator Gilbert N. Hitchcock of Nebraska, was hostess at luncheon today at the Mayflower.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, Dec. 10.—[Special.]—Mrs. Theodore Frelinghuysen from Tuxedo Park, who is at the Plaza, gave a dinner there last night followed by contract bridge. Mrs. Frelinghuysen will go to her Palm Beach home, Southways, early in January.

Invitations have been issued for the marriage on Jan. 1 of Miss Phebe Hart Vail, daughter of Mrs. Thomas Vail of Troy, to Philip Ferdinand Kobbe 3d, son of Mrs. Mary W. D. Kobbe and Philip Kobbe of this city.

Mrs. John T. Pratt will be hostess this year for members of the Pratt family on the occasion of its Christmas reunion on Dec. 23. The family group will number nearly 100.

Movie Gossip as It's Heard in Hollywood

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 10.—[Special.]—A grand family reunion of the O'Briens and Taylors is scheduled for this week and the Christmas holidays. The reunion gathers the parents of Pat O'Brien, stage and film star, and of Eloise Taylor, his wife, stage actress.

The couple met each other when they were co-starring in Chicago on the stage in "Broadway" and married later in New York. Then O'Brien was hastily brought here to play in the picture version of "Front Page"; the haste prevented his meeting his wife's folks, and she did not meet his. So Pat and friend wife sent out invitations to the respective parents and parents-in-law to come to Hollywood for Christmas. Mr. and Mrs. William O'Brien came on from Milwaukee and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Taylor came on from Des Moines, both groups of parents getting instructions to board the same train in Kansas City.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

N. U., MICHIGAN OPEN DEAL FOR 1932 GRID GAME

Purple Asks Release from Stanford.

BY ARCH WARD.

Michigan and Northwestern, which this year shared with Purdue the western conference football championship, will meet at Ann Arbor Oct. 8, 1932, provided Northwestern is released from a contract to play Stanford at Palo Alto, Cal., on that date.

Fielding H. Yost, director of athletics at Michigan, yesterday conferred with Kenneth L. Wilson, Northwestern's athletic chief, in regard to the proposed encounter.

Northwestern has asked Stanford for a release from its 1932 game and has promised to make the trip to the coast in 1934. Stanford comes to Evanston in 1933, World's Fair year. The Stanford athletic board is expected to act on Northwestern's request within a day or two.

Move Michigan State Game.

Michigan is scheduled to play Michigan State on Oct. 8, but arrangements have been made to move up the contest to Oct. 1. This necessitated a shift in the Michigan State card for Oct. 1, but this complication also has been adjusted.

Whether or not the Wildcats and Wolverines get together next fall is up to Stanford.

While neither Michigan nor Northwestern wanted to play so early in the season, it was the only date available. Both Yost and Wilson, who confessed disappointment over the failure of the two schools to meet in the charity game at Soldiers' field Nov. 28, are anxious to get a series under way. There is a natural rivalry between the teams that would tend to make their meetings extremely profitable.

Last Meeting in 1925.

Michigan has not played Northwestern since 1925, when the Wildcats won by 3 to 2 in a mud battle at Soldier Field. Michigan won in 1924, 21 to 6. Previous to that the teams had not met since 1919, when Michigan carried off the honors, 16 to 13.

Substitution of Michigan for Stanford on Northwestern's 1932 schedule would help to relieve the wear and tear certain to result from the long midseason trip to the coast. The Purple is billed at Champaign the next Saturday, Oct. 15.

STANFORD TO ACT SOON

Palo Alto, Cal., Dec. 10.—[Special.]—Graduate Manager Masters of Stanford today admitted receipt of a request from Northwestern university of Chicago which has a home and home contract calling for a game at Stanford on Oct. 8, 1932, and a game with Stanford at Northwestern in 1933, stating that Stanford authorities return the data in order to make possible a game between Northwestern and Michigan.

The Northwestern request suggests by agreement be altered to call for a 1932 game in the middle west and also a game at Stanford in 1934.

The manager said he had not yet been able to call a meeting of the student board of athletic control to discuss the request, but hopes to have a definite answer before the meeting of the Pacific Coast conference which takes place next Monday in San Francisco.

SCHAAF SCORES 4 KNOCKDOWNS; WINS IN THIRD

Cleveland, O., Dec. 10.—(AP)—Ernie Schaaf, Boston heavyweight, was awarded a technical knockout over Maxie Simms of Cleveland at the end of three rounds of their scheduled ten round fight here tonight. Simms' seconds threw in the towel at the end of the third round after Simms had been knocked down four times.

Lee Brouillard, world's welterweight champion, won on a foul from Paul Simms of Cleveland in the seventh round of their scheduled ten round bout.

INDIANA CENTRAL DROPS FOOTBALL FROM SPORT CARD

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 10.—(AP)—Indiana Central college has dropped football from its athletic program, President I. J. Good announced today. He said all games scheduled for next year would be canceled.

"Football costs the college more than both the other major sports and the returns are less," Dr. Good said. To make up for football, a physical training program has been mapped out and the funds usually appropriated for football will be used for physical education."

Meehan Gave N.Y.U. What It Sought, So—

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 10.—The Daily News, the student paper of New York university, which might well be called the Daily Serpent's Tooth, is demanding the removal from his job of Chick Meehan, the football coach who, by his own methods, elevated New York U. from the bush league class in football to major league rating.

The Daily News says Mr. Meehan stands for such evils as the recruiting of players, lavish entertainment of prospects, subsidies, and the infliction of physical punishment on delinquents.

—o—

Except the item of the physical punishment of delinquents, which has an interesting sound and would have been elaborated into a separate story if the editors of the Daily News had had good journalistic sense, this always has been the popular understanding of the football system at New York U.

During Mr. Meehan's régime it is hardly news. He was brought in during the boom-time to produce football teams and draw big gate receipts and the university accepted him and his methods and became a partner in such crimes as he may have committed against the ideal of amateurism with full knowledge of what he was doing. But the Daily News stops short in indicting Mr. Meehan alone because if what he has done is wrong then the president of the university should not have let him do such things.

And if the president didn't know what he was doing, it was nevertheless part of his job to know, considering that the football team was the most famous department of the school and one of its great financial interests.

Lowell of Harvard knows what the Harvard athletic department is doing. But there is no question that the university gave consent to Mr. Meehan's methods and, if his methods were evil, willingly accepted the wage of shame.

There is reason to surpect that the Daily News was not the original author of the attack on Mr. Meehan. He has been receiving a big salary, popularly supposed to be $18,000 a year, and now that he has had a bad season and his contract is expiring it is natural that the jealousy of the academic side should become active again. This is a familiar situation in such cases. And an authority on college journalism informs me that persons wishing to break into the adult press with ideas which might not be acceptable on direct suggestion quite often achieve the desired result by dropping them into student publications first. Then they take on an appearance of precocity and authority and the metropolitan papers pick them up and give them prominent display, as has been done in the present case.

—o—

Of course, if Mr. Meehan has been doing wrong, according to the standards of amateurism, to which all schools, even New York U., at least pay lip service, then such practices should be discontinued. But New York university cannot afford to brand Mr. Meehan and repudiate him without committing an offense much worse than mere participation in his alleged misdoings and the profits therefrom. In that case New York U. would be squealing on a pal. If Mr. Meehan is discharged or is not retained on any such grounds as those set forth by the Daily News he could sum up his defense in one phrase, "They knew what they wanted."

—o—

Football, as Meehan ran it at New York U., has been no private enterprise of the football coach but an activity of an official department of the university itself. The community respects a man who decides to go on the water wagon for the good of his body and soul, but it does not respect him for leading the prohibition agents around to his late favorite speakeasy and putting the finger on the bartender.

This is a season of the year when a violent reaction against football always sets in. It is an emotional game and, more than that, an emotional public issue for three months in the fall. When the football season is over there is a sort of national katzenjammer, especially severe in the schools where the team has been slightly disappointing and more so in schools where the receipts for any reason have not met the future commitments. It is likely to be more severe than ever this year because the depression hit football, too.

LIGHT HEAVIES BEGIN RACE FOR CROWN TONIGHT

10 Box First Round Bouts at Stadium.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Ten professional boxers of the 175 pound dimension will begin the long, long trek to the light heavyweight championship of the world at the Chicago Stadium tonight.

They will engage in five eight round struggles and are the first in a field of 34 to go into action in the title tournament arranged and sanctioned by the National Boxing association.

Ten more in the field will fight a week later and there will be bouts at frequent intervals until only two are left. Then this pair of battle scarred gladiators will come together and the fellow who wins will be crowned world's champion; he will be presented with a belt emblematic of the title; and if he wants, he can go right on ahead and fight Maxie Rosenbloom.

There'll Be No Draws.

If you are not acquainted with Mr. Rosenbloom, well, he was the world's champion until a few months ago when the National Boxing association decided he didn't defend his title often enough. So it ups and jerks the crown right off Maxie's brow. Then it decides to give it to the winner of the Chicago tournament.

There are many features of the tournament that have caused it to catch on in Chicago. In the first place there will be no draws. Gen. John V. Clinnin, president of the National Boxing association, announced the ruling last night. It is the first time professionals have ever come together in a Chicago ring without being priviledged to fight a draw if they wanted to.

Another item is that the boys fighting for the championship receive very little money for their preliminary struggles. Each lad on tonight's program gets four per cent of the gross receipts. That will amount to something, of course, but it is far short of the 25 and 30 per cent they have been fighting for when they were big shots associating with a lot of preliminary performers.

Favorites Box Tonight.

Except for Rosenbloom and perhaps Jimmy Slattery every first flight light heavyweight in the world has been entered and four of the boys that the betting sharpshooters like extra well and who rule as tournament choices, are on tonight's program.

They are Billy Jones, called the new Sam Langford by his neighbors in Philadelphia; Owen Phelps, the Phoenix, Ariz., cowboy; Dave Maier, the Milwaukee left hander, and Baxter Calmes, who the lads around the loop say is so tough that he never would have got a first rate light heavyweight to meet him had a tournament of this sort not come along. Calmes has been trained for the tournament by chasing the turkey and the deer on Ed Stevenson's place in the Wisconsin northwoods. The old punch? Well, Baxter didn't need to improve the wallop, his followers say.

Pick Order by Draw.

The luck of the draw tosses two of the favorites, Jones and Phelps, into action tonight. Maier meets Roy Williams of Chicago, who at times fights like a champion. Mario Campi of Italy is to be the Calmes foe. The Harry Ebbets-Willie Oster combat should be a slugging match as long at it lasts, whole Humberto Curi of the Argentine and Clyde Chastian of Dallas may turn in the most exciting scrap of the lot, albeit it hasn't created an awful lot of advance talk.

Wood Elected Head of Western Golf Association

R. Arthur Wood of Bob o' Link last night was elected president of the Western Golf association at the annual meeting at the Midday club. Other officers, all on the regular ticket, are:

Norman B. Freer, Hinsdale, and Harold C. Gifford, Exmoor, vice presidents; Henry C. Bartholomay, Lake Geneva, secretary; D. C. Hardenbrook, Skokie, treasurer; Henry A. Gardner, Indian Hill, general counsel; Everett S. Seaver, Los Angeles; Lowry Arnold, Atlanta, Ga.; G. H. Raleigh, Portland, Ore.; C. F. Young, Dayton, O., and George W. Snyder, Topeka, Kas., directors.

MIDDIES CHEER AS GRID SQUAD OF 44 DEPARTS

Drill Rougher Than Planned.

The team was put through a dummy scrimmage drill just before departure, which developed into a much rougher session than had been planned. Stress was laid to stopping line thrusts, specialties of Stecker and Kilday, aces of the soldier back field.

CADETS SCRIMMAGE

West Point, N. Y., Dec. 10.—(AP)—Army's varsity, preparing for the Navy game Saturday, went through a long scrimmage today against a team composed of coaches and other former Army stars.

The coaches' lineup included Charley Born and Doyle at ends; Biff Jones and Babe Bryan, tackles; Hillsinger and Ellinger, guards; Moe Daly, center; Garr Davidson, quarter back; Harry Wilson and Red Cagle, half backs, and Red Reeder, full back.

Opposed to this all star eleven, Maj. Ralph I. Sasse lined up an Army varsity consisting of King and Kopcsak, ends; Price and Suares, tackles; Trice and Summerfelt, guards; Evans, center; Roxy Carver, quarter back; Stecker and Brown, half backs, and Kilday, full back.

At 6 o'clock the squad of 40 players proceeded by bus to Briarcliff, where they will remain in seclusion until Saturday morning.

As interest in the struggle increased steadily tonight it appeared that the 80,000 seats in the ball park would be sold with the unemployment fund profiting to the extent of about $400,000.

Badger Sports Council Again Delays Thistlethwaite Case

BY WILFRID SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Madison, Wis., Dec. 10.—Glenn Thistlethwaite still is head football coach of the University of Wisconsin, as far as the athletic council is concerned. At the second consecutive session of the council, which was concluded this afternoon after three hours, the council did not bring up the question of retention of Thistlethwaite.

Last night the athletic council devoted six hours to consideration of financial readjustment of the department of athletics. They adjourned then to meet again at 3:30 this afternoon with the general assumption that Thistlethwaite's status would be the major item of business.

And So to Bowling Meet.

After three hours the council adjourned. Six of the members are faculty men, and they hastened home for late dinners and then were said to be headed for the weekly competition of the university faculty bowling meeting.

In their anxiety to get away the council did not report its action to the reporters from Milwaukee, Chicago, and Madison who had spent more than nine hours waiting for the deliberations to reach a conclusion.

The athletic council also did not announce when they would meet again to consider the reorganization of the athletic department. Later Glenn Frank, president of the university, was reached by telephone and he confirmed the report that no action had been taken on the status of Thistlethwaite.

"The announcement last night," President Frank said, "which stated that personnel changes involved in the application of policies would not be announced prior to completion of the program and its consideration by the faculty and board of regents is the final word of the athletic council at this time."

Blame Alumni, Depression.

The turmoil of threatened legislative investigations of the athletic department of the University of Wisconsin probably was made possible by alumni criticism of Thistlethwaite and by the depression which has been reflected acutely in football receipts. Certainly the reduced income from football at Wisconsin can not be blamed entirely on football teams which have ceased to be ranking drawing cards.

But the decline of Wisconsin on the gridiron and the period of depression has brought about an economic crisis in Badger athletics which George Little, director, and the athletic council considers more important that selection of a head coach.

The meeting of the athletic council last night devoted more than five hours to consideration of the proposed expenditures for 1932 and 1933. In the main, the council accepted the recommendations of Director Little for retrenchment.

Council in Authority.

The athletic council, composed of ten, six of whom are faculty members, three alumni and one a student, constitutes the direct authority over Little and his department. Their decisions on hiring and firing coaches are final unless reviewed by the board of regents of the university. This, in the past, has never been done.

The reduction in proposed expenditures for next year centers on the following points approved last night by the council:

1. "That the budget base for Interscholastic athletics for the coming year, in the light of estimated receipts of $150,000, be tentatively allocated as follows: [a] Fieldhouse obligations, $30,000; [b] contingent fund, $20,000, and [c] athletic program, $100,000, which represents a drastic reduction in the budget from the current year.

2. "That a salary schedule be established in terms of the salary scale of the university as a whole, with due regard to unavoidable Big Ten relationships.

Reduce Coaching Staff.

3. "That the administrative and coaching staffs be reduced to the minimum consistent with efficiency.

4. "That consideration be given to the feasibility of centralizing the business management of athletics in the office of business manager of the university.

"Such personnel changes as may be involved in the application of these policies will not be announced prior to the completion of the program of readjustment and its consideration by the faculty and regents."

Director Little has proposed the following schedule of expenditures for next year. These are under the maximum expenditure of $100,000 approved by the council. Little's proposals are:

Salaries	$46,735
Equipment	17,933
Transportation of teams, room, board	14,800
Miscellaneous	10,635

Football to Get Majority.

Football salaries	$18,725
Equipment	11,000
Travel	6,500
Awards, officials, meals, etc.	5,600

The current fiscal year shows the following division of expenditures for football:

Salaries	$18,925
Equipment	15,000
Travel	9,000
Awards, officials, meals, etc.	9,000

CUT BIG LEAGUE PLAYER LIMIT FROM 25 TO 23

Commissioner K. M. Landis and his sixteen jolly baseball magnates, representing the National and American leagues, held their annual unity meeting at the Drake hotel yesterday and passed legislation which will keep 32 bench warmers from getting major league splinters in their bloomers after June 15.

The nabobs reduced the player limit from 25 players to 23. Various magnates had suggested limits as low as 20 for each club, but 23 was the mark which gave the greatest satisfaction to the largest number of clubs. The reserve allotment was fixed at 15, as formerly.

It's Partly for Economy.

The action was taken partly as an economy measure, although there has never been any minimum requirement for any club. In other words, legislation was not needed to permit any club to cut its roster down to 23 players.

Some of the weaker clubs have contended that their stronger brethren have corralled able players not needed on the stronger nines but capable of improving the second division outfits. There are many who believe that the subterfuges of the reserve system will enable the boys who are overstocked with talent to outslick their suffering brethren.

The magnates also voted to continue the shortened season, playing the prescribed 154 games. The 1932 season will open on Tuesday, April 12, and will close Sunday, Sept. 25, two days earlier than last season. There had been suggestions that the number of games be increased and also that the season be lengthened a little for playing of the 154 game schedule.

Tough for Bargain Boys.

Synthetic double headers established by arbitrary moving up of scheduled games were made more difficult to arrange as a result of action in the joint meeting. In its separate meeting the American league went on record as against the bootleg double headers, but the National countered with the suggestion that manufactured double headers could be arranged simply through the consent of the presidents of the two clubs involved.

Yesterday each league decided that no synthetic bills may be arranged except through the consent of both contending clubs and the president of the league.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Shamrocks last night achieved the double satisfaction of protecting their prestige as leaders of the American Hockey league by bowling over their jinx foes, the Duluth Hornets, at the Chicago Stadium.

The score of their sweet revenge was Chicago 4, Duluth 1.

Previously this season the Hornets had stung the green and white boys twice and, counting last year, had rung up six triumphs in ten starts.

It was apparent at the outset that the Chicagoans were in a victory mood. It was deemed probable that they were feeling pretty mean as a result of the way Kansas City spanked them, 1 to 0, in the closing minutes of a double overtime game their last time out. This attitude, combined with the desire to get even for past mistreatment at the hands of Duluth, resulted in one of the most pleasing exhibitions of the current season.

Almost a Shutout.

The Shamrocks were consistently aggressive throughout and apportioned their scores one to each of the first two periods, then wound things up with a pair in the final heat. Peewee Wiseman was the hot shot of the evening, what with two goals and an assist, but his mates, though not so successful in the tabulating department, were by no means eclipsed by the endeavor of the little red head.

Gus Forslund, on a pass from Laurie Scott, staved off a shutout for the Hornets within a minute after the Shamrocks made their third goal.

The Shamrocks decidedly were the aggressors throughout the first period, and it was just that their rapid efforts should have been rewarded with the 1 to 0 lead which prevailed at the end of the session.

The Chicagoans opened up after five minutes had elapsed. The first big threat was when Riley and Wiseman succeeded in keeping the puck bouncing around in front of the cage, but neither could quite get in a position to bust the disk home.

O'Neill Scores.

After the halfway point in the period Wiseman, Preisnik, and Buswell ganged up and a more or less furious onslaught appeared to soften up the defense.

At any rate, a score followed shortly after alternates came on the ice. McFadyen got the rubber near the left boards, hole high, and when he slid it in front of the cage O'Neill dashed in and rode the puck right past Goalie Turner. The time was 13:31.

There was continual action during the remainder of the period, which included two fights between Gloomy Lessard and Bouncer Taylor.

The Shamrocks' sterling seal in the second period was not rewarded until the final minute of the session. In 19:03 Wiseman took a neat pass from Riley and banged it into the net for run No. 2.

Boys Do Well.

The period included some nice skating, passing, and shooting, especially by Clayton, Burns, Brydson, Smith, and Headley, but, as previously recorded, the cash-in didn't come in until almost time for the buzzer which ended the period.

Score No. 3 was registered in 8:59 of the final period as the result of a skilled pass to Burns from Wiseman.

After making their third score, the Shamrocks tried to relax for a minute or so, a circumstance that encouraged Forslund to take a pass from Scott and shoot the puck into a wide open net, Goalie Karakas being in a dramatic skid at the time.

Wiseman topped off his stellar work of the evening by shooting his second and the Shamrocks' fourth goal in 17:19.

55 NAMED FOR AGUA CALIENTE'S $120,000 STAKE

Phar-Lap to Come from Australia.

AGUA CALIENTE, Mexico, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Fifty-five thoroughbreds were nominated for the third renewal of the $100,000 added Agua Caliente handicap here March 20, Jockey club officials announced today. Included in the list were some of the best American stake horses, Phar-Lap, the great Australian money winner, and Marine, Canadian champion and son of Man o' War.

The nomination of H. Telford's Phar-Lap and the Mount Royal stable's Marine gave the handicap an international flavor for the first time.

The Agua Caliente handicap replaced the Cofroth handicap, renewed ten times by Jim Cofroth between 1917 and 1929, when the old Tijuana track was closed and its place taken by the Agua Caliente plant. Its winner is assured of $100,000, while the second horse will win $10,000, the third $7,500, and the fourth $2,500.

Mike Hall, winner last spring, has been retired, but five horses, which finished in the money at previous handicaps were among those nominated. They were Alexander Pantages, Donnay, Plucky Play, Scimitar and Nalish-apur.

In addition to the veterans and the sturdy challengers from other lands, some of the best of the younger speedsters to appear here were nominated, Mrs. James N. Crofton's Up and Baron Long's Nacho among them.

The race will be run over a mile and a quarter course and will be restricted to 3 year olds and over.

TOP FLIGHT SLIGHTED

New York, Dec. 10.—(AP)—C. V. Whitney's Top Flight, leading money winner and champion two-year old of the year, will have few opportunities to win three year honors at Belmont Park and Saratoga next year.

The little bay filly, which won $219,600 in seven consecutive victories, is not eligible for the Belmont stakes, the Withers or the Lawrence Realization at Belmont Park or the Travers at Saratoga. Young Whitney thought so little of the filly, when she was a yearling, that he did not name her for the stakes when the entries closed nearly two years ago.

Piles Go Quick

No Salves—No Cutting

Thousands of sufferers from itching, bleeding or protruding piles have learned that quick and lasting relief can only be accomplished with an internal medicine.

Bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel causes piles. The veins are flabby, the bowel walls weak—the parts almost dead. To relieve piles an internal medicine should be used to stimulate the circulation, heal and restore the affected parts.

Dr. J. S. Leonhardt was the first to discover a real internal pile remedy. He called his prescription HEM-ROID, and prescribed it for 1,004 patients with the marvelous record of success in 940 cases, and then decided every pile sufferer should be able to get HEM-ROID tablets from their own druggist with a rigid money back guarantee.

Dr. Leonhardt's prescription has a wonderful record of success right in this city, and Walgreen's invites every pile sufferer to try a bottle of HEM-ROID and guarantees to refund the purchase price if they do not end piles in any form.

Bears to Hold Scrimmage for Giants Today

The Bears will engage in their final light scrimmage of the year today in preparation for their last game of the season with the New York Giants at Wrigley field Sunday afternoon.

The Giants' squad of 23, le by Benny Friedman, are due to arrive early tomorrow, and will work out at Wrigley field in the afternoon.

Grange has carried the ball 111 times for 599 yards, an average of 5.4 times an attempt. Grange boosted his forward pass mark by being on the throwing end of three of the four passes made against the Packers last Sunday. Red's throws to Garde Grange, Brumbaugh, and Lintzenich were for 20, 20, and 28 yards, respectively.

The averages:

	Tries.	Yards.	Av.
Grange	111	599	5.4
Franklin	19	101	5.3
Magurski	70	401	5.0
Nesbitt	75	372	5.0
Joesting	29	136	4.7
Molesworth	45	196	4.3
Lintzenich	65	268	4.1
Walquist	25	68	2.7
Brumbaugh	59	148	2.5

In punting Nesbitt lost a trifle Sunday while Lintzenich gained a bit, but the former still holds the lead. Nesbitt booted 39 for 1,875 yards to average 48.1. Lintzenich kicked 45 for 1,881 yards to average 40.9 yards.

The Bears have been penalized 610 yards to 535 for the opposition and have made 132 first downs to 111 by the enemy. Grange's eight touchdowns lead the individual scoring.

Vassis, Baker to Top Fights at White City

Promoter Mique Malloy last night announced that Costa Vassis, Greek middleweight, will meet Bill Baker, Chicago, in the feature ten round bout at White City next Monday night. Vassis knocked out Jud Judkins in his second American fight last week.

Others on the card include Ray Tramblie, Rockford, and Young Stubley, Kewanee, Ill. Two former Golden Gloves fighters, Frank Knauer, Milwaukee, and Walter Statkus, Chicago, will make their professional debuts.

The Shrosbree brothers, George and Robin, feature the amateur boxing card tonight at Merry Garden arena, Sheffield and Belmont avenues. George meets Tony Delessio of the Greek Olympic club and Robin faces Hank Kastman. The best of the six supporting bouts brings together Barney Hansen, Park Ridge featherweight, and Al Schiarto of Roseland.

Young Stribling's father-manager, Pa Stribling, arrives in Chicago this morning from Atlanta, Ga., to confer with promoters regarding his heavyweight son's appearance in a match against Ernie Schaaf. Incidentally, Pa will second Clyde Chastain against Umberto Curi here tonight.

Cicero Stadium will open its doors for the first time since last Spring on Dec. 21 when a charity boxing show will be staged. Matchmaker Billy Cepak is trying to close a main event between Bud Saltis and Jack Moran.

DE PAUL OPENS SEASON AGAINST TROJANS TONIGHT

3 Veterans Strengthen Victory Hopes.

De Paul university will open its basketball season tonight, meeting the University of Southern California Trojans at the Loyola gym. The Blue Demons will have in their lineup three veterans from the team which last year swept through 17 of 20 games. De Paul has met only eight defeats in two years on the basketball court.

The Southern Californians have won two Pacific Coast conference titles in the last four seasons and will present a veteran cast. Capt. Jack Gardner will lead the team from a forward position.

O'Connor Leads Team.

Joe O'Connor, will captain the Demons from guard. Tony Lauritis, who performed at forward last year, will take over the other guard.

At center will be a sophomore, Ellsworth Weston, a six footer. He will start but rangy Pete Barakis also will see considerable action.

The Demons have Heine Coan, star scorer, back at one of the forward berths, while Bill Shay, a sophomore, will appear at the other. Jim Doody, smallest man on the squad, may be used at guard part of the game.

The starting lineups:

DE PAUL.		S. CALIFORNIA.
Coan	R. F.	Gardner (Capt.)
Shay	L. F.	Nemer
Weston	C.	Pierce
O'Connor (Capt.)	R. G.	Capps
Lauritis	L. G.	Caldwell

Referee—Travicek (Armour Tech). Umpire—Kearns (De Paul).

Jack Shaffer, promising De Paul forward, dropped out of school yesterday.

N. U. AWAITS TROJANS

Northwestern's basketball team will make its second appearance of the week when it meets Southern California at Patten gymnasium tomorrow. The Wildcats opened their season Monday night with a 33 to 19 victory over Bradley Tech.

The Purple again will be without the services of Capt. Bob McCarnes, who chipped a bone in his ankle during practice a week ago. The pivot man will be out for a month at least. Loss of McCarnes has necessitated shifting the Wildcats' starting lineup. Johnson, regular forward, has been shifted to center and Bob Lockhart, a guard, sent up to take over Johnson's first court assignment.

MAROONS MEET BRADLEY

Five veterans will compose the Maroon basketball team tomorrow night when Chicago opens its season against Bradley in Bartlett gymnasium.

Coach Nelson Norgren is relying on members of last year's squad until he gets a better line on his sophomore material. Four of the starting Maroon lineup are "C" men, Rezinger, Sopkousis, Parsons, and Capt. Ashley. Jim Porter, a junior, developed last last season and is practically sure to be a regular this year.

Keith Parsons, center, needs more work, but Norgren is using him because of his height. Several men whom Norgren expects to use this season will play in the second half, including Daulbaniuk and Schlifke, forwards, and Wien, guard.

WESTERNERS AT LOYOLA

Loyola university's basketball team swings into action tomorrow night against Brigham Young university of Provo, Utah. The game will be played at the Loyola gymnasium, beginning at 8:15.

The visitors will exceed the six foot average mark and will have a height advantage over Loyola at every position. Capt. Elwood Romney, who led the Rocky Mountain conference scoring last year with 176 points in 12 games, will be teamed with Burle Nilson, a six foot 2½ inch veteran, at the forward positions. Byron Nelson, 6 foot 3½ inches, will appear at center with Max Nisonger and Jim Young, 6 feet 3 inches, at the guard posts.

MICHIGAN, STATE EVEN

Ann Arbor, Mich., Dec. 10.—[Special]—Michigan and Michigan State will be evenly matched when they clash in Yost fieldhouse Saturday night in their annual basketball contest. State will have a team which showed strength both offensively and defensively in beating Alma, 39 to 12. More than 5,000 fans are expected.

Probable lineups:

STATE.		MICHIGAN.
Jones	R. F.	Eveland
Carroll	L. F.	Weiss
Ehlers	C.	Daniels
Ruhl	R. G.	Smaw
Hudson	L. G.	Williamson

Horton Smith, Medalist, Put Out by Injury

Breaks Wrist

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Dec. 10.—(AP)—Horton Smith fractured a bone in his right wrist in an accident here tonight after he had won medal honors today in the $7,500 national match play open championship.

Smith was returning to the Lake Merced Country club in an automobile driven by Joe Kirkwood, a fellow pro from Chicago. As Kirkwood backed into a parking space, Smith put his arm out of the window and it was jammed between the car and a post. The radius bone of the wrist was cracked and it will take probably six weeks for the break to knit. Smith will be out of play for several months.

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 10.—(AP)—Stroking the water soaked Lake Merced course in 75, three over par, to add to his dazzling 68 of yesterday, Horton Smith of the Oak Park Country club, Oak Park, Ill., posted a total of 143 today to lead the field in the qualifying trials for the San Francisco $7,500 match play open championship.

HORTON SMITH.

Heavy rains drenched the survivors as they started on the last half of the qualifying round. Greens were slow, but despite this handicap Smith was off to a good start. He toured the first nine in par 37, but faltered on the incoming stretch to take 38, three over standard figures.

A stroke behind Smith came Harry Cooper, New York, who conquered soggy fairways and dead greens with a fine 70, two under par, giving him 144.

Gene Sarazen of Great Neck, L. I., finished with 146. He had a 76 today and 69 yesterday. In the 146 class were Olin Dutra, Santa Monica, Cal., and Willie Hunter of Montebello, Cal. Dutra had a two day score of 73—73, while Hunter qualified easily with 74—72.

Those who failed to qualify included Walter Hagen of Detroit, Johnny Dawson of Chicago, Aubrey Boomer of England, holder of the French open title; the two Espinosa brothers, Al of Akron, O., and Abe of Chicago; K. Yasuda, Japanese pro of Tokio, and H. Chandler Egan of Medford, Ore., twice former national amateur champion.

First round pairings follow:

UPPER BRACKET.

Harold McSpadden vs. S. Asami.
Olin Dutra vs. R. Espinosa.
Frank Walsh vs. Larry Brazil.
Harry Cooper vs. Henry Espinosa.
Fred Morrison vs. Harold Sampson.
George Von Elm vs. Paul Runyan.
Joe Kirkwood vs. Arthur Sato.

LOWER BRACKET.

Horton Smith vs. Willie Gorzin.
Willie Hunter vs. Johnny Perelli.
Denver Dougworth vs. Benny Coltrin.
John Golden vs. John Foge.
Gene Sarazen vs. Al Zimmerman.
Wiffy Cox vs. T. Miyamoto.
Mortie Dutra vs. Jimmy Thomson.

$450,000 CLAIMS FILED AGAINST COMISKEY ESTATE

Claims totaling $450,000 against the estate of the late Charles A. Comiskey, owner of the White Sox, were filed yesterday in the Probate court by his grandnephew and grandniece, Alfred and Marie Bernoudy, 7310 Euclid avenue. Only praecipes, stating that the claims are "for services rendered," were filed.

Bernard Shomberg, attorney for the claimants, said that they were the children of Mrs. Mabel Bernoudy Prendergast, a niece of Mr. Comiskey's wife, who died in 1922. Mrs. Bernoudy left the children's father in 1911, and Mrs. Comiskey raised Alfred and Marie, then 11 and 12 years old.

They made their home there until Mr. Comiskey had sent Alfred through Notre Dame university, after which he went to live with his mother in a house at the Euclid avenue address given her by Mr. Comiskey. Miss Bernoudy, after attending St. Mary's of the Lake, remained with her grand-uncle, and was with him at the time of his death.

She asks $300,000, and her brother $150,000. They were promised that they would be remembered in Mr. Comiskey's will, the attorney said, but he left no will. His son, J. Louis Comiskey, was recently granted letters of administration for the $3,000,000 estate by Oscar S. Capian, assistant to Probate Judge Horner.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

POTPOURRI.

COLLEGE basketball now takes the place of football on the intercollegiate sport calendar. Unlike football, there is no fiery argument whether college or pro basketball is the better. It is conceded the collegiate brand with its greater activity is more popular with the public. In fact, the pro league has suspended operations for a year owing to the depression.

Pro basketball is too precise and too perfect for spectators compared with the collegiate. It is the pell mell of the college boys in which the ball quickly goes from one end of the floor to the other that brings crowds to their feet.

Delayed breaks as well as the trend toward the more sedate tactics of the pros does not prevent the youngsters from their merry melees when the score becomes close. Add to this spectacle, spectator partisanship, and we have explanation for the popularity which had made basketball second only to football in undergraduate interest.

From the Pacific coast, we learn that Ralph (Pest) Welch, remembered by all Purdue men and many Purdue opponents, was star of a charity game in which West Seattle A. C. downed Gonzaga, 13 to 12. Welch caught a pass and ran 35 yards for the score from which the winning point after touchdown was kicked. Welch is freshman coach at the University of Washington under the direction of Jimmy Phelan, or "Irish Jimmy" Phelan, as they call him out there.

Navy, on its record, doesn't look to have a chance against Army in their charity game in New York tomorrow. Neither did Army, on its record, look to have a chance in advance of the contest in which the Cadets downed Notre Dame, 12 to 0. Army-Navy games have a tradition of hard fought battles. It will be interesting to observe whether tradition of "dope" prevails.

Lament.

The night is cold. The wind is high
The tender things are glad to die.
The bee, which once in summer knew
The kiss of roses and the dew,
Is gone. The world is white with snow . . .
It was a long, long time ago
That June was tangled in my hair
And robins filled the joyous air,
When I, who lay on windswept hills
And blew the dandelion frills,
Content to dream and sing and live,
Could sing the songs that Love would give.

Is June asleep beneath the snow?

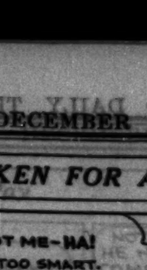
BATTALINO AND SINGER BATTLE IN N. Y. TONIGHT

New York, Dec. 10.—[Special.]—Christopher (Kat) Battalino, world's featherweight champion, will make a serious bid for recognition as a lightweight title contender tomorrow night when he opposes Al Singer, former ruler of the 135 pound division, in the main bout of ten rounds at Madison Square Garden. The battle heads a card of bouts arranged for the benefit of a Christmas fund.

Rudy Dusek, Clinkstock Meet Tonight

Rudy Dusek tonight walks into the clutches of a giant, Jim Clinkstock, 6 foot 5 inch, 245 pound man mountain from Oklahoma, in the main event of an all star heavyweight wrestling show at the Coliseum.

Secondary in billing, bust just as popular in interest is the bout between Jim McMillen, former Bear line man, and Gino Garibaldi. McMillen suffered a broken collar bone in their last match, an injury which kept him idle for four months. Tonight's match is McMillen's first major one since the mishap. Garibaldi has never been beaten here.



JIM McMILLEN.

Of the numerous wrestlers who want to be regarded as the No. 1 man to Jim Londos, Dusek is out in front. He has beaten Frank Bronowicz, George Zaharias, and Kola Kwariani in successive appearance here. If he gets by Clinkstock, he doubtless will be chosen as Londos' opponent on the latter's next appearance here. Clinkstock, who claims he is unable to get matches because of his bulk and ability, has a chance to upset these calculations.

Dick Shikat, former world's champion, is paired with Renato Gardini in one of three supporting bouts. Another brings together Pat O'Shocker, Utah, and Earl McCready, Oklahoma. McCready has won four matches in a row here, and O'Shocker has never been beaten in Chicago. McCready, weighing 239 pounds, will have about 20 pounds edge over Pat.

The other bout is between Kola Kwariani and Lou Plummer. The first match is at 8:15 o'clock.

Badger Sports Council Again Delays Thistlethwaite Case

not mean a general cut for all coaches, but it will be obtained by reduction in personnel. With abolition of 8 team football, two coaches will be released. One of the five varsity coaches will be released. This would leave eight men coaching varsity and freshman football and engaged in scouting. Eleven now are serving in these capacities.

Help in Other Sports.

These coaches, however, serve in other capacities. Guy Sundt, for instance, varsity back field coach, is freshman track coach and handles the Wisconsin state high school meets and tournaments. Sundt has the faculty standing of assistant professor. Nor do the salary figures indicate the complete remuneration of these men. Sundt, like Thistlethwaite, derives some of his salary from the school of education, which contributes to those coaches teaching in the four year course of the school of physical education.

Equals Faculty Pay Schedule.

The salary schedule now approximates the pay of faculty members in other schools of the university. Thistlethwaite, head coach, who holds faculty rating of full professor, has received $8,000 a year. Of this $6,500 is paid from athletic receipts. The remainder comes from his salary as teacher in the school of physical education.

Attention has been drawn to the council's phrasing, "salary schedule—with due regard to unavoidable Big Ten relationships." This is translated to mean that the salary of football coach may be increased above the present remuneration if Wisconsin finds it can not secure a coach to compete successfully with other Big Ten schools without paying more money.

George Levis who at present holds the position of business manager of athletics, may lose his job if his department is merged with that of the business manager of the university. With Levis are associated Harry Schwenker, William Aspinwall, and James McCormick. J. D. Phillips is business manager of the university. This step, if taken, would be comparable to the university move of last fall, which abolished the position of bursar.

Program Would Continue.

Under this plan as a whole, Wisconsin's athletic program would continue as of recent years. The 1931 football receipts were $194,546. Basketball a year ago grossed $36,000 and it is expected that the receipts this fall will reach $30,000, although reduction in prices has been announced.

The legislative investigation proposed by Assemblyman F. W. Krez of Plymouth, is not regarded seriously by the athletic authorities. Krez' statement that "thousands and thousands of dollars are wasted" is a line of general attack on all university salaries. President Glenn Frank, among others, has been a target for representatives and senators of the present assembly, which now is considering Gov. Phil La Follette's schedule of taxes which would raise an additional $17,000,000.

CRANE HEAVIES BEAT SENN 41-25 FOR 5TH STRAIGHT

Marshall Wins 2; Leo and Parker Divide.

The Crane Tech heavyweight basketball team, defending champion in the Chicago Public High School league, continues to rule as the favorite to retain its title. The west siders scored their fifth consecutive practice victory yesterday by defeating Senn of the north section, 41 to 25, at Crane's gymnasium.

Crane, led by Bob Gruenig, lanky star of last year's championship drive, took the lead of 12 to 3 at the end of the half. Gruenig, who entered the game in the second period, collected 12 baskets and a free throw in handing Senn its second defeat of the season.

Freeman Scores 11 Points.

Freeman, with eleven points, featured for the north division squad which will invade Evanston today to meet Evanston High school in its fourth pre-season contest. In a preliminary game, the Crane lights triumphed over Senn, 16 to 8.

Another west section team, Marshall, eked out a last minute victory over Lane Tech, 18 to 17, for its fourth triumph in another practice game yesterday on the victors' court. Sid Rosenthal scored the winning points for Marshall heavyweights by shooting a basket and a free throw.

The Marshall ponies, winners of the 1930-'31 title, hung up another victory by scoring a 16 to 2 triumph over the Lane lights. Pecky Feingold led the champions, scoring three baskets and two free throws.

Leo, Parker Divide.

The Leo quintets of the south section of the Catholic league, under a new coach, Charles (Feed) Murphy, former Loyola university star, divided a pair of games with Parker on the latter's court. The Leo heavies, with Murnighan scoring seven points, defeated Parker, 20 to 14, while the Parker lights avenged an earlier defeat at the hands of Leo ponies by winning, 25 to 14.

RESCIND PAROLE FOR GOLDHURST, CANNON BROKER

Action Based on Attempt at Bribery.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 10.—[Special.]—The federal parole board today rescinded the parole it granted last June to Harry Goldhurst, financial adviser to Bishop James Cannon on the basis of new evidence proving that the former New York bucketshop operator had used five thousand dollars and gifts of jewelry in an effort to bribe a young woman assistant in the New York district attorney's office.

The bribery, it was disclosed in the parole board's report, was in connection with Goldhurst's trial on charges of using the mails to defraud, for which, on a plea of guilty, he was sentenced to five years in Atlanta penitentiary.

In revoking its parole order the board said the new evidence also disclosed that Goldhurst had been indicted for using the mails to defraud while on bail pending trial for a similar offense.

Tell of Cannon's Interest.

The board declared investigation by the department of justice disclosed no evidence that Bishop Cannon had sought to bring about the parole of Goldhurst. It did disclose, however, that Bishop Cannon had interested himself in the case and had asked the district attorney to postpone Goldhurst's trial on the ground that he expected to be absent for a time and desired to be present when the case was opened, as it might involve him in publicity. His request was refused at the time.

Attorney General William D. Mitchell today sent a copy of the parole board's conclusions to Senator Carter Glass [Dem., Va.], who raised the question of irregularities in the Goldhurst parole as a part of his long feud with Bishop Cannon.

History of Case.

Goldhurst was indicted in the southern district of New York in May, 1926, for using the mails to defraud. On Oct. 16, 1929, he entered a plea of guilty and was sentenced to five years. His term, with allowance for good conduct, will expire July 23, 1933. On June 19, 1931, the parole board, on the recommendations of former United States Attorney Tuttle of New York who prosecuted Goldhurst, and of Judge Coleman, who sentenced him, granted a parole effective April 1, 1931, when Goldhurst would have served 2½ years. It was this parole which was rescinded today.

The bureau report declared there was "no ground whatever for questioning the integrity" of Miss Ella Sayre Fallor, who was previously mentioned in the case.

Mrs. Isadora S. Schmitt Will Be Buried Today

Mrs. Isadora Schneider Schmitt, 85 years old, of Los Angeles and Chicago, will be buried in Calvary cemetery today following funeral services at 10 o'clock in Mount Carmel Catholic church, 700 Belmont avenue. She died on Dec. 4 in Los Angeles. Mrs. Schmitt was the daughter of the late Eugene Schneider and the widow of Anthony Schmitt. Her father founded a factory in 1850 at 24th and Wallace streets, which supplied candles to miners. The Schmitt home was in Drexel boulevard at 47th street.

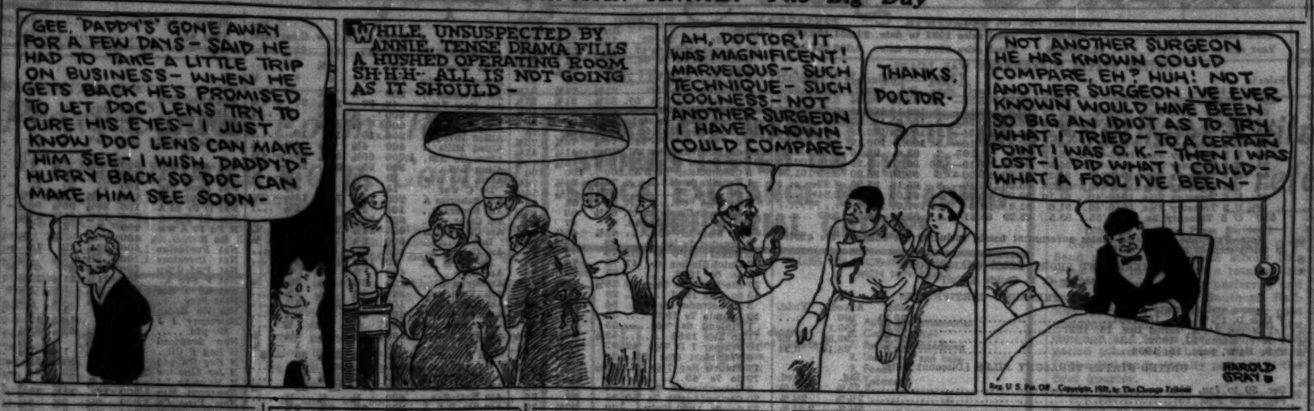
LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: The Big Day



SPAIN ELECTS SON OF SOIL, ZAMORA, FIRST PRESIDENT

Receives 362 Votes of Possible 466.

BY JAY ALLEN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, Dec. 10.—Niceto Alcala Zamora, the son of an Andalusian farmer, was elected as the Spanish republic's first constitutional president by the national assembly today. He received 362 votes out of a possible 466. His term is for six years.

A salute of 21 guns will be fired for him tomorrow when he swears his fidelity to the new constitution which gives him powers, about the most important of which will be the right to dissolve the present parliament.

Balloting Is Secret.

Balloting today was in secret, but the outcome had been arranged in advance among the parties. A parliamentary commission, headed by Julian Bestero, speaker of the cortes, notified Zamora of his election. Zamora immediately invited the commission and a group of friends to sit down to food, sherry and champagne.

The selection of Zamora by the cortes makes a break in Spanish tradition which seems less brutal. For Zamora was minister to the king and in a way a typical figure of the monarchy. He only quit the monarchical ship a year before its wreck last April.

Some Don't Trust Zamora.

Deputies who did not vote today were mostly those who remembered that a few weeks ago Zamora threw up everything for his faith when he thought the constitution had outraged it. They do not take his recantations as a sufficient guarantee for his future sympathy with new ideals.

Zamora will probably be the last president to be elected by the national assembly. The new constitution, adopted yesterday, provides that future presidents shall be elected by a body composed equally of assemblymen and electors named by the people.

ANNA LESCHER, MOTHER OF THREE POLICEMEN, DIES

Funeral services for Mrs. Anna Lescher, mother of a priest, a doctor, and three policemen, will be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow in St. Philomena's Catholic church, Kedvale avenue and Cortland street. The priest, the Rev. George B. Lescher, of St. Gregory's church, and professor of modern history at Quigley seminary, will be celebrant at solemn mass.

Mrs. Lescher, 69 years old, died on Wednesday in her residence at 2037 North Keeler avenue. She was born in Berlin, Germany, and came to Chicago fifty years ago, living all that time on the northwest side.

Surviving Mrs. Lescher are eleven children, twenty grandchildren, and six great-grandchildren. The children are Mrs. Hattie Kniewel, Alphonse, Policeman John Lescher of the Central station, Motorcycle Policeman Robert Lescher of Franklin Park, Mrs. Cecilia Anderson, Dr. Henry G. Lescher, the Rev. Father Lescher, Anthony, Policeman Joseph Lescher of Fillmore street, Francis, and Theodore, the latter a medical student.

PARDON BOARD TO HEAR PLEA FOR KILLERS TUESDAY

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 10.—[Special.]—The state board of pardons and paroles will hold a special meeting on Tuesday to hear a plea for executive clemency for John Reed and Ben Norsinger, Negroes. They are under sentence to be electrocuted Wednesday for the murder of John Martin on Aug. 2.

Martin, the manager of the General Market House company, 4271 Drexel boulevard, Chicago, was killed in a holdup. He had been spending half his weekly salary to feed needy residents of nearby Negro neighborhoods, and residents of those districts, aroused by the murder, assisted police in tracing Norsinger to Dallas, Tex.

Norsinger confessed and implicated Reed, who fired the fatal shot. The two slayers pleaded guilty and were sentenced to death on Nov. 10 by Judge George Fred Rush in the Criminal court of Cook county.

MAJ. RAPHAEL NIX WILL BE BURIED AT ARLINGTON

The body of Maj. Raphael R. Nix, army officer attached to the Chicago ordnance procurement district, who died Wednesday night in the station hospital at Fort Sheridan, will be sent today to Arlington, Va., for burial tomorrow in Arlington National cemetery. Maj. Nix, entered the hospital last week and died following an operation for appendicitis. He was 45 years old, a graduate of Tulane university and of West Point. Maj. Nix came to Chicago last June. He lived at 1349 Chase avenue. During the world war he was a colonel in the ordnance department in France.

Surviving him are his widow, Louise; six children, Marion, Ralph, Ann, Louise, Dorothy, and Barbara, and two brothers, James P. and Dr. John D. Nix, both of New Orleans.

Carl Prouty, 67, Winnetka Attorney, Taken by Death

Carl Prouty, attorney, until 10 years ago an official of Winnetka, died yesterday in St. Francis hospital, Evanston, after a long illness. He was 67 years old, and lived at 693 Willow road, Winnetka. Mr. Prouty served variously as treasurer, trustee, town collector, and justice of the peace in Winnetka. Surviving him are his widow, Mary, and three children, Richard and Carlton, Jr., and Mrs. Dorothy P. Scott. Services will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 1115 Greenleaf avenue, Wilmette. Burial will be in Rosehill cemetery.

SWIFT SHARES DROP 7 POINTS TO 20⅞ LOW

Selling Is General on Chicago Exchange.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Selling broke out on the Chicago exchange yesterday with renewed force, carrying stocks to r new low ground and causing a severe slump in Swift International shares which fell 7 points to a record low of 20⅞.

The Swift issue has been one of the most stable stocks throughout the bear market on the exchange here, and the sudden break caught La Salle by surprise. Swift & Co. shares followed the stock of the affiliated concern and ended the session with a 3 points loss at 19.

The slump in Swift International brought forth a statement from Edward F. Swift, president of the concern, that there was no reason in the affairs of the company which could account for the action. "The company has had a successful year and is in the strongest financial position it has ever enjoyed," he declared. "Ample reserves have been made for possible exchange losses. Current operations continue to be profitable."

Directors of the company recently declared an extra dividend of $1 for stockholders, making a total of $4 paid on the stock this year.

According to La Salle street gossip, an important account in Swift International was being liquidated. Sales in the issue yesterday approximated 13,000 shares and the closing quotation was within a fraction of the day's low price. Swift & Co. was turned over to the extent of 8,000 shares, with the closing price a point above the low for the day.

Selling in the Insull issues was heavier than usual and Middle West touched a new low price of 8, but the closing quotations represented only nominal losses. Insull Utility second preferred, however, was off 6 points to 27 on a turnover of 1,000 shares. Edison lost 2. Another conspicuous weak spot was U. S. Gypsum, which lost 3¾.

Lycoming Mfg. Co. to Begin Production of New Engine

Production on its new twelve cylinder passenger car engine, under development for several months, will begin here Dec. 14, officials of the Lycoming Manufacturing company, a division of the Cord corporation, announced yesterday.

SPAIN MOVES TO CONFISCATE PHONE SERVICE OF I. T. & T.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, Dec. 10.—The first important move of the government since the approval of the constitution was significantly against the telephone company, a subsidiary of the International Telephone and Telegraph. The telephone company's contract with the monarchy has long been the object of bitter denunciation by republicans.

In a bill introduced into the assembly today Martinez Barrios, minister of communications, asked the cortes to declare the company's contract of August, 1924, illegal and null and its services confiscated after a just "indemnization" to be proposed by the minister of communications within six months.

The contract calls for a forfeit of 600,000,000 gold pesetas [about $115,800,000] in the event the state goes back on the contract. By declaring the contract illegal and thus void, Barrios expects to get around this.

The company was capitalized at 750,000,000 pesetas [about $144,750,000], which 400,000,000 pesetas (about $78,000,000) represents American investments, and a value of $160,000,000 is set on the company's property. It is expected that in attempting to take over the company's material, the Spanish state will encounter serious obstacles as the rights for the automatic system are in American hands which, it is said, will not sell but will demand that the instruments be taken out.

The refusal of the telephone company to aid the republican government in getting an American loan, it is generaly thought, precipitated tonight's action.

I. T. & T. Pays 15 Cents.

New York, Dec. 10.—(AP)—International Telephone and Telegraph corporation today announced the gross earnings of the organization for the nine months ending Sept. 30 totaled $69,395,387, as compared with $76,695,747 for the same period last year.

The directors declared a quarterly dividend of 15 cents per share on the capital stock payable Jan. 15 to stockholders of record Dec. 18. This dividend compares with a 25 cent quarterly payment, on which basis the stock was placed at the previous meeting.

The report of the Postal Telegraph and Cable company, a subsidiary of the I. T. & T., showed that, after providing for bond interest, the company suffered a net loss in the first nine months of 1931 of $1,247,675. This is comparable with a net income of $219,063 for the same period in 1930.

ASSERTS SILVER HOLDS SOLUTION OF WORLD ILLS

WINNIPEG, Man., Dec. 10.—(AP)—Harry Stevens, minister of trade and commerce, told the Winnipeg Board of Trade today that silver offers a solution of the world's economic difficulties. Restoration of silver as a recognized money metal would set world trade in motion, he declared.

"Gold and silver," Stevens said, "would offer an adequate basis for a sound world currency upon which could be erected a credit structure to enable the movement of overproduced goods in western civilization to the undersupplied demands of a consuming eastern civilization.

"While we talk of overproduction two-thirds of the world's population live under conditions lacking the comforts of life and in actual and dire need of the bare necessities of life."

BOY, MISSING DAY, IS HOME, BADLY BEATEN

Rockford, Ill., Dec. 10.—(AP)—Nine year old Kenneth Miller, a school boy, returned home tonight in a critical condition after a mysterious 24 hour absence from home. The boy's body was bruised, apparently from a beating, and he was almost blue from cold.

The lad was found unconscious between the storm door and back door of his home by his parents who heard him stumble up the steps. His condition prevented his being questioned, but he mumbled several times the words "woman," "rumble seat," and "train." He was taken to a hospital for medical treatment and police planned to question him tomorrow. Doctors said his condition was critical.

Millard Stockburger, chief deputy sheriff, said the boy disappeared Wednesday while on his way home from school. A few hours later another boy, whose name Stockburger declined to tell, saw Kenneth and a strange woman downtown in an automobile. The boy said he spoke to Kenneth, but that he did not answer. The woman, the boy said, told him that Kenneth "is trying to get a quarter from me."

Stockburger said Kenneth had been beaten and otherwise mistreated.

HANGS HIMSELF AT HOME.

The body of Roman Burke, 43 years old, an unemployed laborer, was found yesterday hanging from a beam on the rear porch of the rooming house in which he had lived at 2024 West Chicago avenue. A fellow roomer said that Burke was despondent because he could not find work.

PERCY WILSON REPORTS SALES OF $1,500,000

Nine Subdivisions Now 75% Sold Out.

In times like these when one thinks of the average subdivision man as just one of the unemployed, it's refreshing to get a statement from a firm which shows something worth while accomplished. Percy Wilson & Co. announced yesterday that sales of business lots and homesites totaling more than $1,500,000 have been made during the last two years on the nine subdivisions included in their 250 acre East Center properties, beginning at 159th street and extending southward along Halsted street, in Harvey.

Convalescing Rapidly.

Percy Wilson, president of the firm bearing his name, is still in St. Luke's hospital and is recovering rapidly from an appendicitis operation. He sat up yesterday and expects to be back at home within another week. He also counts on being at his office a week or so after that.

Ethel Grey Scott, wife of Robert Hill Scott, of Carson, Pirie, Scott & Co., has purchased the 71x147 property adjoining the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Donald Waite Rogers, in Glencoe. The land was bought from the City National Bank and Trust company of Evanston, as trustee, through Mrs. Gretta P. Fuller of Evanston.

$3 Flat Building Sold.

The thirty-three apartments at the southeast corner of Damen and Winnemac avenues, lot 52x156, has been sold by the Lincoln Trust and Savings bank, trustee, to Edward Hagelin and Charles Bugg.

The Vitagio corporation has leased 3,500 square feet on the second floor of the building at 4940-46 Sheridan road and has equipped it as a studio, said to be the only one of its kind in the middle west, for the recording of the human voice on film—not disk. The lessor was Leon Sigman and the broker Albert E. Oblander. A. C.

General Water Works 5s.

Please advise me in regard to General Water Works first lien and collateral 5s due 1943. I have a $500 bond of this company and would like to know something about it.—O. P.

General Water Works and Electric corporation, formerly General Water Works corporation, is controlled by American Equities company. It supplies electric power, water, or other utility services to 248 communities in 17 states. Some interconnection of operating properties has been effected, but thorough interconnection is impossible because of geographical reasons.

Consolidated bond charges were earned 1.18 times in 1930, against 1.50 times in 1929.

For the twelve months to Sept. 30, 1931, balance after interest, maintenance, operating expenses, etc., was $417,078.

On Dec. 11, 1930, current assets were $3,781,500, and current liabilities were $4,815,000, not an impressive position.

Due to the company's inability to raise funds through the ordinary channels it was not in a position to make the principal payments on the $2,450,000 debentures which matured Dec. 1, 1931. It has asked the holders of the bonds to extend the principal to Dec. 1, 1934.

General Water Works corporation first lien and collateral 5s, series A, are secured by a first lien on all outstanding stock and all funded debt of certain subsidiary companies.

They are speculative.

Partial Payment Deposits.

I have a savings account purchased through the investor's plan of Equitable Bond and Mortgage company, 180 West Washington street, Chicago. I filed my claim last January. Even though the company went into bankruptcy there should be something left to divide. I would appreciate any information you can give me.—Mrs. S. A. C.

Mr. Louis Cohen, attorney, has informed us as follows:

"In re: Equitable Bond and Mortgage company, bankrupt.

"Your letter addressed to the Hon. Harry A. Parkin, referee in bankruptcy, was forwarded to me. I am writing you on behalf of M. M. Martin, trustee of the above bankrupt estate.

"Concerning your inquiry, I beg to advise you that partial payment deposits made by customers on bonds are not treated as preferred claims. My policy has been to deliver the bond to the customer, provided the same can be traced and identified, and the balance of the purchase price paid. I do not believe, with possibly a few exceptions, that any securities survived operations, that presently can be identified. However, if you will be good enough to specify the information that you require, I will be pleased to trace same through the books and records of this company and be able to advise you directly on this subject."

SHRINKAGE OF STOCK MARKET CREDIT IS TOLD

Record Liquidation Takes Place.

BY O. A. MATHER.

Everybody knows that the amount of credit devoted to speculation has shrunk vastly since the great bull stock market blew up in October, 1929. The decline in security prices and attendant shrinkage in brokers' loans have been indices to the movement.

But few people realize the vast shrinkage that has taken place in credit of all kinds during the present period of depression and general liquidation. This liquidation has been without precedent, according to the current publication of the American Bankers association. And on the basis of this deflation of credit, the journal boldly says that the banking situation has been practically removed from the major problems of the business outlook.

"Of every dollar borrowed against stock two years ago only 11 cents is still owing," it is said. This is a liquidation that is unprecedented. Taking the total of bank loans secured by stocks and bonds of all federal reserve member banks, the high point on the quarterly figures was in 1930, but this included a large amount of stock exchange loans taken over when the 'outside loans' made by nonbanking lenders were withdrawn.

"The real peak of credit of all kinds was around Oct. 4, 1929, when the secured bank loans stood at $10,-[illegible],000,000. On Sept. 29, 1931, the total had been reduced to $2,058,000,000. At the time of the credit peak, however, there was outside money loaned directly to brokers in the amount of nearly $6,000,000,000, which has now been loaned by the New York clearing house banks and has dwindled to a few million dollars. The reduction in all secured loans, therefore, was from over $14,000,000,000 to $8,000,-000,000 or by more than $6,000,000,000.

"Brokers' loans during the period halved from a peak of $6,804,000,000 to $[illegible],000,000 or by 59 per cent. Loans of member banks, including both secured and unsecured or commercial loans, declined from $26,165,-000,000 to $20,908,000,000. If the $4,-000,000,000 'outside loans' be added, the decline in credit has been from over $30,000,000,000 to less than $21,-000,000,000 or practically one-third."

Better Banking Situation.

The improving banking situation in the country was further evidenced recently in the weekly statement of the federal reserve system. It showed a continuation of the recent return flow of gold to the United States and the trickling back of hoarded money to the banks.

Total money in circulation has declined $1,000,000 in the last week, although federal reserve bank notes increased $4,152,000. So it is evident that the treasury has retired between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000 of gold and money wholly backed by gold, which are the favorite mediums for hoarding. Total money now in circulation is $5,507,000,000.

The country's stock of monetary gold increased $30,000,000 in the last week and now stands at $4,437,000,000. The federal reserve banks made a gain of $26,548,000 in gold, bringing their total up to $2,963,118,000, which is more than their note circulation, which is $2,484,832,000.

Borrowings of the member banks from the reserve banks expanded $7,615,000, now totaling $726,182,000. But this expansion in credit was more than offset by the fact that the reserve banks absorbed credit by disposing of $34,188,000 of bankers' acceptances in the open market. Finally, the continuing improvement in the reserve system is shown by the fact that its ratio of reserves to liabilities rose to 68.1 per cent, compared with 65.6 per cent last week.

Brokers' Loans Drop.

Another new low record for brokers' loans was recorded this week, as was to be expected in view of continued liquidation in the securities markets. The weekly report of the reserve board places the current total at $890,000,000, a decline of $30,000,000 in the last week. The recession from a year ago is $1,409,000,000. The total then was $2,099,000,000.

The New York banks reduced their own loans by $15,000,000 and the interior banks withdrew an equal amount. There was no change in credit furnished by nonbanking lenders.

The New York Reserve bank yesterday made no change in its 3½ per cent rediscount rate.

Proxy Contest Looms for Transamerica Corp. Control

New York, Dec. 10.—(AP)—A bitter proxy fight likely to go down in financial annals along with the struggle for the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company, appeared to be developing today when Elisha Walker reached across the continent to throw down the gauntlet to A. P. Giannini.

A. P. GIANNINI.

Walker, a veteran Wall street banker and chairman of the board of Transamerica corporation, $300,000,000 holding company for the group of properties assembled by Giannini, California financier, sent a form letter to 245,000 stockholders of the corporation requesting their proxies, to prevent Giannini from once more gaining influence in the corporation.

Dropped from Board.

Giannini and his associates were dropped from the board of the company a few months ago, when drastic changes of policies were announced, including abandonment of control of banking properties. Giannini has censured the Walker group in the company for its policies, and has begun to seek proxies.

In the first reply to Giannini Walker vigorously attacks the California financier, citing large funds which were placed to his credit during his management of the corporation. Walker is joined in the letter by James A. Bacigalupi, president of Transamerica. Bacigalupi was long a close associate of Giannini in California, but broke with him recently.

In an effort to obtain a vote of confidence at the earliest practicable date, the management has moved the regular annual meeting date up to next Feb. 15. The date had been set originally for March 31, 1932.

Attack Past Management.

In attacking the management of Giannini in the past, the letter states that Giannini's credit from the cash funds of Bancitaly corporation or subsidiaries of Transamerica during the three year period 1927-1930 was no less than $8,700,000. This figure, it was added, "does not include the $1,500,000 given at Mr. Giannini's request by Bancitaly corporation to the University of California to establish the Giannini foundation and for the building of Giannini hall, making $5,-200,000 in all."

The appeal to stockholders further states that $2,400,000 was placed to Mr. Giannini's credit between Dec. 30, 1929, and Jan. 21, 1930, after the stock market crash and immediately before his retirement from active service with the corporation.

Tried to Peg Price, Is Claim.

In their bid for stockholders' support, the management states that Giannini attempted during the 1929 crash to peg the price of Transamerica stock with an investment of $68,000,000 of company funds. The statement says when the market began to decline at the end of October, 1929, the corporation "under Mr. Giannini's direction maintained Transamerica at a high and artificial level from which it fell when the support was moved."

In an interview given today when Walker launched his attack on Giannini, the New York banker said it was time for the management to abandon its policy of silence in response to the campaign of criticisms voiced by Giannini and his supporters. He said that control of Transamerica corporation is still retained on the west coast, although in recent years, investors in other states have been buying large amounts of the stock.

Expects to Be Target.

Salinas, Cal., Dec. 10.—(AP)—A. P. Giannini, founder of Transamerica corporation, tonight characterized the letter sent to stockholders of the corporation by Elisha Walker and James A. Bacigalupi, chairman and president, respectively, as "tommyrot."

En route to Santa Barbara and Ventura, where he will continue the fight to obtain proxies to contest the Walker-Bacigalupi plans for reorganizing the concern, he stopped here long enough to read the letter.

"You can't get into a fight like this without being prepared to be the target for a lot of mud slinging," Giannini said. "We expected this. After searching my record for 27 years as a banker, all they can say is that I tried to keep up the price of Transamerica stock when the market was falling and that I was credited with $3,700,000 in bonuses.

"When I retired from Transamerica I was entitled to five per cent of $83,000,000, which I did not take. There are five of us in the Giannini family, and our total wealth doesn't come to a million—no, nor to half a million."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 10.—Unfilled orders of the United States Steel corporation fell below the 3,000,000 ton mark for the first time since 1910, as the result of a further decrease of 185,541 tons in November, as shown in the monthly figures announced today.

The backlog on Nov. 30 totaled 2,938,891 tons, compared with 3,119,-432 on Oct. 31. It was the smallest reserve of orders on the corporation's books since the final quarter of 1910, when it dropped at the yearend as low as 2,674,757 tons.

Unfilled orders have been decreasing steadily since last March, when the peak of the seasonal rise in steel output was reached. The top figure for the year was 4,132,351 tons at the end of January.

Extent Seen Surprising.

Wall street had been expecting another drop in the unfilled tonnage statement, but the size of it undoubtedly was a surprise in most quarters. A moderate decrease had been predicted, with few venturing any guesses as to the probable figures.

The October decrease amounted to 25,401 tons. Normally at this season of the year the steel corporation's backlog is increasing.

NEW YORK BOND MART CONTINUES DOWNWARD WAY

New York, Dec. 10.—(AP)—The bond market today continued to record a string of new low record prices. The rails, as in recent sessions, led the downward movement.

Among the carriers the Atchisons were unusually weak. Baltimore and Ohio loans were puzzling, the refunding 6s of 1995 falling 9½ points, while the 5s, series D, gained 5. Other losers were the Canadian National, Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, Rock Island, Denver and Rio Grande, Missouri Pacific, New York Central, New Haven, Northern Pacific, Pennsylvania, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Union Pacific and Wabash. Illinois Central refunding 4s of 1955 dropped 16 points. Southern 4s lost 2 points and the Mobile and Ohio 5s advanced 2, while the same road's 4½s dropped 1¾.

Southern Railway Passes Common, Preferred Dividends

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 10.—Adverse dividend actions on railroad stocks this week were increased to a total of ten today with omission of preferred and common dividends on Southern Railway. Southern Railway this year paid dividends totalling $6 a share on the common and $5 on the preferred, the action taken today being with regard to the dividends usually payable in the first quarter.

The payments this year were $3.65 a share appropriated from 1929 income not previously appropriated, $2 from current income and $5 cents a share as a final dividend for the year. Last year the payments were $8, the company having been on that basis since 1923. Earnings in 1930 were $4.72 a share on the common and in the year ended Oct. 31 indicated return was nothing on the common.

Mobile and Ohio Railroad company, controlled by Southern, announced that at the meeting of directors action on the dividend was omitted. The semi-annual dividend was omitted in July last, when announcement was made that it was the expectation of the board to consider the matter again at its December meeting. The last payment was $2.50 a share on Dec. 30, 1930, at which time an extra of $5 a share also was disbursed.

Omits Payment.

The St. Regis Paper company omitted the quarterly dividend of 15 cents a share on the common stock. The regular quarterly dividend of $1.75 a share was declared on the preferred. Total payments this year amounted to 30 cents a share, against $1 a share on the common last year.

Hudson's Bay company, one of the oldest corporations in the world, formed by royal charter in 1670 to deal in furs and engage in general trading, which it still makes its main business, will be able to pay no dividends for the fiscal year ending May 31 last, it was announced in London today. The company paid no dividends on its preferred or ordinary shares in the 1931 fiscal year.

Extras Declared.

Bucyrus Monighan company declared an extra dividend of 20 cents a share in addition to the regular quarterly 45 cents on the A stock and a dividend of $1.10 a share on the B stock. A similar extra was paid a year ago.

Parke Davis company declared an extra dividend of 25 cents a share in addition to the regular quarterly disbursement of 25 cents, both payable Jan. 2 to stock of record Dec. 19. The company has been paying extra dividends quarterly.

Gray Telephone Pay Station company declared a special dividend of 25 cents a share, the usual extra of 50 cents, and the regular quarterly dividend of 50 cents.

DIVIDENDS PASSED

The Chicago Rapid Transit company voted to pass the monthly dividends on the series A and B prior preferred stock. Directors of the Chicago North Shore and Milwaukee Railroad company took similar action as respects the quarterly dividend on that company's 7 per cent prior lien stock.

Britton I. Budd, president of the North Shore line, made the following statement:

"Decreased gross earnings due to the general business situation which has particularly affected transportation companies, make it necessary to suspend dividends on prior lien stock at this time. While economies have been effected, including a reduction in pay for all officers and general office and supervisory employes, these have been insufficient to offset the loss in business. The board felt that in the best interests of the company, therefore, such dividends should be suspended in order to further conserve resources."

Bank to Pay.

At the regular meeting of the board of directors of the Harris Trust and Savings bank yesterday a quarterly dividend of 4 per cent on the capital stock of the bank was declared, payable Jan. 2, 1932, to stockholders of record at the close of business Dec. 15, 1931.

The Northwest Bancorporation has declared its usual quarterly dividend of 40 cents per share, payable Jan. 1 to stockholders of record Dec. 19.

REPORTS PICKUP IN CONDITION OF OIL INDUSTRY

Losses Were $17,000,000, Not 42 Millions, Claim

Baltimore, Md., Dec. 10.—(AP)—Entering general denial to allegations of mismanagement, the Tri-Continental corporation, an investment trust, today asked the Circuit court to dismiss a suit for injunction against its officers, brought by Janice Ragovin and Herbert Stein of New York as stockholders.

The suit entered by Ragovin and Stein asked the company be restrained from paying dividends from capital and charged a recent meeting of stockholders had illegally altered the corporation set up to allow for such payments. It also alleged vast shrinkage of resources.

Admitting losses due to the decline of market value of its investments, the corporation said the loss was approximately $17,000,000, rather than $42,000,000, as charged in the suit.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 10—The speculative fraternity continued to sell stocks and bemoan its fate today. Virtually all active issues were driven down to new bear market lows on further losses of from 1 to 4 points. Trading was quite active, 2,700,000 shares changing hands.

Railroad shares got a little help in the afternoon from rumors that some "good news" on the carrier situation was about to come out of the Chicago wage conferences, but the stimulant was not sufficient to restore any considerable percentage of the earlier losses on the general list. United States Steel touched 47¼, American Can to 53⅝, Atchison to 84½, and Westinghouse to 27½. As on yesterday much of the selling obviously was for bear account.

Congress Chief Concern.

The market's chief concern continued to center on the doings and possibilities down at Washington. The Mellon tax increase program weighed heavily and afternoon reports indicating that it had a fair chance of enactment, since the Democrats were unable to agree on a substitute plan, did not measurably help the situation.

The upturn in wheat prices and the more cheerful front put on by the foreign exchanges probably helped to instill a slightly better feeling among traders in late dealings when the tone of the stock list improved.

As on other recent days of the downward move no single group—outside of the rails, of course—seemed to fare any better or worse than all the others. The liquidation was steady, widespread and without discrimination. Utilities probably did a little worse than they have on some other days, the losses among them averaging about 2 points or so. Peoples Gas gave up 3½ points.

Among the few active issues to

Estimated receipts at Chicago today: Cattle, 8,000; hogs, 35,000; sheep, 19,000.

For the most part, yesterday's hog market was much the same as the day before. Buyers and sellers came to grips again over the low level of prices, which reached a new 32 year low on yesterday's session, and the trade was almost in a deadlock most of the forenoon. However, the advantage was largely on the buying side, so soon after the first 10c lower spots appeared in the midday trade, the movement over all scales reached good volume at this decline. The general average for the whole day was down 10c at $4.15, while the extreme top showed 10c loss at $4.25, the latter being the lowest daily top since November, 1929. Top prices at some of the leading markets in the country were as $4.00 and below. St. Paul reported a peak of $3.80, while Omaha and Sioux City sold top hogs at $3.90.

Offer May Hogs.

May contracts were available at a lower level of prices yesterday, some offers for delivery the last half of the month going down to $5.75 without attracting reasonable bids. March hogs were offered at $6.00 and bid $5.90. Light and mediums were bid $4.50 and December mediums carried bids of $4.10.

Judging from sessions of the cattle market the last few days the props have been pulled from under it, and unless support is forthcoming in the way of better eastern demand or abatement of supplies, local buyers are likely to cheapen up their purchases of beef cattle still more in the near future. This week's losses on the rank and file of cattle amount to $@@75c, but yesterday's bearish attitude of buyers evidenced that they are not yet satisfied and can be expected to pound again whenever possible.

Yesterday's top price was carried down to $11.25, the lowest for Thursday since the middle of October. Last Thursday's peak was $12.75, but quality then was better. The wide spread in cattle prices has been so misleading to the country that it is difficult to impress the producer with the fact that only a thin "upper crust" of receipts come on the market sells at top quotations. The majority of yesterday's sales were made within a range of $5.50@8.00, with the poorest grades of best steers downwards to $4.00, the lowest the latter kinds have been since 1918.

Lambs Hold Steady.

The lamb market was on firm ground yesterday and withstood the pressure of the largest Thursday receipts since Oct. 1. Bulk of the day's supply changed hands at fully steady prices, although the high closing sales of Wednesday's markets were not duplicated yesterday.

Several lands at the high time Wednesday, a few minutes before the close of trading, reached $5.25, all interests paying the price.

WHEAT DECLINES EARLY, RALLIES TO CLOSE HIGHER

Market Shows Resistance to Pressure.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Demoralization in the stock market caused an early break of 4c a wheat price yesterday to a new low on the current downturn, with the May touching 83¾@83½c, but there was stubborn resistance to pressure from the start, and toward the end commission house buying and short covering disclosed a heavily oversold condition and a rally of around 1½c from the inside figures followed.

Closing today was within a fraction of the top with net gains of 1¼@1⅝c with December at 87¼c; May, 83½c, and July, 84¾@84⅝c.

Price changes in wheat throughout the day were most erratic. Early there was a moderate advance due to the strength in Liverpool which failed to follow the late break in North America on Wednesday and closed only 1@1½c per bu lower. Later the market sagged with stocks, but there was not the heavy liquidation through stops with eastern connections as much in evidence the previous day.

Russian News Exhibit

A statement made by V. P. Wilson of Seattle, Wash., to the effect that the Russian wheat and potato crops were practical failures, based on personal observation and on reports from American engineers and predicting that millions of Russians would be hungry during the coming winter, attracted a great deal of attention toward the last and gave bulls confidence. The report was generally confirmed by Walter Alling of the Pillsbury Milling company, London, who was quoted as saying at Vancouver that Russia had oversold and would not be a serious factor in the market the balance of the season.

Exports of wheat from Russia during the last week were only 320,000 bu compared with 24,080 bu the previous week and 2,616,000 bu last year.

Fair Export Business.

There was a fair export business done though in Manitoba wheats during the day from the Pacific coast, but the quantities were not given. On Wednesday around 1,000,000 bu was sold, partly to the orient, which created an feeling the effect of a change in the ex- inc

Corn closed unchanged to ¼c lower with December at 57¾c in sympathy with the latter, being quoted 1½c discount. Liverpool December at 61½c was only ¼c under parity at the time it closed, compared with 1¾c on Tuesday. Buenos Aires was off ½c for the day with December at 61c.

Corn to Pacific Coast.

Corn is moving westward from Nebraska, Colorado, Iowa and Nebraska to the Pacific coast, and rumors that a fairly liberal amount of cash grain had been sold via the gulf were in circulation yesterday. The latter presently referred to a sale made from the first three weeks ago which was to be barge to New Orleans and all rail by lumber boats to California at a low freight rate, the vessels bearing a return cargo. Acceptance reports on No. 3 yellow in store in California around $28.25 per ton, equal to 71½c per bu.

Trade in corn futures was largely of a local character with the action of the market influenced by the wheat. Prices held within a range of ¾@1c and closed ½c higher with December at 57½c, May, 60½c, and July, 61¾@62c. Country offerings were small and receipts 43,000 bu.

LIQUIDATION IN LARD

Selling of lard, attributed to foreign holders, with fair general pressure, resulted in sharply lower prices yesterday and checked the downward course, with the close at net losses of 5@7½c on futures. The movement of prices, however, was within a narrow range. Liverpool lard was 3s lower on spots and 6@9d lower on futures. Export clearances of lard were 502,755 lbs, and of bacon, 90,000 lbs. Cash trade was fair. Hog prices were lower, although receipts in the west were materially less than a week and a year ago. Prices follow:

HEAVY SELLING KEEPS WALL ST. LEADERS ON RUN

Losses Range from One to Four Points.

emerge victorious in the face of the general rout were Case Threshing Machine and Auburn Auto. Case's display of firmness was due in a measure to the improved tone of the wheat market. Auburn dropped about 4 points in the early dealings, but a flurry of short covering later elevated it to the topside of things again.

Preferred stocks of several corporations came in for sharp attack, among them being American Smelting, American Can, Electric Power and Light, International Harvester, and Goodyear, the losses ranging from 3 to 9 points or more.

In view of the long decline of the list many observers are beginning to talk of the probability of a rebound before matters have gone very much further. The decline from the recent high amounts to some 60 per cent and this, it is pointed out, has pandered the situation ripe for a better deal by all the rules of technicality.

Personal, Property, and Salary.

Why pay more than Household's low rate?

The nationally known Household $100 Plan offers cash loans of $40 to $300 to husbands and wives at reasonable rates.

Household's rate on all loans above $100 is almost one-third lower than the maximum permitted by the small loan law. We voluntarily established this low rate in 1928 and our customers have benefited ever since. This rate remains the same until the loan is paid off. It does not increase as the unpaid balance decreases.

FOR EXAMPLE:

The average monthly cost of a $200 loan repaid in 20 equal monthly payments is $2.53. This is the lowest cost in Chicago.

Get the Cost in DOLLARS Before You Borrow.

Commonwealth Customers Pay LESS for LOANS

$2.98 is the average Monthly Cost of a $225 loan under COMMONWEALTH'S Reduced Rate. This allows 25 months for repayment. There is no lower cost than this in Chicago.

THE personal property which nearly every family owns and the signature of husband and wife usually secures any amount up to $300 quickly and easily.

THERE ARE NO fees or deductions. You may take 25 months or pay all or part as you wish. Because of the Reduced Rate is charged only while you keep the money.
